7th derelict slain by 'head chopper'

Throat slashed like others

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A man's body, his throat slashed from ear to ear, was found in a hotel room Saturday in what is believed to be the seventh killing by the so-called "head chopper" who preys on downtown derelicts.

Police said the unidentified victim was a "male Latin about 40 to 50 years old." He was found in a room on the fifth floor of the Barclay Hotel.

Six other men—all but one unemployed derelicts — have been found with their throats slashed in the downtown area since Dec. 1. All of the killings are unsolved.

"It appears that we have another victim," said a police spokesman.

Witnesses said the latest victim was a transient and a wino who had been seen in the hotel's lobby Friday night. A police spokesman described the hotel as a "derelict area."

Police were seeking an unidentified man who discovered the victim's body at 11 a.m. PST.

The last two known victims of the murderer—known as the "head chopper" and the "wino slasher" to hobos and police— were found in their rooms in cheap downtown hotels. The first four victims were found in what police called "urban hobo jungles," outdoor areas where winos sleep.

The wave of killings began Dec. 1 when the body of Fred Lewis, 50, was found on a patio of the Los Angeles Public Library. A week later, the body of Moses August Yananak, 47, an Eskimo from Alaska, was found in an alley four blocks from the library.

The third victim, Arthur Dahlsted, 54, was found Dec. 11 in a vacant building 10 blocks away from the library. On Dec. 23, the body of David Perez, 42, was found in some bushes on the library grounds.

On Jan. 8, Casimer Strawinski, 57, was found in a downtown hotel room three blocks from the scene of the first killing. The sixth victim, Robert "Tex" Schannahan, was found in a hotel six blocks west of the library.

Authorities said Shannahan, employed as a truck driver, was the only victim not fitting the "wino" description.

Los Angeles Police Capt. A. S. Hegge, who heads a special squad formed to find the killer, has said the murderer is "more muscular than the average city dweller."

"It takes strength to cut a throat," Hegge said.

Wreckage falls on school campus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A small plane descending through low clouds toward Washington National Airport hit a radio tower and crashed in flames Saturday killing five persons including the publisher of the Columbus, Ohio, Evening Dispatch and two Columbus executives.

Flaming debris fell on the American University campus in northwest Washington, where the radio tower was located. Most of the wreckage came to rest in the back yard of the university president's home, setting fire to a small shed.

A National Transportation Safety Board spokesman said all aboard the twin-engine plane, including the pilot and copilot, died in the crash.

The victims were identified as Edgar T. Wolfe Jr., 49, publisher of the newspaper; Carlton Dargusch Jr., executive secretary of the Ohio Broadcasters Association and the former law partner of Attorney General William Saxbe; Fred LeVeque, 49, a prominent Columbus real estate executive; Richard White, 50, the pilot; and Bob Hatem, 29, the copilot.

All were from Columbus except Hatem, who was from Westerville, Ohio.

Justice Department spokesman Robert J. Havel said Saxbe, formerly a Senator from Ohio, was "terribly grieved— they were all his good and long time friends." Havel said he had talked with the vacationing Saxbe by telephone and described him as "broken up."

The plane's flight plan showed there were four passengers aboard —none identified by name —and it was at first believed the sixth man was Columbus attorney Fred Jones Jr.

Jones, however, remained in Columbus and the NTSB said only five bodies were found in the wreckage.

Wolfe and his guests were flying to Washington for the Alfalfa Club banquet, a traditional annual spoof of the nation's business leaders, which President Ford also planned to attend Saturday night. They were to be the guests of Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who was waiting for them at National.

The six-passenger Beach King Air in which they were flying belonged to Wolfe Industries, a Wolfe family firm. In addition to the Evening Dispatch and the Sunday Dispatch newspapers, the family also owns the WBNS radio and television stations in Columbus, a bank in that city and several other Midwest businesses.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the plane was preparing to land on National Airport's Runway 18 at the time of the crash. It was flying east down the Potomac River —a standard route to the airport —and was five miles from the runway when it hit the radio tower.

The spokesman said the pilot was making a "VOR-DME" instrument landing approach, meaning that he was using one radio signal to home in on the runway and another to show the distance to the airport.

The red-and-white tower hit by the plane —one of the two highest points in Washington — projects 500 feet into the air, according to FAA aeronautical charts.

Clouds shrouded the top 50 feet of the tower at the time of the crash, witnesses said, and the plane was flying through the clouds when one wing struck near the top of the tower.

The tower stands about half a mile north of the river. Planes using the river approach to National are generally much higher than the tower top when they fly past the ridge on which it stands, aviation officials said.

FAA officials placed the time of the crash at 12:10 p.m. EST, based on the time the plane disappeared from radar screens.

Manhunt on for bombers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police and federal agents Saturday mounted a full scale manhunt for at least two Puerto Rican terrorists believed responsible for the bombing of a colonial era tavern jammed with diners, killing 4 persons and injuring at least 45.

The Friday noontime explosion ripped through an 18th Century annex to the famed Fraunces Tavern where George Washington bade farewell to his officers in 1783. A note found by police and signed by a Puerto Rican nationalist group said the bomb was aimed at "reactionary corporate executives.

The tavern and its annex, in the heart of lower Manhattan's financial district, also housed the Anglers' Club, a private eating club. Both are popular with Wall Street financial and business exeecutives.

Police released composite sketches of two unidentified men who they said were seen in the area about the time of the blast. They said one of the men may have driven away in a small commercial van.

Lt. Kenneth O'Neil said the bomb contained "something in the nature of 10 sticks of dynamite."

He said the bomb was activiated by a "short delay mechanism. I think they were looking for a prominent landmark and this served their purpose...they didn't care if they killed people."

Shortly after the explosion, anonymous callers told news media, including UPI, that the dynamite bomb had been planted at the tavern by membersof the Armed Forces for the Liberation of Puerto Rico, which has also claimed reponsibility for six other bombings in New York since October.

Friday's explosion blasted through the floor of the second story Anglers Club, hurling patrons of the tavern and club to the floor and filling the air with splintered furniture and debris.

Mayor Abe Beame condemned the bombings as a senseless act of terror and said law enforcement agencies must hunt down the killers and bring them to justice.

Rep. Herman Badillo, D-the Bronx, one of the chief spokesmen for the city's Puerto Rican community, condemned the bombings as an outreageous act.

Valley man to be arraigned in tear gas grenade explosion

A La Puente man will be arraigned Monday on a charge of endangering the public in the aftermath of a tear gas grenade explosion in a bowling alley.

Clarence Kittrell, 22, was arrested late Friday night after 50 persons were treated for tear gas inhalation or sore eyes by fire department paramedics.

Kittrell was allegedly seen pulling the pin on the grenade, that was exploded in La Puente Lanes, 1255 N. Hacienda Blvd., at 11:55 p.m.

Industry sheriff's deputies said Kittrell was charged with endangering the public health and safety. They added that no motive has been established in the incident.

A fire department spokesman said that paramedics washed out the eyes of 50 of the 150 persons who fled the bowling alley and treated two youths for inhalation. They later were hospitalized in West Covina.

Five fire companies spent nearly an hour blowing gas fumes out of the lanes. The bowling alley was then closed.

Suspects sought in dog poisonings

San Dimas sheriff's deputies are searching for suspects in the alleged poisoning of two dogs, one of which died.

Patricia Corral, 29, of 16621 Kingside Dr., Covina, told deputies her two German Shepherd dogs apparently were poisoned. She was notified by a teacher that the dogs were found at Lark Ellen School Friday, at 10:30 a.m.

According to deputies, they appeared "sick." The owner took them home, and one of them, a three-month-old pup, went into convulsions and died. The second dog, a two-year-old, was admitted for treatment at Covina Animal Hospital.

Deputies said several animals have been poisoned in the same area, in the past six months.

Death may be due to drug overdose

Police are continuing an investigation in the death of a 22-year-old Pomona man whose body was found in his bed.

Officers indicated the death of David Michael Lewis, of 654 E. Lincoln Ave., could have been a result of an overdose of drugs. Lewis' roommate, Larry Jarboe, 22, told firemen who responded to a call for help, that he saw the victim "shoot up."

Doctor says President in great physical shape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doctors pronounced President Ford fully fit after a three-hour annual physicial exam Saturday and prescribed only a bit more golf or tennis to keep him that way.

"I feel great," the smiling President called to a group of newsmen as he emerged from Bethesda, Md., naval hospital, and Dr. William Lukash, the White House physician who had just examined him, agreed.

"I am happy to report he is in excellent health," Lukash said in a statement. "The results of all medical tests were normal in every way.

The excellent state of the President's health will permit him to continue his tremendous capacity for hard work. The tests today indicate nothing that will prevent him from enjoying good health in the foreseeable future."

Asked whether Ford was in as good shape now as one year ago, when he had his last major physical exam, Lukash said, "I would say he's in better shape."

He attributed the improvement partly to the daily dietary and fitness regimen Ford, who has had a slight weight problem, has followed since September, one month after he assumed office.

"Since the President and I talked last September concerning a proper diet and ideal weight, the President has maintained his weight at around 195 pounds, which I consider to be the ideal weight for him.

"His early morning exercise program involving use of a stationary bicycle device has been very effective in maintaining his excellent health condition."

Lukash said he recommended no changes at all in Ford's daily lifestyle except "to play golf or tennis whenever his schedule will permit."

Ford actually spent three hours and 45 minutes in the suburban hospital, but White House aides said the extra 45 minutes were devoted to fittings for a new pair of contact lenses.

3 quakes rattle Imperial Valley

BRAWLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Three more earthquakes rattled through the Imperial Valley along the uneasy San Andreas Fault Friday in the same area a "swarm" of 14 tremors jolted residents the day before.

Seismologists at Caltech in Pasadena said the series of quakes was an "average occurrence" that occurred in cycles "every couple of years."

LBJ wiretap of '64 Demo convention told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate Watergate Committee memo says the FBI, acting on direct orders of President Lyndon B. Johnson, gave the president wiretapped information on the 1964 Democratic Convention activities of Martin Luther King, then-Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and members of Congress, the Washington Post reported in Sunday editions.

The memo was a summary of a 1973 interview by the now defunct committee of Leo T. Clark, who in 1964 was FBI agent in charge of Atlantic City, N.J., where the convention was held.

Clark said a special FBI team wiretapped and bugged King's hotel room and a storefront civil rights center and gave the information to Johnson, at Johnson's order. He said the stated purpose was to provide intelligence on any plans to disrupt the convention.

The team was directed by Cartha DeLoach, then assistant to the late FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, and the man who told the Post last week that the bureau kept personal information in its files on members of Congress.

Despite the security purpose for the surveillance, Clark said, DeLoach told him not to tell the Secret Service about any of the information, according to the memo.

The Post said Clark had told the committee: "The information included Kennedy's activities, identities of senators and congressmen visiting King's hotel suite, identities of persons seeking support of civil rights leaders, plans of delegates or delegations and speculation on vice pesidential nominees."

At the time, FBI bugging and wiretapping was a criminal offense, the Post said.

During the convention, which easily nominated Johnson for his first full term, civil rights was a key issue in party politics and there was some talk in the convention of nominating Kennedy for vice president.

The newspaper quoted an FBI source as saying "The purpose was to serve President Johnson's political interest. They picked up any information that concerned Kennedy, and what he was up to and whom he was trying to line up support for."

Rioting on campus probed

Chaffey High to reopen Monday

Chaffey High School in Ontario, closed Friday when about 500 of its 3,850 students became involved in a major confrontation, will be reopened Monday and normal schedules will be followed.

"We want to give complete assurance that the safety of students will be foremost in our minds," said district Supt. Allan G. Smith.

Monday through Friday will be minimum days on campus with students dismissed at noon, Smith said.

This scheduling had been completed before Friday's disturbance. Monday and Tuesday students will be involved in the scramble system registration for second semester classes.

They will arrive on campus on a staggered time schedule in groups in alphabetical order. As soon as their schedules are complete, Smith said, they will leave campus.

Smith and Chaffey principal Fred Adams, along with other administrators, met Saturday in an attempt to determine how Friday's rioting began.

The disturbance resulted in at least six students receiving minor injuries and 24 being placed under arrest on rioting charges.

Smith said that administrators knew there had been a fight at Chaffey on Thursday between two boys. "But we have not yet ascertained what kicked off the incident on Friday..

"It was an incident that apparently started with the feeling between those two students and got out of hand," said Smith.

Those who witnessed Friday's melee said it was clear the fighting was between Mexican-American and Anglo students.

Smith praised the staff at Chaffey and the Ontario police for their response. He said, too, that on Friday there had been "tremendous community response.

"Many citizens called in and asked how they could help. They came on campus and helped quiet things down." down."

Smith said the rioting could hurt the district's March 4 tax override proposal.

"I imagine, for some, they will attach importance to this situation and use it as an excuse not to support the election," he said.

Presidential contenders woo California Democrats

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Early starters for the 1976 White House sweepstakes lined up at the California Democratic convention Saturday to lambast the economic and energy policy of President Ford.

Five Democratic presidential contenders wooed Democrats from the nation's biggest state whose big delegation pushed Sen. George McGovern over the top at the party's 1972 national nominating convention.

Their message to the estimated 2,000 delegates and visitors was essentially the same: Ford has failed to provide the leadership necessary to turn around the recessed economy and his energy and conservation plans would hit hardest at middle and low income Americans.

Two prominently mentioned contenders —Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama —bypassed the annual convention of the Democratic State Central Committee.

"For a man who was a star football player, President Ford has shown a strange reluctance to tackle our problems, or call the signals, or run with the ball," declared Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, an unannounced candidate.

"It is wrong to try to increase energy prices by $30 billion," he said. "While we need to reduce energy consumption, that approach would hit us almost as hard as the price increases brought about by the Arabs."

Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, the first Democrat to officially announce his candiacy, termed Ford "a solid and decent man, but a man of narrow vision" who failed to "really understand the depth of our trouble on the energy front."

Udall forecast that under Ford's programs gasoline prices would increase at least 10 cents a gallon, electtricity would rise by 15 per cent and home heating oil would go up 20 to 25 per cent.

"I think we can develop a policy that conserves energy, saves jobs, holds down inflation and spreads the burden farily across our society, Udall said.

Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania, an unannounced candidate, said he told Ford earlier in the week that his energy program constituted a "blueprint for national disaster."

"Until now, I have been willing to give the benefit of the doubt to the President," Shapp said. "Now I doubt that he is willing to give any benefits to the American people."

Other unannounced candiates at the convention were former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and former Sen. Fred Harris of Okalahoma, who billed himself as a fulltime, guerrilla-style candidate for president.

Youth, 17, shot brother knifed in gang fight

Ontario police are trying to piece together the details of a fight between rival motorcycle gangs in which two brothers were hospitalized early Saturday.

Residents reported hearing four shots shortly before 2 a.m.

Police theorize that the shooting and stabbing were part of a fight between the Vogos, of which the victims are members, and the War Lords.

A Colt .457 revolver was found in the front yard of 549 W. Nevada St. A 6-inch bayonet knife with a black tape wrapped around the handle also was found at the scene.

Unicycling to San Diego

Valley pair seek to pedal their way into record books

By ED PRATHER
P-B Staff Writer

There's nothing like a world record—or so it seems.

From peanuts pushed by noses to marathon ordeals atop a flag pole, the enterprising record seeker is sure to find a way.

Two Pomonans have found theirs.

Perched atop specially built unicycles, Gary Hoisington, 22, and Dan Satterfield, 19, rode off toward San Diego Saturday morning in an attempt to pedal their way into the record book.

"Just for the heck of it," chimed Hoisington, as he and his companion set off on a journey they hope will take them 128 miles in about 20 hours.

The pair left Pomona at about 9:30 a.m. At 11 a.m. they had reached Archibald Avenue just east of Ontario International Airport, with Satterfield shedding his shirt in the warm midday sun.

The ride was no spur of the moment idea, said Hoisington.

"We've been thinking about it for about two years. We've practiced by riding up to Mt. Baldy," he explained.

Their unicycles were specially designed and built at Pomona Schwinn Cyclery bike shop. Each has a 27-inch wheel and is equipped with lights.

The unicycles also have special felt brake pads, since, oddly enough, riding downhill is more of a problem than uphill for the unicyclists.

In addition to setting a record for non-stop unicycling, Hoisington is also hopeful that the ride will raise some enthusiasm for his unicycle basketball team, the Basket Weavers.

Four members of the team, Fred Matthews, Scott Foerster, Mike Christ, and Timonthy Waterman, all students at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, saw the pair off and rode their own unicycles several blocks in offering last minute support.

Can they really ride for 20 hours without getting off their unicycles?

Hoisington is optimistic.

"I really think we can make it all the way. We'll try," he said.

Their planned route was east on Mission Boulevard to Highway 395 through Riverside and Escondido, then over the inland mountains to the coast and Mission Bay in San Diego.

Family members of the pair planned to meet the unicyclists at regular intervals to provide food and drink, and warm clothing after sunset.

Pair sitting in car shotgunned

Police are searching for suspects in the shooting of two Pomona teen-agers at Vamana and Fanshaw streets Friday night.

They were sitting in a car outside a home at 8:30 p.m., deciding whether to attend a party down the street when shots rang out, officers said.

Both victims were treated and released from area hospitals. Police found plastic wadding from .12 guage shotgun shells at the scene of the shooting.

Brown's views on prisons, education

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. wooed friendly conventioneering Democrats Saturday with some light-hearted banter and some sharp jabs at California prisons and schools.

Brown was enthusiastically greeted as the featured luncheon speaker at the Democratic State Central Committee Convention. He talked for only six minutes and then opened himself to answering questions for half an hour.

The 36-year-old bachelor smiled and appeared confident at his first major political appearance since his election, answering questions on these topics:

PRISONS —"We face a real problem in the prisons. They don't rehabilitate, they don't deter, they don't protect. So what the hell do they do?" he asked.

Brown said he does not accept theories that crime is a social "disease," and promised fair application of punishment "whether it's a president, a pickpocket, a burglar, a doper or anybody else."

EDUCATION—"When I see schools permeated with violence, boredom and irrelevance I begin to think something is wrong," he declared.

Brown repeated his budget-message pledge not to seek solutions to school problems with simple increases in money. "We're not going to talk money without talking performance," he said.

Brown also indicated he would turn to local voters on the question of more money for schools. "When the limit in the tax rate is reached, the first course is to not end-run to the governor's office, but to the people themselves as to whether or not they want to increase the level of spending in their particular school district."

YOUTH—The governor was asked about the predominance of young persons in his three-week old administration.

"Am I discriminating against people over 40? The answer is no. I'll have some people appointed over 40."

Brown frequently broke the large luncheon crowd into laughter, including one point when he was asked by a woman how she could go about running for president.

"You ran against me," Brown said, recognizing Eillen Anderson, a red-haired Beverly Hills singer, who ran for governor clad in green leotards. "And you didn't pay your filing fee," Brown boomed. "And you didn't file your campaign reports."

Brown then directed the woman to the secretary of state for the procedure of entering the presidential primary.

Seniors, health, youth on City Council Monday agenda

A report and recommendations from the city's Community Life Commission will be presented to the Pomona City Council Monday night.

The recommendations cover a variety of issues, including senior citizen needs, an area health council, and appointment of youths to city commissions.

Other agenda items for the 8 p.m. meeting include a request from the owners of Esperanza Convalescent Hospital, 219 E. Foothill Blvd., for sewer and water service from the city. The facility is outside the city limits, but is presently in the process of annexation.

The council will also hear a status report concerning the Phillips Ranch development. The development by the Pardee Construction Co. has been controversial due to the extensive alteration of natural hillside in the area.

Mixed reactions to Detroit's rebate plan

By EDWARD S. LECHTZIN
UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT (UPI) — The four U.S. automakers are reluctant partners in a unique price war that dealers think is the first smart thing Detroit has done in years.

The program pushed sales up 41 per cent between early and mid-January and produced shoppers in formerly deserted new car showrooms. But Detroit wants to end the profit-sharing program as soon as possible.

Chrysler Corp. launched the rebate war Jan. 13 to move the record 136-day supply of cars in dealer and company storage lots. The other automakers within a week began offerings similar direct rebates of $200 to $600.

"The rebates have created considerably more traffic and considerably more discussion among our customers," says Jimmy Pritchett, president of Prichett Chrysler-Plymouth in Albany, Ga.

"I'm not saying they all develop into sales, but it has created a lot of interest in a market that was floundering," he said. "It has brought in some buyers who otherwise might not have had the confidence to purchase a car in today's economic climate."

Industry executives and observers make these points:

—Rebates provide the illusion of a price cut without actually lowering prices. Automakers don't want to get caught with lower tags if the government reimposes wage and price controls. And they don't need the bad public relations that a price hike in a couple of months might generate.

—Dealers like rebates because the money's not coming out of their pockets. They already own the cars in stock and usually have to slash prices to move slow-selling models.

—Automakers say rebates are only temporary because they can't continue to take lower profits indefinitely. Some analysts fear prospective customers expect rebates to continue past their scheduled closing on February 28 and are holding off on a car purchase.

—Rebates give manufacturers control over the choice of cars for special deals. Ford and General Motors have limited their $200 to $500 cash payments to slow-selling small cars, American Motors is offering $200 to $600 rebates on all models and Chrysler changes its special each week.

—While boosting sales, rebate specials are coming out of the record 1.7 million cars on hand at the beginning of January. Indefinite layoffs in the industry are above 176,000 (about one of every four U.S. auto workers) and probably won't drop until late spring or summer.

Industry analysts say rebates, price cuts or other sales gimmicks won't make much difference if gasoline rationing talk continues or if gas prices continue to rise.

But rebates have lifted the industry slightly out of its worst postwar sales slump. Ford said sales of small cars jumped 31 per cent in mid-January over the first 10-day period. Chrysler reported a 127 per cent jump in compact car sales, setting a mid-January sales record.

While most dealers are traditionally optimistic, a few are discouraged.

Dealer Ted Schwabrow, manager of Cedar Hill Chrysler-Plymouth in upstate Selkirk, N.Y. (population 4000) said his sales haven't picked up since the rebates started, but he has had more inquiries.

In Griffin, Ga., Pontiac dealer Gordon Milling said:

"The rebates are definitely a step in the right direction, but with the way prices have been rising we need more than that."

The one thing that is worrying Detroit now is what happens when rebates end. Some executives are afraid they're stealing sales from spring, similar to rising sales just before higher-priced 1975 models were introduced last fall.

"We have no plans to extend our program, so there could be a lull in early March," said John B. Naughton, Ford vice president for marketing. "The main thing is that we are looking for more floor traffic in the first quarter with rebates than we would have without rebates."

Voter deadline Friday

Voters may register at their City Hall. The last business day prior to the deadline, however, is Friday.

In Pomona and most valley cities voters also may register at their city's fire station. Los Angeles County voters may also register at county fire stations.

Rap Brown victimized?

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Black militant H. Rap Brown, who coined the phrase "Burn Baby Burn" during the 1960s, was victimized by the political climate and the fears of a judge who sentenced him on a gun violation conviction, Brown's attorneys have told a federal judge.

The attorneys also said the FBI may have framed Brown on the 1968 charge.

U.S. District Judge Fred J. Cassibry, asked to either order a new trial or reduce Brown's five-year term, said during the hearing that he believed the story of an attorney who claimed he overheard trial judge Lansing L. Mitchell remark he wanted to "get that nigger," apparently referring to Brown.

"I tell you I was frankly quite shocked and surprised that a federal judge would find what this judge found, that our witness was telling the truth about Judge Mitchell making a statement that was a racist statement about Mr. Brown," said defense attorney William Kunstler.

During the hearing before Cassibry, attorney Elizabeth Schneider said, "We have the classic case of a person who has been singled out for his political beliefs." She said the man who bought a carbine for Brown might have been an FBI agent who infiltrated Brown's circle in order to entrap him.

Kunstler said Watergate might also have indirectly influenced Mitchell, a federal district judge in New Orleans, to do whatever he could to convict Brown. Patent attorney James B. Lake Jr., testified at the hearing he overheard Mitchell say, "he was going to get that nigger," in apparent reference to Brown.

"In 1968 we elected in this country a moral pervert who became President of the United States. Judge Mitchell became hopelessly tainted by what was fed to him by every source," Kunstler told Cassibry.

Kunstler said Mitchell's decision to give Brown the maximum sentence of five years on a first conviction and to demand a high bond displayed a "paranoic fear of Mr. Brown."

But Mitchell testified he did not recall making the statement and would not have said such a thing.

Cassibry said one of Mitchell's rulings "casts a serious shadow on this case as far as the appearance of justice," but said the law itself might demand more than mere appearance of injustice to set aside a conviction.

Brown is now serving a five to 15 year sentence in a New York State prison on robbery and assault charges stemming from a 1971 holdup and shootout with New York City police. Following his conviction in New Orleans, Brown disappeared for a time and many, including Kunstler, said they thought he was dead.

Cassibry asked both sides to file briefs in the matter and indicated it would take him a month to rule. Brown was to be returned to New York State to resume serving his prison sentence.

GOOD NEWS AND BAD NEWS

Vincent Percha, 22 (bottom left), survived without a scratch when his small car slammed into a truck in Detroit impaling the auto. But police investigating the crash Friday on Interstate 75 found a quantity of unexplained electric appliances in Percha's car and arrested him for investigation of burglary.

'Like the Phoenix, I will arise . . .'

What he learned did not perish in the holocaust

BANKS, Ark. (UPI) — Some who knew him even before the tragedy said Eddie Lovett was a great man. Maybe more will say so now.

For years he has lived at the end of a dirt road near this southern Arkansas town, with no telephone or television —just his three children and his library full of books.

Lovett, 58, a self-taught sharecropper who first got caught up in reading when he was drafted into the Army in 1942, collected 2,800 books on almost as many subjects and filed them in his "library."

The library was a corrugated building which he had built himself, undergirding it with new oak timbers. It stood next to his ramshackle house and he spent about 12 hours each day there reading.

"I like to read," he told a reporter once. "I like to study. I study hard."

Lovett recalled his father, also a sharecropper, told him years ago that "the white man is not our enemy. Our greatest enemy, he told us, was our own ignorance."

In the cold, early morning hours of Jan. 7, Eddie Lovett smelled smoke and heard the crackle of flame.

He ran outside. His library was burning. There was nothing he could do. It burned to the ground, every last book included. A bad ventilator in the library's wood burning stove had been at fault.

The works of Aristotle, Tolstoy, Mao Tse-tung, Herbert W. Armstrong, Plato, Willie Morris, Nietzsche and Eldridge Cleaver went along with the Constitution of Rhodesia and the first volume he ever bought —for $2 back in the Depression —"Ropp's Commercial Calculator."

That book, which represented a half week's pay in those days, was one he still consulted from time to time and from it he first learned geometry and engineering.

Eddie and his three children —Joanna, 17, Sophocles, 16, and Yuri, 13 —watched as the books went up in smoke. The children also wept.

He has cared for them alone since their mother died of cancer 12 years ago. No time to mourn, he said. He made them wash while he fixed the breakfast and then made them board the school bus.

Later, he told another reporter, "Like the phoenix, I will arise from the ashes."

Eddie talks that way sometimes.

His love and labor of a lifetime were gone in the smoke that circled above the banks of the Moro Bay bottoms but he would, quite simply, begin again. And, it was evident that although his books vanished in flames, what he had learned had not.

The political arena

Rep. Lloyd names 7 valley representatives to Demo meet

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., has named seven local residents to the Democratic State Central Committee which meets this weekend in Sacramento for its bi-annual convention.

They are Julia Arri of Claremont, Darlene Pritchard and Roger Schamp of Covina, Liz Heredia of Ontario, Pete West of Pomona, Alec Berkman of San Dimas and George Morris of Upland.

ASSEMBLYMAN WILLIAM CAMPBELL, R-64th Dist., has been appointed to three assembly committees. They are the Education Committee, Committee on Government Organization and the Urban Development and Housing Committee.

Citing his background as a school administrator, Campbell said he was particularly concerned with the serious problems facing those in education.

"We have a responsibility to provide a sound education to all our children but yet we must not allow school taxes to break the back of the individual homeowner."

He said the Assembly's Education Committee must come forward with new and imaginative proposals which will continue to raise the standard of education but yet make that education "affordable" for all the people.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., was a co-author of a bill that proclaimed 1975 as "International Women's Year."

The measure urges all citizens to give particular attention to programs and efforts which will improve the social, economic and political status of women, he said. Similar resolutions were issued by President Ford and the United Nations.

An International Women's Year Conference will be held next June in Mexico City to evaluate the status of women throughout the world.

JIM HUBLER of Whittier has been elected chairman of the 64th Assembly District Republic Central Committee.

Other officers are Don Stokes of Diamond Bar, vice chairman; Jesse Kinder of La Mirada, treasurer, and Rose Young of Hacienda Heights, secretary.

The committee meets every third Wednesday of the month at 8 p.m. at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building in Hacienda Heights.

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., has opened a field office in the Home Savings Building, Suite 507, 100 S. Vincent Ave., West Covina.

This is the first of three offices which Lloyd plans to have in serving the district. A second office will be in Ontario. The third will be a mobile office which can be moved to the various communities.

CARL ALBERT, D-Okla., speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, will visit the Claremont Colleges Feb. 13 with Rep. Lloyd.

Lung Assn. seeks more funds

While the Christmas Seal campaign figure stands at $925,000, or 10 per cent lower than at the same date last year, the Lung Association of Los Angeles County still hopes to obtain enough funds to support all of its patient services.

An important research funded by Christmas Seals is a current study of the effect of a body-produced chemical called interferon the common cold. One of the most challenging problems for medical researchers, some colds defy antimicrobial drugs and vaccines.

In the field of health education, the local Lung Association distributes 1½ million pieces of literature annually on emphysema, tuberculosis, asthma, influenza, pneumonia, smoking and air pollution. It also maintains a large free film library on all of these in addition to a speakers' bureau covering these subjects.

Any individual or group interested in obtaining literature should call (213) 483-3220 and ask for Health Education.

Like consumers, they're hurting

How long can cattle ranchers survive?

LANCE CREEK, Wyo. (UPI) — Wyoming rancher Clayton Dixon, operating mainly on what's left of 1973 profits, has no idea how much longer he can survive the combination of inflation and a depressed cattle market.

"Everything we have to buy is out of this world in price," he said. "The cost of feed has gone out of whack with the price of livestock."

Last year, the gross income for Dixon's 21,000-acre spread was $125,000. But this year, plummeting cattle prices and a devastating drought have sliced that figure in half.

Many connected with the cattle industry in Wyoming say some operators will have to sell ranches that their families have held for generations if present economic conditions persist.

RANCHER FRED McGUIRE

Growers Association, said the cattle industry's future is hanging in the balance.

"Most can ride it out for about a year," he said. "We're pulling down our hats and weathering the storm."

The Dixon ranch is in Niobrara County, one of three northwestern Wyoming counties declared a disaster area by the federal government after the 1974 spring-summer drought. The normally productive rangeland will yield little nourishment during the freezing winter, and ranchers in the area have had to buy more precious feed to get their cattle through the cold months.

The feed cost Dixon $160 a ton in the fall, compared to $148 in 1973 and $78 in 1972.

Because of the depressed market and soaring costs, Dixon also had to lay off a ranch hand who has worked the ranch for the last five years. And he has been turned down for the low interest federal loans that his county's drought disaster status is supposed to bring.

"I was turned down twice," he said. "They say I am financially able to pay. A lot of people around here can't get the loans and nobody's sure why."

Dixon, whose father homesteaded the ranch in 1928, is a cow-calf operator--a rancher who breeds cows and sells the calves.

During the more prosperous days of 1973, when housewives fumed at high beef prices and cowmen made substantial profits, Dixon decided the time was right to increase his herd of cows. He bought 20 more heifers (unbred cows) at $510 each.

He bred the heifers, took the calves to market and, he said, found they weren't worth what it cost to keep them alive. "It must be this government we got," he said. "They seem to control everything."

Fred McGuire, a tall, goodnatured rancher who runs a 16,000-acre operation west of Wheatland, Wyo., said things are worse than most people outside the industry realize. "It's really a dim picture," he said.

McGuire bought 835 calves in the fall of 1973 for $235 a head, and when the calves grew into yearling steers and heifers, he took them to the Omaha, Neb., livestock market. He said the price he got was about $100 a head below what it cost to raise them and get them to Omaha.

As he drove his four-wheel-drive pickup out to a corner of his rangeland to check his stock, he told of his love for the ranching business—the freedom, independence and unsupervised outdoor work. But he said that if it weren't for those feelings, he'd "get out in a minute" because of the economic situation.

He said he has already lost his 1973 profits plus $50,000, and he predicts that another year like 1974 will drive one-third of the present operators out of business.

Cattle feeders, like those who bought McGuire's stock in Omaha, also have been hitting rough times. A recently released U.S. Department of Agriculture survey showed that they sustained a $2 billion loss in a 1973-74 15-month period.

McGuire doesn't know what he'd do for a living if he had to sell the ranch, which has been in his wife's family since 1874.

But then he grins and adds that if he sold those 16,000 acres at today's inflated prices, he wouldn't have to do very much.

Some ranchers are thinking of selling smaller portions of their property because they need the money. McGuire said he would put 4,400 acres up for sale if he can get a good price.

Bob Bledsoe, president of the Wyoming Production Credit Associaton, said operating costs for ranchers have gone up 47 per cent in the last 11 months, while prices received have dropped 50 per cent.

"We really won't have a true measuring until fall, 1975," Bledsoe said. "And a lot will depend on moisture and the availability of feed."

Bledsoe said the cattle industry is more hard-pressed than any other sector of agr- too much, it's going to be up iculture.

"If agriculture breaks down too much, it's going to be up to government to feed the people," McGuire said. "And the Russians have tried that."

Lower sugar prices?

NEW YORK (UPI) — An enzyme that converts one form of sugar to another is expected to bring supermarket prices for the sweetener back down to about 20 cents a pound by 1977, says chemist William H. McMullen, III.

Two companies already are making the new liquid sugar, but the supply is very limited, and only for commercial use, McMullen said in an interview here.

He estimated that two years will be needed to build enough facilities for mass production. And even then, he expects high fructose corn syrup to remain mainly an industrial product, freeing a large amount of cane sugar for consumer use and forcing prices down.

McMullen, who is based in Mamaroneck, N.Y., is director of laboratories for Novo Enzyme Corp., a Copenhagen-based manufacturer of industrial enzymes. These are nonliving protein molecules that can change chemical compounds. They can break down and remove undesirable flavors and indigestible compounds from vegetable proteins.

An enzymatic process is used to make soybean extenders and analogs (imitation meats and poultry) that are showing up in ever-increasing numbers in supermarkets.

McMullen expects the new sugar (which can be made from any starch, including corn, potatoes and tapioca) to replace liquid cane syrup as the principal sweetener in soft drinks, canned fruit and commercial bakery products.

He isn't optimistic about its eventual distribution for consumer use. For one thing, the granulated form is more expensive to make than the liquid, and it cakes worse than sucrose — granulated cane sugar —when exposed to humidity.

"Enzymes are used to remove the beany flavor from some soy products," he said, adding that attempts are being made to modify soy protein to make a substitute for egg whites that could be used to give lightness to baked goods and serve as a binding agent in mayonnaise.

Enzymes have long been used to clarify fruit juices such as apple cider and apple, cranberry and grape juices. Pectin in fruit makes the juices cloudy. An enzyme named pectinase is used to clear the juices before they are filtered.

Cooking box is a big energy saver

SAN ANSELMO, Calif. (UPI) — An old idea has given Andrew Rayburn a handy new way of saving energy—the cooking box.

Rayburn learned about the device in 1919 as a Russian immigrant in England and used it to make his borscht.

Food is put in the box hot, closed up tightly and removed later fully cooked. The box can be carried to work, or left in the morning on the kitchen counter to prepare the evening meal.

To cook potatoes, a pot of water is brought to a boil and placed in the well insulated device. The potatoes are dropped in, and the box is tightly closed.

Several hours later the potatoes are done, and still warm. The long time span is a disadvantage to some, but an advantage to anyone who wishes to leave home without the stove burning.

The box works on the same principle as the Thermos bottle, and Rayburn's is a handmade wooden construction with stuffed newspapers.

Rayburn suggests two inches of paper around the sides, and more on the bottom. Even a cardboard box will work, he says, if well enough insulated and closed.

"I believe the poor, and persons on fixed incomes, could use this thing to save money considerable for them," says Rayburn, 68, a retired supermarket owner. "It costs absolutely nothing to construct."

"A person could use three or four of the contraptions. The important point is that the pot must be full because the bulk is what retains the heat.

"This country is suffering an energy crunch, and the box has the possibility of making substantial energy savings nationwide."

10 million tons of food pledged annually

World is hungry; what will be done?

By PEGGY POLK

ROME (UPI) — It was a milestone in man's history: 130 nations agreeing to work together toward finally eradicating the age-old scourge of hunger.

Meeting for 12 days in Rome at a World Food Conference, ministers of the 130 nations pledged aid for the millions starving today and action to avert food crises of the future.

They resolved to provide a guaranteed minimum of 10 million tons of food aid a year for the next three years, to set up an internationally coordinated system of food stockpiles and to contribute money and technical know-how to help hungry nations feed themselves by growing more.

There had never been an attempt to this scale to attack hunger and malnutrition. The conference was unprecedented and so was its expression of will.

That was in November. Now the world's hungry are waiting for the will to be translated into action.

So far the conference results have been only procedural. The United Nations has taken the first steps toward creating a new World Food Council. Experts are preparing to meet in February to discuss technical aspects of setting up stockpiles.

A first test is whether the nations will keep their promise of 10 million tons of food aid starting this year. So far, little has materialized.

But, in the judgment of experts, what is crucial is establishment of the proposed fund to increase the agricultural output of the hungry nations. The poor nations must be helped to help themselves.

These are the dimensions of the problem:

—Persistent and acute undernourishment cripples more than 400 million others, half of them children.

—One-third of the world's population consumes two-thirds of its food.

The problem can only get worse with the population of the world expected to double by the end of the century.

Hardest hit are 35 countries in Africa, Asia, the Middle East and Latin America. They suffer the effects of natural disasters such as floods and drought, poor harvests, insect plagues, a lack of money to buy food abroad and difficulty in storing and transporting food aid to where it is needed.

The energy crisis has compounded the food crisis by raising the price of fuel oil and making fertilizer — which is made from petroleum —both costly and scarce.

At a followup meeting of major grain exporting and importing nations at the Rome headquarters of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization in late November, it was agreed that 7.5 million tons of emergency aid is needed before next summer's crops.

The food growers said the grain was available. But they said it would cost $1.8 billion to buy it and ship it to its destination.

The United States and Canada each pledged 1 million tons toward the total. The producers left it up to FAO and the United Nations to find funds to buy the rest.

In the almost two months that have passed, the funds have not been found and a devastating earthquake in Pakistan that claimed more than 5,000 lives has added tens of thousands more to the ranks of the starving.

The day after the meeting FAO Director-General Addeke H. Boerma flew to Bangladesh and India to survey the problem first hand in the two countries with the largest food shortages.

Speaking later of conditions in Bangladesh, the Dutch farmer's son said:

"The sight of small children in a camp in one of the most distressed areas, pitifully clinging to life, surrounded by the smell of death, gives one an angry sense that we are still too far away from the frightening reality of hunger and malnutrition which millions of persons suffer day after day while diplomats —some diplomats —talk far into the night."

The World Food Conference, originally proposed by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, was called by the United Nations.

It made two key recommendations:

—Establishment of a world food security system with nationally held but internationally coordinated food stocks and an information and early warning system to alert the world to impending shortages.

—Establishment of the fund to help the developing nations increase their agricultural production.

FAO officials say that if implemented they would go far toward ending food crises. But there are serious questions about whether they can or will be implemented.

The United States is wary of the reserve system interfering with the profit incen-

No price tag laws visualized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite continuing consumer complaints and a lot of publicity about the problem, it appears the administration will not try to force groceries to stop pasting one price tag on top of another when prices go up.

President Ford's Council on Wage and Price Stability held a hearing on the problem last year, with a lot of press attention and testimony from upset consumers.

The fruit of all of that was a report, quietly issued toward the end of the year, recommending that stores be encouraged to stop on-the-shelf repricing, but advocating no legislation be pushed to make it mandatory.

The industry has to some degree cooperated, although some of its actions are only temporary. Safeway, largest food chain in the country, began a no-pasteover policy last year. A&P, the No. 2 chain, said it would hold the line on house brands. Various other local and regional chains also have promised to control the jumping-price-tag tactic in one way or another.

A council spokesman said the agency believes the problem has "really diminished quite a bit since the hearings," but consumers continue to complain, to this column and elsewhere, that the practice is continuing down the line, not just in grocery stores but many other retail outlets as well. The problem is particularly irritating because it is readily visible evidence of the inflation-plagued economy.

There was some talk last year in Congress about legislation to control repricing, and it may be revived again this year. In the meantime there is no evidence the situation is about to change.

PACKAGING

A consumer complaint from Greensburg, Pa.:

"My pet peeve as a consumer and ecologist is the wholly unnecessary custom of various manufacturers using a bag within a bag to package tea bags, for instance. Not only does this use extra paper, but it certainly adds to the disposal problem —and raises the cost.

"I think all manufacturers should take a hard look at their packages and decide to eliminate expense where possible. Today's shopper looks for value and economy —and quality — rather than for an eye-catching package."

You're not alone in your complaint. Russell Train, head of the Environmental Protection Agency, recently called wasteful packaging one of the biggest problems facing the country, both in terms of energy consumption and waste disposal.

He even suggested that if we didn't cut down, there wouldn't be anything left to package in a few years.

TRADING STAMPS

A reader in Indianapolis complains that it has been "impossible" to get a stamp catalog at his retail store or at a Top Value Enterprises redemption center in his area.

"I have been fed up with stamps for years, but my wife spends a sizable amount of money with Kroger, which means that I have paid for the stamps. They continue to pile up, but they have no value without a catalog," he writes.

The Kroger Co., of which Top Value stamps is a "wholly owned unconsolidated subsidiary" according to a company spokesman, has been asked to see you get a catalog.

They also claim that the problem must be local; that they are not trying to discourage redemption or collection of trading stamps; and that Top Value stamps are not in financial trobule.

Bean growers getting black eye profitwise

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

A bean farmer can't afford to be too successful with his crops.

He could go broke.

That's the case with the California farmers who enjoyed a larger-than-usual yield of blackeye beans last September.

At present prices, the grower expects to lose about three cents for every pound sold.

Farmers estimate their costs at 16 cents a pound, but they are being offered only 13 cents a pound. These are sold in stores at 27 cents a pound.

And if the beans aren't sold by March, they will be hit by an inventory tax of about two or three cents a pound.

"What's a farmer to do?" asked Dan Bruno, whose 40 acres this year produced 429 100-pound sacks of the tiny beans.

He and some other growers have withheld their beans from the market in hopes the prices would go up.

"But with the personal taxes, we will be forced to sell," he admitted. "The personal tax is the worst thing."

The problem is not only local, but statewide. Dale Madole, division manager for Westland Foods in Chino, partly blamed the large yield for the low prices. He estimated the California harvest last September at 140 million pounds. This compares to an average annual yield of 60 to 70 million pounds.

Most blackeye beans grown for human consumption are from California, said Madole. These are shipped throughout the United States and to such foreign countries as Spain and Hong Kong.

"A large amount of beans threshed last season are still in here," he noted. "The farmers are holding in hopes that prices will go up."

Madole said November and December are generally good shipping months. "But no one wanted to ship because of the low prices."

His firm buys beans from a large sector of Southern California, extending from Santa Monica and Oceanside to Blythe. About 1,500 acres were planted in blackeye beans last year in the Chino area.

Madole expects to see fewer acres of the beans next year. "A lot of farmers will not plant. They can't survive."

"Many bean farmers will change to crops such as wheat, alfalfa and green feed where they can make some profit," he predicted.

READY TO SHIP

Dan Bruno (left) a farmer, and Dale Madole, division manager for Westland Foods in Chino, view part of the large supply of blackeye beans being stored in Chino. Farmers hope the price will increase to allow them a profit. A large yield is blamed partly for low prices.

Outline 7-pronged campaign

Chaffey override group unveils plan

An organizational plan to promote passage of Chaffey Unified High School District's March 4 tax override has been completed and a general meeting called Monday for all citizens interested in working in the campaign.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the administration building at 211 W. Fifth St., Ontario.

Asst. Supt. C. Robert Erickson, who with school board member Jim Garliepp is handling publicity for the campaign, said that more than 50 community residents already have voiced an interest in helping pass the override.

Faced with a serious budget deficit for 1975-76, the district on March 4 will ask voters to approve a three-step increase in the general purpose tax rate.

The increase would amount to $.5442 per $100 of assessed valuation for 1975-76; $.6981 for 1976-77; and $.8342 for 1977-78.

Erickson said that to minimize the work, the organization had been broken into seven task force committees. At Monday's meeting, citizens will be asked to join one or more task force where they would like to assist.

Schools Supt. Allan G. Smith has appointed one board member and a central staff administrator to work with each task force.

Smith assisted by board member Bob Bonde, will head the publications committee. Board president Adrian Chalfant and administrator Bob Spencer will head the speakers' bureau.

District business manager Milo Thomas and board member John Schnepp will direct the finance committee. Board member Martha Chapman and administrator Jack Lundquist will head the get-out-the-vote committee.

Two district level administrators, Lyle Fry and Ed Lopez, will head a special committee assigned to work with groups in the community that may need interpretation of the issues.

John Lesko, student body president at Montclair High School, will head the student intra-district committee, which will provide for an exchange of ideas and coordinate student-group involvement. Smith will serve as an adviser.

Only 334 days to go

Santa Claus, Inc., maps 1975 happiness plans

W. C. Jones, new president of Santa Claus, Inc., said he will seek to increase community involvement in the program.

Jones, commander of the California Highway Patrol office in Claremont, succeeds Mrs. Ella Bockover who will continue to serve on the board as vice president.

Other officers elected are Ina Bagwell as treasurer and Clifford Chandler as secretary.

Named to the board of directors were Ula Smith, Joey Fuentes, Frances Laughton, Diane Knarr, Barbara Jefford, Charles Olive, Casey Plooy and Mike Beck.

Last Christmas, the group provided toys to some 1,500 children from 350 families in Pomona, Chino, Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas and Walnut.

They received 4,000 toys in addition to books, games and puzzles. This included 100 "wheeled" toys such as bikes, tricycles, doll buggies, pedal cars and tractors.

Jones reported he will contact service clubs to seek contributions and volunteers to make the next Christmas a "little happier" for those who otherwise might have no Christmas.

"We are hoping to have all segments of our community involved in the program," he added.

Jones is proposing a $5,000 budget to pay operating expenses such as utilities, and for parts needed to repair donated toys.

There are no paid workers on the staff and all work is volunteered, he said.

One of Jones' first official acts will be to find a new workshop. The group presently occupies a building on the Pomona Mall which is scheduled to be demolished.

Cite brisk construction, sales figures

Builders here say picture brighter than elsewhere

Some will probably respond that plenty of families are still buying homes in the valley.

Three area builders report good home sales last year and quickly add they plan to continue about the same pace for 1975.

Richard Lewis, president of Lewis Homes, Roy Leventhal, partner in Crowell-Leventhal, Inc., and Bill Matreyek of Matreyek Homes, just a few of the local builders, plan to build at least 825 new living units this year.

Lewis said he had been "pleasantly surprised" the first few weeks of 1975 by the number of new homes sold in his Chino and Upland developments.

For 1975, his firm plans to construct at least 300 homes in the valley and several hundred others in other areas.

Local projects include 100 homes in Chino, 67 in La Verne, 91 in Claremont, 60 in Upland and 75 in Alta Loma.

"We're optimistic for 1975 as there are a lot of things going this year that we didn't have last year," he said.

He noted the interest rate for homes appears to be "settling down." The present rate is 8½ per cent for FHA and VA loans and 9 to 9½ per cent for conventional loans.

"Last year there were times when the interest rate for conventional loans went above 10 per cent," Lewis said.

The builder, however, doesn't expect to see rates drop much lower this year since savings and loan institutions are paying 7½ per cent interest to their depositors.

Lewis said completion of the Pomona Freeway opened the Chino area to Los Angeles and new industries are moving to Upland, Ontario, Cucamonga and Etiwanda.

"Both the freeway and industries are bringing new people to our area."

Lewis also noted that not as many new apartment projects are being constructed locally which makes single family homes more attractive.

His firm plans to start building housing units in Alta Loma and La Verne within 30 days, with others to start when homes in previous phases have been sold.

Lewis said his more popular homes have about 1,800 square feet of floor space and sell for from $43,000 to $44,000.

"But then we have been surprised by sales in our north Upland development where homes are priced from $50,000 to $60,000."

Leventhal said his firm also plans to continue a "pretty full program" with some 400 homes to be built this year.

These will include projects in Chino, Alta Loma, Upland and Cucamonga. His homes, having from 1,400 to 3,000 square feet of floor space, will sell from $30,000 to $60,000.

The housing slump repored in other parts of the nation may have been softened in the valley by the diversity of industries located here, he noted. Residents haven't been as affected in massive layoffs as in other areas, he added.

And the housing demand is helped by people from other areas coming here where they can buy a better home for less money, said Leventhal. The lower price, he said, results from lower land costs.

Leventhal believes the money market will be a help in home buying this year because of new financing programs that make money easier to borrow.

"Money won't get as cheap as everyone would like," said Leventhal. He believes the interest rate will remain at about nine per cent on conventional loans.

But he add that cheaper rates may be obtained under federal programs. Leventhal also noted that adjustments are being made to allow lower down payments on homes.

Noting a $30,000 home purchase requires a buyers' income of $15,000 a year and a $60,000 home, a $25,000 income, Leventhal said that many of these homes are purchased by working couples who combine their incomes to qualify.

"We are finding many younger couples buying these homes as they find them to be good investments," he said.

Matreyek, whose firm builds condominium projects, said he plans to build 125 units in the valley and another 125 units in Anaheim this year. This will be about the same number as constructed last year.

He hopes to start construction on the local development within the next 45 days. Each living unit will have about 1,500 feet of floor space. The homes sell from $31,000 to $38,500.

Also predicting a good year for home builders is Richard C. Farrer of Hayward, president of the California Association of Realtors.

He said there will be an improved mortgage market soon, coupled with lower interest rates, which will surely help to improve existing home sales by spring and bring a rise in new home construction by summer.

Despite a slump now prevalent in most parts of the nation, one-fourth of the California cities actually reported an increase in housing permits last year, he added.

"Normal supply and demand relationships should be restored soon and this will result in an increase in housing production," said Farrer.

"There is an ever-growing number of families needing homes and one of the fastest growing segments of our population is the 25-35 age bracket."

Farrer said adoption of variable interest rate mortgages by California's four largest saving and loan associations in mid January will be a major step toward creating more money at lower rates.

"This must be widely appauded by all potential home buyers as well as homeowners and that is one of the reasons I predict an early recovery for the housing industry in California. I feel that housing will play a leading role in leading the economy out of a recession.

Laurel-Hardy films headline library Cuckoo Dance Week

A four-day Laurel and Hardy Film festival will start Monday at the Pomona Public Library.

The event is being held in conjunction with the celebration of National Cuckoo Dancing Week honoring the memory of the famous comedy team.

A total of 13 films will be shown in all, with two-hour programs scheduled each night starting at 7 p.m. through Thursday.

Admission to the film programs is free.

On Tuesday afternoon, the library will present a program on creative stitchery by Mrs. Dorothy Willard of San Dimas. The program will be held at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Willard has had stitchery designs displayed at the Los Angeles County Fair and at the Wrightwood Art Gallery.

Persons who wish to participate during the program should bring a yarn needle, crewel or other yarn, scissors and a piece of coarse fabric, such as burlap or drapery.

Children's events for the week begin Tuesday with a preschool variety and craft hour at 2 p.m. At 4 p.m. "Witches Brew," featuring spooky stories for elementary aged children will be presented. At 7 p.m., a grooming and cosmetic demonstration will be held for young people.

On Wednesday at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. preschool story hours will be held. At 4 p.m., Magic Carpet stories will be presented. At 7 p.m. films for young people will be presented.

Casa Colina opens new respiratory treatment clinic

RESPIRATORY EQUIPMENT

Dr. Arthur Madorsky, Casa Colina's medical director, Daniel Venegas and Leon Kaye, respiratory therapists, from left, inspect specialized new respiratory equipment made available through gifts.

A Respiratory Insufficiency Management System for outpatients has been started at Casa Colina Hospital.

The program is designed to benefit persons disabled by such respiratory problems as chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, bronchitis, emphysema, asthma, atelectasis and post-vital respiratory insufficiency, according to Dr. Arthur Madorsky, medical director at Casa Colina.

Combined with a program to gain functional improvement for the patient is an outreach project to help maintain his improvement. This involves a respiratory therapist going into the patient's home to evaluate his needs and to determine any problems which might interfere with his continued recovery.

Dr. Madorsky says home follow-up by a respiratory therapist is a unique and integral part of this comprehensive program.

Funds for the equipment were provided by the California Community Foundation of Los Angeles and the Price Foundation of Upland. Assistance has also been given by the La Verne City Employes Association.

Patients entering the program are fully evaluated by a physician. They are trained to learn rehabilitative exercises and controlled breathing and educated in bronchial hygiene. The patient's family is involved in the program and learns basics of respiration and medication requirements.

The full range of Casa Colina's rehabilitation services are available as needed and may include aid to daily living skills, occupational therapy, exercises, dietary education and counseling.

Leon Kaye, a respiratory therapist and acting program director, stresses the importance of the patient assuming responsibility for his active participation in the Respiratory Insufficiency Management System because follow-through in home care is vital to the success of the program. This means teaching the patient not only what he must avoid, but what he must do.

Persons interested in learning about the program may contact Dr. Madorsky, Casa Colina Hospital, 593-7521, extension 214.

People's right to assemble

Abraham Lincoln in his first Inaugural noted that Americans have the right to change their form of government any time they want, either through constitutional amendment or by overthrowing it completely and setting up something different in its place.

He said nothing, however, about their being entitled to damages from any government they try, but fail, to overthrow.

Now it would be libelous to claim that all or even most of the 3,000-some anti-Vietnam war demonstrators who converged on Washington on May 5, 1971, had actual revolution in mind. It would be impossible to prove that any of them did.

The most that the more mischievous of them hoped to accomplish was to shake up the Nixon administration by disrupting traffic, passively blocking access to buildings by sprawling on their steps, maybe invading a few offices and generally hasseling government workers. This they succeeded in doing.

Nor can it be doubted that the District of Columbia police grossly overreacted to the "crisis" by willy-nilly and ungently herding hundreds of the demonstrators, and not a few bystanders, into detention pens. A U.S. District Court jury in fact determined that the police falsely arrested and infringed the civil rights of 1,200 persons gathered to hear speeches on the steps of the Capitol and has awarded them collective damages of $1.2 million.

There is no point in rehashing this unsavory incident. The jury found to its satisfaction that the government was in the wrong. Case closed, pending appeal by counsel for the District of Columbia.

Still, recalling the mood of those days, it would seem that when thousands of people descend upon the nation's capital in massive protest, however peacefully, and especially after all kinds of advance publicity about bringing the government to a grinding halt, they should expect to generate a certain amount of friction between themselves and the authorities. They should expect that the innocent will receive a lot of the lumps directed at the guilty.

How many of them dreamed they would eventually earn $10,000 apiece for their pains?

A look at the polls

Reading the polls these days practically puts President Ford on a yo-yo. He's up, he's down, he's in the middle. Who really knows?

The whole question of the value of political polls has been under discussion for some time. Now a nationwide survey indicates that among sophisticated poll-watchers there is a growing feeling "that newspaper polls on political races seriously distort and undermine the electoral process."

Among the charges are that polls can adversely affect fund raising, media coverage, campaign tactics, voter turnout. Other critics say they help perpetuate incumbencies, discourage young unknown candidates, even influence government policy on controversial issues.

Reforms suggested range from banning publication of polls more than three or four months before — or within 10 days of — an election, to abandonment or great modification of primary election polls. Some critics urged that polls should concentrate "more on voters' general attitude toward the candidates and on the major issues of the day, rather than on what many call 'the foolish horse-race question of who's ahead by how many points."

Others went so far as to urge licensing of pollsters, and creation of a governmental or quasi-governmental agency to conduct or at least monitor polls. The great majority, however, preferred voluntary controls, imposed by newspapers and pollsters themselves.

The survey revealed a great demand for reform, practically none for prohibition of them. Also a divergence of opinion as to the effect polls have on elections. And there, it would seem is the rub.

Properly conducted, properly utilized, polls can be useful tools in determining at least a fairly substantial measure of public opinion at a given time, on many subjects — political, economic, whatever.

The information elicited can be highly useful in many ways.

It is when they fall into the "foolish horse race" trap that political polls in particular bring themselves into question. Even the top pollsters agree. And that is encouraging.

Poor l'il Feb.

"Poor Little Feb.", as the late comedian Joe E. Lewis used to call it in one of his best known songs, was lamented because it has only 28 days most of the time.

But Feb. does all right as a "Month" and in its special dates.

It is Heart Month, History Month, Music Month, Catholic Press Month, National Cherry Month, even Frozen Potato Month.

It enshrines the birthdays of both Lincoln and Washington. The 14th would have been the late Jack Benny's 81st birthday; and still, of course, is Valentines Day. National Freedom Day (Feb. 1) commemorates Abraham Lincoln's proposal of an anti-slavery amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Chinese New Years is celebrated in February; Brotherhood Week the 16th to 22nd. The Washington monument was dedicated on the 21st, 90 years ago.

A Godfather fixer of federal taxes?

WASHINGTON — Detailed investigative reports, intended for the eyes only of Internal Revenue officials, contain allegations of a massive $1 million payoff to fix a tax case.

The case involves a $10 million tax assessment and criminal fraud charges, which were brought in the late 1960s against the New Latin Casino of Cherry Hill, N.J.

This palatial theater-restaurant, capable of seating 2,000 people and feeding them steaks cooked to order, featured the biggest names in show business. It has been called "the showplace of the world."

A top Mafia figure, according to allegations made to a Justice Department strike force, held a hidden interest in the place. He was identified as Angelo Bruno, who is listed in a Senate crime report as the godfather of the Mafia family in Philadelphia.

We have had access to the investigative files in this case. We have carefully examined the voluminous evidence. The criminal charges are backed up by detailed documentation, including the sworn statements of dozens of witnesses. Internal Revenue agents have described the evidence as "a watertight case."

Yet while the Internal Revenue Service was squeezing the last mite out of widows and harrassing ex-president Nixon's enemies, it settled the $10 million case for $2.7 million and dropped the criminal charges altogether.

No one we have interviewed could explain why. The most disturbing allegation was that the case had been fixed. There were whispers of bribes totalling more than $1 million. Yet attempts to investigate the bribery charges, according to three agents close to the case, was thwarted at high levels of the IRS.

We have found at least four confidential IRS memos, which tell of payoffs in the cast. Even before the settlement as early as July 26, 1966, a confidential informant charged that the owner of the New Latin Casino "had taken care of the boss of IRS investigators and the Internal Revenue Service lawyers in Philadelphia who pass on cases.

The most recent memo, dated Jan. 28, 1972, quotes a confidential informant who was identified to us as a Justice Department probation officer close to one of the casino owners.

In a report to the IRS, the officer said he had learned from the owner "that the criminal tax fraud case against the New Latin Casino was fixed and . . . that over a million dollars were spent to accomplish the purpose."

Names were given of high officials, including a federal judge, who were allegedly involved in the fix. Yet attached to the report is a routing slip, with this handwritten note:

"This has been subject to intensive investigation by this office. Memo does not indicate any new evidence other than statement by informant. Therefore, no further investigation will be made at this time."

Former FBI and IRS agent John Devenshire has sworn to us that a high IRS official told him in the spring of 1972 that the New Latin Casino case had been "fixed." Devonshire said William J. Hulihan, the Internal Revenue internal security chief, told him the case had been fixed "in either the chief counsel's office of IRS or the Justice Department, and we can't touch it."

Hulihan told us he doesn't "recall any such conversation." He was "not that familiar with the case," he said. But Devonshire has offered to take a lie detector test to prove the conversation occurred.

Investigators outside the IRS have also attempted to pry into the case. In 1970, a Justice Department strike force attorney in Philadelphia, David Abrahamson, attempted to obtain the IRS files in the investigation, but he was turned down.

We have been investigating the case since last October, and we have managed to see the suppressed files. Our inquiries have now caused the IRS to reopen the investigation.

WATCH ON WASTE: While President Ford is trying to cut down America's fuel consumption, the Army is preparing to purchase a new truck which could wind up wasting millions of gallons of gasoline.

Here is the situation. Next month, the military brass plans to sign a contract for 30,000 new trucks. They are available with economical, six-cylinder engines and standard shifts.

But the Army, with its characteristic disregard for the taxpayers' money, prefers the sleeker V-8 model with automatic transmission. By the Army's own figures, it will cost the taxpayers $5 million more for the fancier model.

But the real cost to the taxpayers will come in the extra fuel that the bigger engine will use. According to Energy Protection Administration figures, the V-8 with automatic transmission will get about five miles less per gallon than the smaller, six-cylinder model.

The larger truck, which is expected to travel 4,000 to 8,000 miles yearly, would consume from 150 to 300 gallons more than the smaller model. For the entire fleet, this works out to five million to nine million gallons of wasted gasoline each year.

An Army spokesman said the V-8 engine is needed because of "size requirements." Tests also had shown, he claimed, that it requires less maintenance than the six-cylinder engine. He said the Army was concerned about the increased gas consumption of the bigger truck, but this was outweighed by the "very significant life cycle cost savings."

MYSTERY DEED: An intriguing document arrived in our mail a few weeks ago. It was a deed, dated July 30, 1970, showing that James V. House of Summit County, Colo., had sold Richard Nixon of Washington, D.C., a parcel of Colorado property for "valuable considerations."

Had the former president invested in mountain property, which he didn't list in his financial statement? And where did he get the money?

Hours of detective work established that the deed was authentic. The land is a five-acre lot located about 15 miles southeast of Colorado Springs.

We had even more difficulty locating James V. House, but we found him. He had a dispute with the Internal Revenue Service, he told us, and couldn't find anyone to listen to his protest.

So he deeded his property over to then President Nixon. "I tried to get his attention every other way," House said, "so I thought this might do it."

It didn't work. The IRS was not impressed, and Nixon turned down the property.

Just in jest

The reasoning of our lawmakers never ceases to amaze me. Nine times out of ten I am sure, "Don't do as I do, do as I say," is the theory by which they operate. And if you insist on a specific example, how about this?

In many states, California included, the lawmakers have enacted legislation making it a misdemeanor, punishable by six months in jail, to ghost write and sell term papers or theses to students. And yet, I'll bet you dollars against doughnuts that those same legislators whose YES votes made that law possible have 90 per cent of their speeches written for them by ghost writers.

Heartline: If my mother moves in with me, will she lose her eligibility for food stamps? — I. W.

Answer: Yes, your mother would then become a part of your household and would lose her individual eligibility. Check your county welfare office to see if your household might qualify. Be sure to take proof of all income, as well as household and medical expenses.

Heartline: Can I draw benefits from the railroad, Social Security and the Veterans Administration at the same time? — B. G.

Answer: Your railroad benefits would be reduced, your Social Security would be full payment and then, if you were not over the maximum payment, you could receive payment from the VA.

Heartline: My husband is collecting disability Social Security. He is 56 and in very poor health. We have no children. I am 57 and have never worked. If he passes away, will I receive any benefits? — T. D.

Answer: You would not be eligible for benefits until you reached the age of 60 and then you could receive a reduced widow's benefits of approximately 71 per cent of his benefit.

Heartline: Can I quality for Medicaid if I have both parts of Medicare? — F. H.

Answer: Yes, Medicare makes no difference.

Teen years can be the roughest, but sympathetic reader has some pointers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to say a few words to that 16-year-old guy who said he was "laughing on the outside and crying on the inside."

His folks keep telling him that high school years should be the happiest of his entire life, but he complained that his social life was dull as dishwater and he wasn't very popular with either boys or girls. Everywhere he looked people seemed to be having a great time.

You answered, "Teen years can be the roughest," and told him he was not alone. I'm in agreement with you, Ann, but I have some suggestions that might help.

The surest way to be unpopular is to think you are. Stop being so concerned with people's opinion of you. Relax and enjoy yourself. Go out of your way to be pleasant and thoughtful. Start really listening and being interested in what others have to say. You'll be surprised at their reactions.

If you'd like to get to know a girl better, ask her for a date. She won't ask you. Start showing more friendliness — to everybody. You sound like a nice young man with deep feelings. There are plenty of people who would love to be your friend. So take my advice and I'll bet you'll notice a big change in your life before long. — Pulling For You

Dear Pulling: Thank you for a truly constructive letter. You've done a nifty job of zeroing in on the problem. I can vouch for the fact that if all lonesome teen-agers would follow your advice they'd be a lot happier.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read "Married In Name Only" — the minister's wife who had celibacy forced on her. Let me tell you my story, and I'm praying for some solid answers, as are thousands of other women who are in the same boat.

My husband wasn't a minister but we had a wonderful marriage. At the age of 42, even though he told me I was still very attractive, a wonderful wife, a lovely mother, a fine cook, great in bed, and he loved my sense of humor, something was missing. He didn't know what. I found out "what" when I caught him with a woman old enough to be his mother. He wanted a divorce so they could be married. I agreed.

It nearly killed me to lose this wonderful man, but with the help of some generous and considerate friends I pulled myself together, got a job, and began to raise our son — alone. It was plenty rough at the age of 40 to put my sex life on "hold."

The minister's wife didn't ask me, but if she had I would have told her that living without sex wouldn't kill her. Praying for Divine Guidance may work for her, but it didn't work for me. My husband was a marriage counselor and he knew all the answers. Suggestions, anybody? — D.E.S.

Dear D.E.S.: This might sound like a mighty feeble response — and to be perfectly truthful, I'm not very proud of it, but your advice to the minister's wife might be the answer for you.

In the meantime, keep it altogether, stay alert, attractive and in the mainstream of life. Don't hang around with widows and other divorcees. A woman who has all the qualities your ex-husband attributed to you shouldn't have to spend the rest of her life alone. Good luck, honey.

Clothes washer, bath biggest water waster?

Q. "When I bathe, I fill the tub. So my wife says I use too much hot water. I say she uses more water than I do when she runs my dirty underwear through a couple of cycles in the automatic washer . . .?"

A. Would appear you are cleaner than your underwear, sir. Your bathtub takes about 30 gallons, your washer about 34. If average.

'40 Anonymous' can be of some help

This country is extremely age conscious. That is why a new group has been formed called "40 Anonymous" to help people overcome the problem. Here's how it works. Several months before reaching age 40, birthdayees are invited to a group therapy program.

There is a ten-minute film where Doris Day wrinkles her nose, moistens her lips and smiles, "I'm over 40 and I still have freckles" just to get the audience in a receptive mood. Then a testimonial is given. The one I heard was from Sylvia X.

"I'm over 40," she said in a faltering voice. (Applause) "A few months ago I was depressed and morose and thought life was not worth living. I got a chill when the furnace blower went on. I refused to eat apples even though I had my own teeth. I nipped at Geritol in the mornings after the kids went to school. I sent sympathy cards to myself and refused to start any long novels. A friend suggested I come to a '40 Anonymous' meeting. That night I heard Strom Thurmond speak. He was wonderful.

"I went home and practiced saying '40' in front of the mirror. I thought I was cured. Then one night I went to a party. Everyone there was under 30. It was terrible. No one knew the verse and chorus to the Beer Barrel Polka. They had never heard of Lyle Talbot or Maria Montez. When I said Okey Dokey, they laughed.

"I went berserk that night and drew a mustache on the Mod Squad; made an obscene phone call to Annette Funicello. A member of '40 Anonymous' found me throwing rocks at a rock festival. 'Get hold of yourself,' he said, 'Just say out loud, I am forty.'

"I am fooooofffffoooorrrr . . . I can't do it," I cried.

"YOU CAN!" he challenged.

"It's no use," I said. "This world is for the youth. Everyone around me is younger than I am. My doctor carries his stethescope in a gym bag. My attorney has to shave only once a week. My son's math teacher is still in braces. I rode a plane the other day with training wheels on it. Good Lord, man, don't you understand I am older than Mickey Mouse."

Sylvia's voice broke. "Today, I am proud to say I have learned to live with my problem one day at a time." (Applause)

That night I stood in front of my mirror and said, "My name is Erma X and I'm fffffffff . . . I don't look it, but I'm fffff . . . some days I look . . . ffffooooo . . . last year I was . . ." It was no use. I called "40 Anonymous" to come over and have a drink.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

Vitamin E needs during pregnancy

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read your column on Adelle Davis and know your basic attitude toward her nutritional viewpoint. However, I would like to ask you about one of her specific points. She has claimed that large doses of both vitamin E and folic acid can prevent miscarriages in a woman who is deficient in either of these vitamins. Since I have had two miscarriages (as well as two normal deliveries), I would like to know: 1) Is there any medical evidence to support her point? 2) Could taking large doses of these vitamins do any harm to the fetus?

DEAR READER — There is no medical evidence whatsoever that increased amounts of vitamin E improve human reproduction, that specifically includes preventing miscarriages. It is true that it will prevent this problem in rats and some animals with different metabolic systems than man. There are NO CASES on record of miscarriages in women caused by vitamin E deficiency.

Folic acid deficiencies might cause problems in development since it is essential to cell division and growth. The requirements are slightly increased during pregnancy.

Large doses of vitamin E are not likely to cause any harm to the fetus. It is unlikely that the large excess amounts will even be absorbed from the digestive tract. While vitamin E deficiency is rare, except in premature infants, there is no evidence of vitamin E toxicity either.

Folic acid is another matter. Because of the complexities of anemias that can develop during pregnancy, I would not advise taking large doses of folic acid without your doctor's approval. This could mask more important changes that he would need to know about to give you proper treatment.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman of 55 and my problem is my eyes. The eyelid is dropping over my eye. It now covers the eyelash, and I am afraid soon it will cover my vision. What causes it to do that and can you tell me what I can do about it?

DEAR READER — It depends a lot on what you mean. The upper eyelid is held up by some tiny muscles attached to the lid under the skin. When they are weak the lid falls. This is usually a sign of medical problem and would require careful tests to determine the real problem.

An eyelid can swell from the accumulation of fluid. This can be on one side as an allergic-like reaction or involve both eyes, as in swelling with kidney disease.

I suspect what you mean is that the skin above the eyelid has increased in amount so that you have an excessively large bag hanging down over the upper lid. This is common in varying degrees as you get older. It is related to over-stretched elastic fibers. A plastic surgeon who specializes in cosmetic surgery can simply cut away the excess skin and the tiny scar line rests behind the groove above the eye and is unnoticeable. It is a simple procedure for the upper eyelid.

Starchy snack foods may cause cavities

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York State dental researcher believes something besides total sugar intake is responsible for the increase in cavities seen in young people not exposed to water fluoridation.

"I suggest that this unknown factor is the way sugar is now being used, and the associated increase in types of manufactured foods or snack foods that have come into common use," said Dr. Basil G. Bibby.

Tooth decay is not solely a byproduct of refined carbohydrates. Cavities have been seen in the teeth of man of the Ice Ages, long before sucrose was extracted from sugar cane, beet or maple syrup.

Nevertheless, scientists long ago guessed that sucrose had an important role in the formation of cavities when early dentists noted that tooth decay was most common in the wealthy who alone could afford to buy sugar. That belief was strengthened during the 18th and 19th centuries as the sugar trade expanded

Bibby said recent studies show that the cavity rate is continuing to increase where there is no fluorine in the water, even though government reports show there has been no significant change in per capita sugar consumption in the United States during the past 50 years.

"Something other than total sugar intake must be playing an important part," Bibby said in a report in the January issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association.

Bibby, a research associate at the Eastman Dental Center, Rochester, N.Y., said one factor may be the fact that unlike earlier years, the bulk of sugar goes into manufactured goods instead of being used at home. Sugar is used in almost all types of food, but the amount that goes into soft drinks and snack foods has increased rapidly.

He said an increased use of snack foods may contribute to increased cavities two ways. The manufacturing processes could increase the cavity causing ability of sugars and starches, and Americans are eating sugar-containing foods more frequently between meals when they are most damaging to teeth, he said.

"Therefore, it seems likely that, as of today, the form and frequency with which sugar is used is more important than the amount eaten," he said.

In addition, Bibby said the consumption of baked goods has increased rapidly in recent decades and "it seems logical to give more weight to such flour-sugar products as contributors to any increase in the strength of the caries (cavity) attack that may have occurred."

Bibby said geography also shows a difference in cavity formation, even when such factors as fluorine in water are discounted. More cavities seem to occur to people in the northeastern states than in the southern states even though there is no increase in sucrose consumption in the north.

Northerners, however, eat more baked goods containing sugar and flour than southerners, and government studies show the spending for between meal snacks is higher in the North.

"The only conclusion that can be drawn from the observations on humans is that factors other than sucrose intake seem to be important in caries causation," he said. "They also indicate that the frequency of eating is one of these factors and that starchy snack foods may be particularly damaging."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Unidentified object baffles Soviets

DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Over the years donations to the Smithsonian Institution have included a number of objects that cannot now be identified.

Presumably, whoever accepted the items in the Smithsonian's behalf cried "Thanks a lot! Just what we've always wanted!" without adding "But what is it?"

It could be the Smithsonian representatives were too polite to inquire. Or it could be they were too chagrined to admit they couldn't recognize the gifts.

In any event, the Smithsonian has now put these strange objects on public display in hopes someone will come along who will know what they are for.

If no explanation is forthcoming, maybe we could sell them to Russia.

According to a Moscow newspaper, the Soviet Union already has purchased one item of this type. So there conceivably could be a market for others.

The newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta reports that a machine of sorts, bought in the United States, has been consigned to a warehouse because nobody can figure out what it is supposed to do.

It appears it might have been designed for cooling fruit, squeezing oranges or mixing cocktails, the paper says. But those possibilities are little more than speculation.

Well, maybe the machine makes up in part for that wheat deal with the Soviets. And perhaps it sheds some light on the Kremlin's decision to cancel the Soviet-American trade agreement.

I suspect, however, that the whole thing was an intelligence operation that went awry. For it sounds from the newspaper account as if the machine might be a scale model of President Ford's economic program.

Judging from the reaction in Congress, a lot of people in this country can't figure out how it works either.

I have a theory that Soviet agents in America obtained an advance copy of the administration's economic game plan.

The blueprints were duly transmitted to KGB headquarters in Moscow where intelligence experts pieced the various parts together.

"Verrrrrry interesting!" the section chief exclaimed when it was assembled. "But what does it do?"

"It looks like some sort of new anti-inflation device," one analyst proffered.

"Couldn't be," another demurred. "That pump primer connected to the tax cutter is clearly an anti-recession instrument."

The section chief blanched. "We can't let the Kremlin know we're baffled," he cried. "Take the darn thing to the warehouse and pretend we never saw it before."

Insights on campus today

Big league baseball players are besieged by autograph seekers. Movie stars are hounded by photographers. Rock performers have their clothing torn from them. Columnists get letters.

All things considered, I prefer the letters.

A recent mail brought the full wrath of women's lib down upon my head. A young lady from Los Angeles has notified me that I am party to one of the most odious forms of discrimination against the females of this world. Her scorn for me knows no bounds, but she limited her attack to only three rather eloquent pages.

Apparently what triggered her invective was my practice of preferring to use pronouns he, him and his to that of including both genders in all references to students in these columns. I must plead guilty as charged.

Example No. 1: If a student chooses his line of endeavor with care, he may expect great rewards to accrue to him.

The sex reference score on that line is males 3, females 0. Obviously, it was written by a male chauvinist pig, me. But somehow I cannot bring myself to the alternative:

Example No. 2: If a student chooses his or her line of endeavor with care, he or she may expect great rewards to accrue to him or her.

Wrong as it may be, it seems to me that the sole use of a male pronoun to denote both genders somehow implies both genders, while the sole use of the female pronoun only refers to females.

And even if I were to use the form illustrated in Example No. 2, I presume that eventually I'd be sniped at for giving the males top billing.

If there's a bias in there somewhere, it's mine.

A number of readers have asked me to add my opinion to the great number already expressed on the recent fad of streaking on campus.

I do have some views about over-reaction by certain schools to a few dissident students. But, I believe another gentleman has covered the subject quite adequately.

"The Puritan hated bear-baiting, not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectators." Thomas B. Macaulay (1800-1859).

A letter from a city in Southern Illinois identifies the writer as an English teacher and a subscriber to the Louisville Courier Journal, in which this column appears.

The gentleman pointed to my use of the word "neat" to describe an idea, my fragmented and incomplete sentences and an incredibly long list of other shortcomings involving my grammar and syntax.

He cites over forty examples of my sins against pure English, indicating thereby that he has apparently read me with determined regularity. For that, thank you.

He concludes by saying: "You do not sound like a college president to me." For that, thank you again.

BOSTON (UPI) — In 1869 some hardy soul thought it a midwinter dip in Boston Harbor and started a tradition that has left many Bostonians shivering in their galoshes.

Every day of the year a small, grizzled group that includes septuagenarians dashes briefly into the frigid waters from the L Street Bath House, sometimes chopping through several inches of ice to take their constitutional.

Because of that, the L Street Brownies have acquired a national reputation akin to that of the famous Polar Bear Club. But the Boston organization is a social club that brings together the most diverse elements in the city in a sharing of a common heritage.

"Out on the beach they're all the same," said William Toland, 77, president of the Brownies for the past 11 years. "We have doctors, lawyers, professional people of all kinds, businessmen, laborers —you name it."

"Out on the beach you can feel the pulse of the city just by listening to the conversation," he said.

"Most of the members (about 700) have their roots in South Boston. They move away, then come back to visit and want to find out about their old friends. They just go down to the bath house and they find out.

"Sometimes they start talking to a stranger and find out he's a cousin," Toland said.

The club's reputation rests on six or seven rugged men who, from habit and a sense of tradition, swim daily.

"It's just one of those things that you do because you've always done it," said Toland. "I know some guys who would go down there on a stretcher if they had to just so they won't break the tradition."

"It's something that you do automatically," he said.

But Toland himself is not among the midwinter bathers.

"It does affect the system," he said.

However, Dr. Michael J. Donovan, who at 45 is one of the younger club members, says the effect seems to be salutory.

"There are an awful lot of old men going into the water," said Donovan. "But their physical condition is remarkable —so is their longevity."

Inspired by U.S. banks, market shows solid gain

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — As President Ford and Congress wrangled over an economic energy program this week, the stock market moved solidly ahead with some inspiration from the nation's major banks and indications inflation may ease in the not-too-distant future.

The Dow Jones industrial average climbed 21.98 points to 666.61 for the week. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 2.02 to 72.98. The New York Stock Exchange common stock index gained 0.98 to 38.84.

Advancing issues topped those declining, 1,276 to 486, among the 1,997 traded.

Volume totaled 82,177,640 shares, compared with 84,343,020 traded last week and 80,694,230 traded during the same week a year ago.

Playing a large role in the advance were the banks, which —spurred by the Federal Reserve Board continued to lower interest rates. A number of major banks Friday lowered the prime lending rate they charge their most creditworthy corporate customers to 9 ¼ per cent, while others lowered it to 9 ⅜ per cent. High interest rates the past year have hindered the market.

What encouraged Wall Street was that the banks lowered the rates knowing the Treasury Department would have to borrow $28 billion in the next six months and $70 billion for the whole fiscal year to finance government deficits and this would require Congress to lift the federal debt ceiling from $495 billion to $604 billion. (By week's end, it became apparent legislation to lift the ceiling may develop into a battle.)

The Fed, which had twice lowered its discount rate, paved the way for the rate cuts. It reduced reserve requirements for commercial member banks in order to make more money available to help get the nation moving out of one of worst recessions since World War II.

Another plus factor for the market was the Labor Department's report the consumer price index rose only 0.7 per cent in December, the slowest rate of growth since July.

As the interest rates continued to decline, investors were hoping the administration and Congress would not get bogged down in a stalemate which would provide the nation with the right medicine at the wrong time or vice versa. Concern over this caused some erratic market movements at midweek.

Before proclaiming a new tax on imported oil Thursday, Ford told the Conference Board he was doing this "to force action by the Congress so that the country will have action, not limitations, in the months ahead." He again ruled out gasoline rationing and said he would veto legislation which would attempt to force him to impose it.

Wall Street's reaction to Ford's program remained mixed. But many investors formed the opinion the administration would get quick action on tax rebate and tax cut proposals. There were some indications the administration was willing to compromise on the energy program if Congress would get moving.

From Wall Street bull to deli beef

Stock salesman voices woes

By H.D. QUIGG
UPI Senior Editor

BROOKLYN, U.S.A. (UPI) — Pat Tullo, 34, single, formerly of Wall Street, now clerking in a delicatessen, stood beside his menu sign: "Heroes: Regular. Hot." It listed everything from "Eggplant parm. $1.40" to "Virg. Hm. $1.40."

Pat Tullo is a one-man example of the woes of Wall Street. He was a trader in brokerage firms there for 14 years. Never worked anywhere else. Wants to go back there. But not now. Let him tell it.

"In 1972 I made $90,000 — personal income. In 1973 I earned $5,500. In 1974 I earned $4,100 —and only $1,600 of that came during the last six months. I decided to pack it in. I quit the first week in November to buy a delicatessen.

"But quit is hardly the word. It was understood that when things got better I'd come back. No animosity. I catered the firm's Christmas party two months after I left.

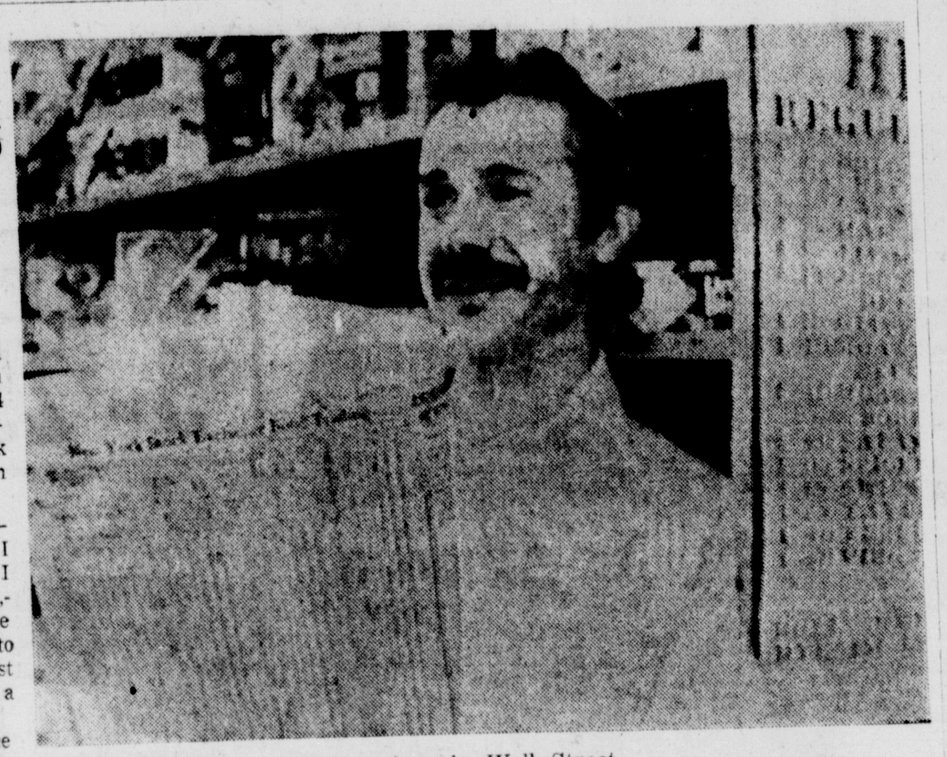
"Would I consider remaining in the deli business? No way. I work here from 7 to 7, and it leaves me so tired that I have no social life. At the beginning, I was working 18-19 hours a day, including painting, fixing up and stocking. In the first month, I lost 18 pounds and wound up with walking pneumonia."

Your social life as a bachelor has gone to blazes?

"You better believe it. This business is just like having a ball and chain tied to you."

Are you sad about this sudden change?

"No, not at all. At this particular time I'm very happy to be in business at all. It keeps me busy physically and mentally. Before, I had just been sitting at my desk waiting for the phones to ring —for two years. But the stock market gets in your veins. I have every intention of going back when the market gets better."



TULLO READS stock quotations in Wall Street Journal between customers at his delicatessen.

How was it on Wall Street?

"Exciting life. There's nothing as exciting as a bull market. Money. Responsibility. The day never ends at sundown. Entertainment. Dinners. Theater. You travel coast-to-coast seeing institutional clients, going to conventions. Everything on expense account."

Pat —his full name is Pasquale —is a slim, trim figure with a mop of black hair, black moustache, wearing a white open neck shirt and white apron. He opened the Dyker Deli in his own neighborhood, the Dyker Heights section of Brooklyn, on Dec. 21 in partnership with his nephew, Anthony Miceli, 24, known as "Butch."

"Butchie's mother, my sister Mary, is one of our cooks, and Mrs. Ilse Gerike, the former owner, is the other. We cook everything right here, roast beef and all. Got a special now on the beef, $2.99 a pound, top round.

"Incidentally, I think the market will turn upward soon. I feel the economy will be somewhat improved in the third quarter of this year, and the market usually reacts about six months ahead. It should show some real life around February. I'm anticipating returning and leaving the business in the hands of Butchie and my sister.

"It'll always be something to fall back on when the market goes sour again —and it will. Always goes in cycles. Hi, Mr. Rooney, what'll you have?"

The little deli —15 by 40 feet —is a real neighborhood joint. In the window is a sign: "Teams Needed for Slow Pitch Softball League. For Information See Butch Inside."

TULLO SITS across street from New York Stock Exchange where last year he earned only $4,100

Police alarmed

Hostage taking booming

By VIC WATIA
By United Press International

Police in several parts of the country say hostage-taking is becoming more popular among the criminal set, and the major reason is because it makes them feel safer while making a getaway.

Because of the increase in hostage taking, the New York Police Academy operates special hostage negotiation seminars where officers learn to negotiate for the safe return of victims.

The San Francisco Police Department, which said taking hostages for a shield constitutes 90 per cent of all of its nonkidnap cases, has been using the special techinque developed by New York since last March. It now uses "hostage negotiators" to defuse hostage situations.

Sgt. Jerry Doane is San Francisco's Police Academy specialist in hostage-taking. Doane advises a person who becomes a hostage to say nothing and do what the hostage holder says.

"The classic example in the past was, well, let's bring the guy's priest or his mother or sister or brother and he'll talk to us," Doane said. "But they may be the reason the guy's in this position to begin with.

"What they say may provoke him and set him off. The hostage negotiator is a gly that hopefully can negotiate with him."

Sgt. Edward Nelland of New Jersey's Bergen County police said the hostage trend "is becoming very alarming, even to policemen. It's sort of contagious.

"Because of the upswing of cases, we send our men to the hostage negotiations seminar operated by the New York Police Academy. We want to indoctrinate the officer on the street who is usually the first on the scene so that in the early moments he can assess the situation and negotiate," he said.

Nelland believes that for successful negotiations "the criminal has to feel his live is valuable. Just as valuable to him as the hostages lives are to the policeman."

Teresa Tucker, spokesperson for the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, said hostages make criminals feel safer on the theory officer's won't shoot.

She said hostage-taking occurs mainly in rural areas because in urban areas where hostage-taking is likely to occur, such as banks, employes are better trained and the latest police techniques are utilized.

"Crimes have trends just like clothes," she said, "and like all trends I think this will die down once rural police and banking personnel are trained better."

Minnesota authorities said there are not many instances of hostage-taking to pull off crimes in their state.

However, in Minneapolis and St. Paul, authorities reported three recent instances of hostage-taking with a different twist.

In all three cases, criminals had abducted a single person near his car, put him in the trunk and then used the auto in a liquor store robbery.

After the holdup, the hostage was released and the abductors made off in getaway cars.

Minneapolis police said the reason for the popularity of such crimes is that "it crosses up authorities in trying to search for the vehicle used in the holdup when a person phones and says he was abducted. We find his car was used in the robbery and it leaves us with very few leads about who did it."

No suspects were apprehended in any of the three liquor store holdups, Minneapolis police said.

Ship withdrawn

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — The Bahama Star has been taken off its Miami-Nassau run because of low bookings, the ship's owners, Eastern Steamship Line, announced here. The spokesman said tourists normally booked on the 550-passenger liner were being shifted to the 950-passenger Emerald Seas, which makes the same run.

No time for fishin'

By DOLLIE L. SMITH

MORGANTOWN, N.C. (UPI) — Sam J. Ervin Jr., had plans of going fishing after retiring from the U.S. Senate Dec. 31, but the former Watergate Committee chairman's popularity is standing in the way.

Since Congress adjourned Dec. 20, marking the end of the 78-year-old Ervin's 20-year Senate career, the white-haired "country lawyer" has found little rest from a public who remembers him as chairman of the committee and as a champion of civil liberties and freedom of the press.

Much to his dismay, the fishing equipment given to him by various groups at his retirement is stored in a closet in his rambling brick Morganton home, awaiting his use at nearby Lake James, in the mountain trout streams or along the North Carolina coast.

On the first day of his retirement, the three-month Watergate conspiracy trial stemming from the probe by his committee ended in the conviction of four top aides to former President Richard Nixon. A week later U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica ordered the release from prison of three other Nixon aides already serving sentences on guilty pleas.

ERVIN IS frustrated by lack of time in his retirement.

Ever since, the bushy-browed constitutionalist has hosted a parade of newsmen seeking his thoughts on Watergate events as well as given about 50 news interviews by telephone across the nation and in Canada.

He's already made one return trip to Washington to appear on a morning news program broadcast and will continue making trips there and to New York about every two weeks for more guest appearances.

"ABC said sometimes they would interview me on the public questions, sometimes they would ask me to make a talk on the public questions, and sometimes they'd let me philosophize," he told UPI in an interview.

Large cartons of books and papers and stacks of hundreds of framed pictures, plaques, awards and editorial cartoons accumulated during his years in Congress remain stacked in several rooms of the one-level home, occupied by Ervin and his wife, "Miz" Margaret, since they were married 50 years ago.

Besides not having time to decide where to put all the books and wall hangings in a house already filled with such, Ervin is frustrated by not having time to answer the deluge of mail which arrives daily at his home and small downtown office.

He said he has had 40 to 50 requests to make speaking engagements of "all kinds."

"Unfortunately, I'll have to decline most of them or I'll never get anything done," he said.

Ervin, whose career in politics began "unbeknownst" to nim when he was nominated for the North Carolina House of Representatives while attending Harvard Law School in 1922, plans to keep to a minimum his involvement in civic and church activities.

"At one time I had 17 jobs besides trying to make a living just before I became a Superior Court judge in 1937," the blueeyed senator said, sitting at his desk in his home library surrounded by floor-to-ceiling cases of legal and congressional documents and treasured books.

"Since I've come home I've been asked to become a member of about five or six committees or commissions and I've decided I won't do that."

One of the committees, he said, was a fund-raising group, another, a national citizens committee to investigate the alleged illegal activities of the Central Intelligence Agency, and another, a group opposing the Equal Rights Amendment.

"While I'm opposed to the Equal Rights Amendments...I think it's unnecessary and foolish...I think the world's too overorganized," he said. "I don't want to get too organized."

He said he is already committed to two speaking engagements in North Carolina this month and then will be on the west coast for several more during February.

There also is the book he promised to a publisher before the Watergate Committee assignment, dealing with the "various controversies and fights I've been in in Congress trying to preserve the fundamental rights of people."

"I hope to do that—and get started on it soon," he said. "I've always toyed with the idea that there might be an appropriate place for book on the uses of humor in law and politics."

That book, he said, would contain some of the stories he has become famous for telling in order to make a point; stories of the Bible, the classics, some of his experiences in the hills of North Carolina, or history.

"I've been collecting them all my life," he said, remembering when he used to sit and listen to stories told by judges when they visited with his father, Samuel James Ervin Sr., a well-known Burke County attorney.

"The best ones I've heard," he said, "My wife says she knows most all my stories because she's heard them so many times. But she still enjoys them because I seem to enjoy telling them so much."

Ervin never had political ambition, but he served three terms in the state legislature, was on the Burke County Superior Court for two years before being appointed to the State Supreme Court.

After serving six years on the high court, he was elected to complete the final year of the congressional term of his brother, Joseph, who died in 1945.

Then he returned to Morganton to continue in private law practice at his third-floor walkup office on the town's square where he hung out his original shingle.

He re-entered the political world reluctantly in 1954, but this time to stay, when he was appointed and then elected to fill the seat held by U.S. Sen. Clyde R. Hoey who died in office.

Of all his career exneriences, which did he enjoy most?

"I've been fortunate in that I've enjoyed about everything I ever did," he said. "If I had to pick one thing more than another I would say I believe I got more satisfaction out of practicing law than in anything else I've ever done."

As for returning to law practice:

"I don't know. I don't think I'll ever get bogged down in the practice of law particularly along the line of legal work anymore because you can get tied down with an awful lot of insignificant things. If an interesting case came along that didn't have very much work and a great big fee, I would be tempted to take it."

Hungry

tive for its farmers.

"We do not favor food reserves of a magnitude that would perpetually depress prices or destroy farmer incentives," Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told the conference.

China declined to take part in the information system, calling it an infringement of national soverignty. The Chinese delegates told the conference their country was self-sufficient, anyway, with rice exports balancing wheat imports and 14 million tons of centrally stored cereals in addition to stocks held by communes.

But the Soviet Union, which is not a member of FAO, said it would go along with the information system if satisfied with the decisions on who would make use of the information, how it would be collected and how it would be safeguarded from distortion for propaganda purposes.

Participation of the Soviet Union was important because it is a major produced of grains and in recent years, when bad weather cut into harvests, has become a major buyer on world markets.

While the food security system is considered a major step, most experts agree that it is on establishment of the development fund that the success or failure of the conference hangs.

At present the developing countries, with 70 per cent of the world's population, produce only 40 per cent of its food. Since World War II, the industrialized countries —the United States first among them —have helped to fill the gap with aid.

Hard-hit by the current economic crisis, the traditional donors have served notice that they must give precedence to domestic problems of inflation and unemployment.

The United States said it was now the turn of the oil-rich countries to shoulder most of the aid burden of helping to feed the hungry. "They're starting from zero," U.S. Ambassador Edwin M. Martin said.

Nine of the 13 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries joined in proposing the development fund, raising hopes that they might make substantial contributions of petrodollars when the time for pledging arrives.

Although no goal has been set yet —that is up to the new World Food Council —FAO estimates that the fund will need at least $5 billion to meet its target of spurring a 4 per cent a year minimum growth rate in agriculture production by the developing countries.

Chief FAO spokesman Mohamed Ben Aissa said he was encouraged by Saudi Arabia's recent donation of $10 million to a Near East Cooperative Program in the FAO region including the Arab countries, Iran, Pakistan, Afghanistan and Cyprus.

"This could be an interpretation of the state of mind and spirit of some of the countries that have the funds," Ben Aissa said.

"I see it as a rather positive gesture. Let's face it, $10 million is rather symbolic but it's a beginning and there are other countries like Iran which might follow this example.

"We say in my country, a big river is made up of drops."

Boerma, too, is optimistic.

If nothing else, he said recently, the conference has made it hard for governments "to go back to the previous attitude of benevolent half-hearidness which characterized the way in which so many of them tackled the problem.

"As far as I am concerned," he said, "I am prepared, at least for the time being, to consider what governments said in good faith.

"After all, it was the governments themselves, under no visible pressure, that called this conference. And special encouragement can be drawn from the fact that one of the chief sponsors was the United States, not only the world's richest country but by far the main food producer.

"Perhaps I am being too optimistic, but I hope not."

How will food be divided?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is enough food in the world to stave off widespread starvation until the 1975 crops are harvested, a top U.S. official says.

But experts here agree that the hard decisions on how to avert millions of possible famine deaths through the rest of the century still lie ahead. The job of converting last fall's World Food Conference decisions into life-saving action has barely begun.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter said in an interview that supplies on hand here and abroad appear to be adequate to meet basic needs for now through next summer and fall.

Spokesmen for the U.S. and other major exporters, meeting in Rome last month following the food conference, surveyed available stocks "and made it clear that sufficient supplies were in existence, and they were prepared to export them if financing is made available," Yeutter said.

Yeutter said the U.S. "will do its share" in paying for relief shipments this season. But he cautioned he had not yet seen hard evidence of funding from other wealthy nations.

Yeutter is focusing much of his attention on the outlook for the next few decades —the period in which decisions made in the World Food Conference could have their greatest impact on prospects for averting hunger.

It will take time, perhaps five years, to find out whether the conference has made a difference, says Ambassador Edwin M. Martin.

Martin, second-ranking member of the U.S. delegation at the conference, explains:

"Designing new plans giving a higher priority to food production, and then preparing and carrying out investment projects to implement them have always been multi-year tasks. Reaching small farmers scattered widely over the countryside with new technology ... will put a heavy strain on the resources of most developing nations.

"It will be especially important also to test what happens if we have two or three years of good harvests. Will complacency take over?"

It could, Martin adds, take only six months to write off the Rome conference as a failure. If no real moves toward activating its sweeping proposals for world food reserves, increased food aid, and steps to increase food output in developing nations have been taken within that time, "we haven't much hope of success," he said.

Some initial steps, however, are being taken.

Yeutter said U.S. officials currently are developing the position they will carry into a mid-February conference in London to seek agreement on new international guidelines for a network of nationally controlled food reserve stockpiles. This effort, if it succeeds, could lead to the rebuilding of moderate stocks over a period of several years.

Expert views on the future of the food supply for wealthy nations like the U.S. and for the poorer, developing countries like India and Bangladesh range from gloomy forecasts of looming disaster to moderate optimism based on history and a long string of ifs.

Official bodies, including the Food and Agriculture Organization, the U.S. Agriculture Department and an expert committee organized by the National Academy of Sciences, generally agree the odds are against a massive worldwide food shortage over the next decade, at least. But they agree in warning that the physical existence of enough food worldwide does not mean millions may not go hungry at times in some areas.

Reports from these agencies generally agree that total world production over the next decade or so should add up to enough to meet basic human needs. But the total may conceal a pattern of rapid production gains in developed countries contrasted with lagging per capita supplies in poorer nations with rapidly growing populations.

Ballard tops Valley cagers

The way in which the Pomona area has progressed is evident by the number of area players now in the major college ranks.

Pomona has been blessed with great athletes in other sports but produced few basketball stars until recent years. Few areas have products such as Bill Singer and Rollie Fingers in baseball, Bob Seagren in track, plus Dennis Shaw, Allen Carter and others in football.

Now it is basketball's turn to grab the limelight.

Others include Cleve Porter at USC, Bob Kovach at San Diego State and Mark Gosswiller at Northern Arizona.

Ballard enjoyed a fine freshman season at Oregon last year but is even better this campaign. Washington State coach George Raveling has gone on record as claiming Ballard is one of the most improved players in the Pacific-8 Conference.

The 6-6 Pomonan ranks behind only Stanford giant Rich Kelley in rebounding in conference games according to the latest Pac-8 stats.

Ballard scored 24 points Saturday as Oregon dropped a 72-71 decision to rival Oregon State in a Pacific-8 game at Corvallis, Oregon. Going into the contest he was averaging 15.3 points and 10.2 rebounds per game and shooting at a 46.9 per cent clip from the floor and 72.3 from the foul line.

"With continued improvement, Greg can be one of the truly great rebounders in the league," says Oregon coach Dick Harter, "he's on his way to greatness."

It's amazing how a 6-7 player can do well on the boards against bigger opponents.

"You've got to learn the carom percentages," Ballard explains. "You have to have an instinct about where the ball is going to go if it misses. All the hustle in the world won't work unless you screen your man out first."

Ballard and the Ducks will be in the Southland on Feb. 14 at UCLA and Feb. 15 at the Sports Arena against USC.

Porter not as fortunate

Porter, who led Ganesha High to the San Antonio League title last year, hasn't been as fortunate as Ballard in seeing game action.

The Trojans are an experienced team with four seniors in the starting lineup so there hasn't been much room for Porter.

"Really, Cleve should be getting experience on the junior varsity team," USC coach Bob Boyd said, "but we had an opening for a 12th player on the varsity when my son, Bill, suffered a foot injury. I feel Cleve has learned by being with the varsity and has matured since he has been there."

Porter has played in four varsity games and has scored two baskets for four points. Earlier, he played in three JV games and holds a 13.7 scoring average in those contests.

Kovach, the All-State JC star at Chaffey College, is doing well at San Diego State now after a slow start.

The former Fontana High sensation is currently averaging 8.1 points and 4.9 rebounds a game for the Aztecs.

"I'm extremely pleased with the play of Kovach of late," San Diego State coach Tim Vezie said. "Kovach was in a terrible slump early in the year but he has his confidence now and is really playing well."

Gosswiller, a freshman from Montclair High, has worked himself into the Northern Arizona starting lineup. He is averaging 3.8 points and 4.5 rebounds a game for the Lumberjacks.

Judging by the high school talent in the area this year, there should be quite a few more names joining the list soon.

Tom Carroll, the Damien High athletic director, is a close friend of Chuck Noll, the coach of the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

Carroll and Noll played together on the offensive line in their collegiate days at the University of Dayton.

"I got to visit Chuck last year when the Steelers trained at Palm Springs for their playoff game at Oakland and it's amazing how he hasn't changed from the same great guy I knew in college," Carroll said. "He was just great to me and my sons."

Canadian official says government would allow '76 Olympics to fold

OTTAWA (UPI) — Treasury Board president Jean Chretien said Saturday he firmly believes the federal government would allow the 1976 Summer Olympics to fold before it would underwrite any deficit for the games.

The Montreal Gazette said in a story Saturday that a "highly placed Ottawa Official" had said "it is inconceivable we could stand by and let the Olympics risk cancellation for want of money."

Chretien said in an interview for broadcast Sunday on the CTV television program 'Question period' that "we're not picking up the deficit of the games."

His interviewer replied: "You've said that but I think before you see the Games killed, which is one option that faces us, I think that you will."

The treasury board president responded tersely "I think we won't."

Latest estimates project a $200 million deficit will be incurred by the Olympics with construction and administration costs forecast at $653 million and revenues expected to total $450 million.

The federal government has maintained the stand that in allowing Montreal to hold a national lottery and sell Olympic stamps and coins to raise funds it is not required to provide any direct financial aid.

Quebec Municipal Affairs Minister Dr. Victor Goldbloom said last week that Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has adopted a "negative attitude" towards the Games and Ottawa should provide some assistance.

"We're not getting involved at all in the Olympic Games," Chretien said Saturday to reiterate the federal government's stand.

"We have set our policy on that. It is clearly understood.

"We have helped the Quebec government and Montreal to have the Games when we had (approved) the stamps program and the money program and the lottery."

Chretien went on "We had to pass the legislation. We will take part in the security and it is going to cost us some money there because of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the National Defense presence there.

"We have given money to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation because they are the hosts for the media around the world and it is going to cost us $25 million. We have contributed."

The interviewer interjected, "But no more?"

"But no more," Chretien stated flatly.

Queried about reports Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa may ask the federal government for aid, Chretien said "He knows, We wrote him. We told him. I called Garneau (Advisor to Bourassa) last week and I repeated the story to him.

"We're not picking up the deficit of the games."

He said if Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau "wanted to transfer his silver coins and gold coins, I don't know, I have not seen the project as yet, but it's not taking part in the deficit. We said we won't take at all part in the deficit."

There has been discussion in Ottawa recently of the possibility of issuing a further coin series to provide additional Olympic revenue. Sources say however no plan has yet been brought to cabinet and mint officials are skeptical of the ability of domestic and world markets to absorb much of such an issue.

The "high official" interviewed by the Gazette said the federal government could not stand by and let the Games collapse.

"There would be such a loss of interest, such a depression in Canadian amateur sport administrative progress we might never get back to the point we are at right now.

"And yet I'm not saying there isn't a selling job to be done down here (Ottawa). There are people, important people, who are not very concerned about Montreal's Olympic problems. I don't feel they are in the majority."

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has said repeatedly that the federal government would not make up any Olympics deficit. He said as recently as Friday that his government has no contingency plan to bail out the Olympics.

The unidentified official pointed out that neither the Quebec government nor Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau has asked for federal assistance.

"In fact," he caid, "Mayor Jean Drapeau insists he doesn't need it."

During a parliamentary commission hearing on Olympic financing this week in Quebec City, Drapeau maintained that he could handle the projected $200 million-plus projected deficit without federal or provincial aid.

Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa confirmed Saturday that no appeal has been made to Ottawa.

He said he expected to meet with Trudeau next week "for one of our regular discussions and the Olympic problem certainly will be brought up."

But he said he did not expect to make a formal request to the Prime Minister for federal funds. In fact, Bourassa said, Drapeau has not even asked the provincial government for financial help, although Quebec City reportedly is ready to contribute as much as $100 million to shirk the project deficit.

Government members on the parliamentary commission estimated the deficit at $250 million, setting expenses at $610 million revenues at $360.

A consultant hired by the City of Montreal reported last month that the games could expect expenditures of $653 million against the latest COJO estimate of $450 in revenues.

"We still have to alternate ways to raise the revenues," Bourassa said. "The Olympic lottery will probably be extended under another name for several years after the games and the City of Montreal could borrow money to cover the gap."

He said it was too early to discuss any possible tax increase for Montrealers. "That will take a few more years to determine," he said.

But Municipal Affairs Minister Victor Goldbloom said that since Montrealers will benefit most from the facilities, they will have to pay a larger share.

"It's only fair that taxpayers in the rest of the province not be expected to pay the same as Montrealers," he said.

The legislative committee adjourned until Tuesday when it will continue its studies of ways to reduce the projected deficit.

The committee will then seek additional information on possible revenues from extension to the Olympic coin and stamp program.

Notre Dame does it again

Irish upset Bruins, 84-78

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame's Digger Phelps calls it a "four-corner offense," and Saturday he used it for the final four minutes to protect an 84-78 victory over No. 2 ranked UCLA.

Actually, the four-corner offense keeps an Irish player on each corner of the half court, passing the ball around, while the fifth player tries to get open for a good shot under the basket.

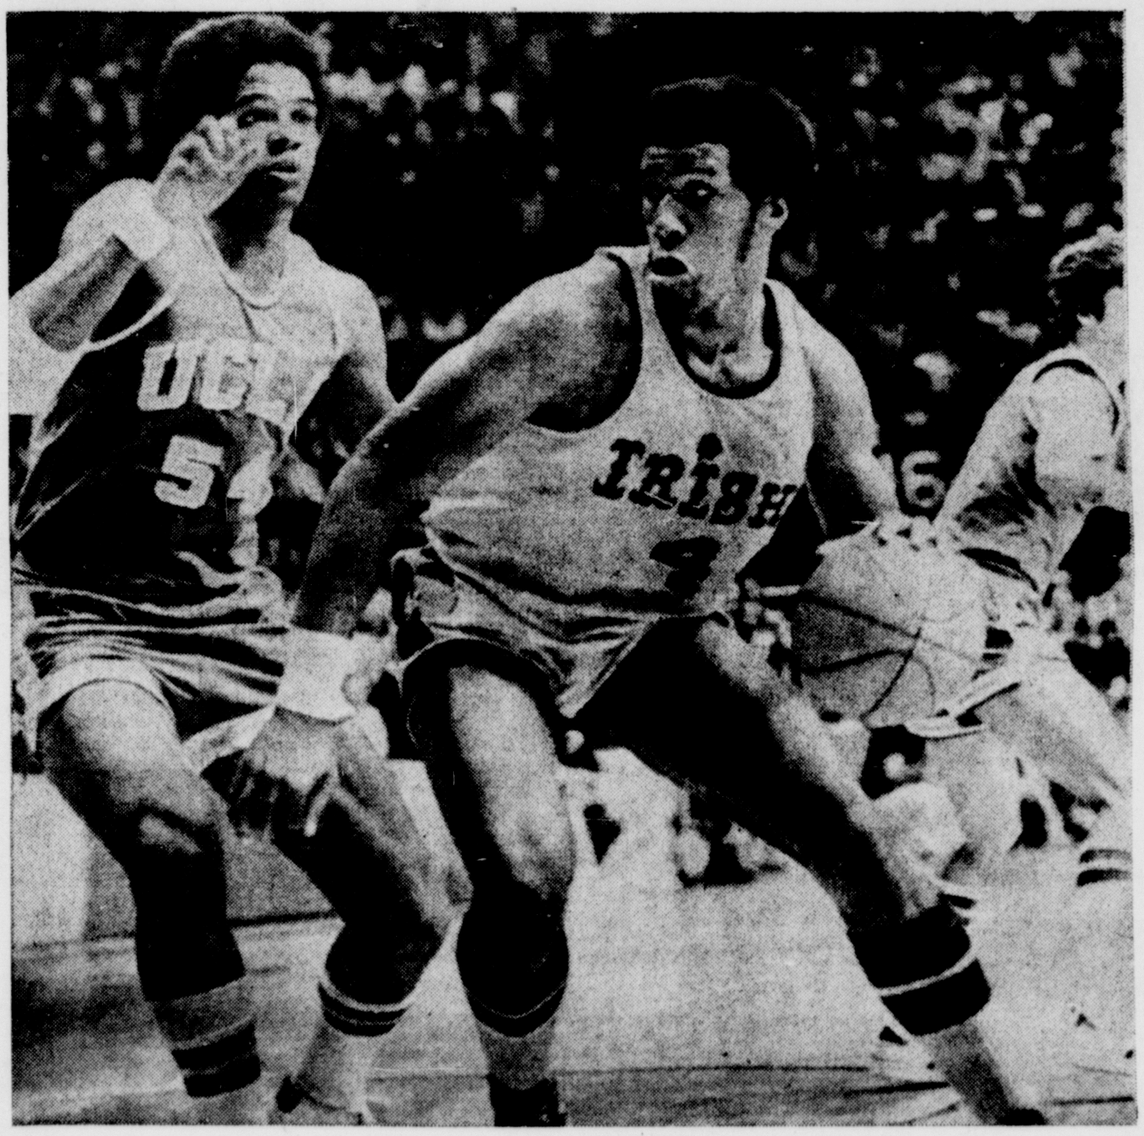
While Notre Dame was working this semi-stall Saturday, UCLA scored only three points as its victory hopes faded and husky forward Billy Paterno got two field goals, one of them on a goaltending call, and four free throws to score the last eight points for Notre Dame.

"The four-corner offense ate up the clock as we wanted and the foul shots by Paterno were a big key," Phelps said. "I thought our press offense was very effective. We changed to a new alignment and motion which UCLA hasn't seen.

"We had to beat someone good and UCLA certainly is good. Our zone did a good job and we were able to get some good plays underneath, especially with Adrian Dantley and Paterno."

Bruins Coach Johnny Wooden said his team, losing for the second time in 16 games, "just got whipped. Teams can beat us but they'll never have an easy time doing it. It was a good battle all the way and Dantley deserves all the superlatives that will be written about him.

"Our press did not work too well. The Irish broke it rather easily. We didn't foul when we had fouls to waste because I didn't think they were trying to hold the ball. I wasn't surprised at the delay, in fact I suspected some of it in the first half."



HERE I COME!

Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame starts his drive around UCLA's Marques Johnson in Saturday afternoon game. Dantley scored 32 points as Irish dealt second-ranked Bruins an 84-78 loss.

Kings tie on Berry's goal

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Bob Berry's goal at 17:56 of the third period gave the Los Angeles Kings a 5-5 tie with the New York Islanders Saturday night.

Clark Gillies put the Islanders ahead 5-4 at 1:23 of the final period when he drilled a 20-footer past Los Angeles' Gary Edwards.

Earlier, Potvin scored a three goal hat trick, starting with two unassisted goals in the first period at 2:27 and 4:47. Potvin's first goal was caused by a mixup between Edwards and Sheldon Kanneggiesser.

The other Islander goal was scored by Bob Boune in the second period at 3:29.

Don Kozak got Los Angeles' only tally in the first period, taking a pass from Berry at 18:25. Dan Maloney scored at 14:14 of the middle period while Mike Corrigan tallied at 16:15 and Goring on a power play in the last minute of the same stanza.

Littler goes four up with a 68

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Gene Littler, playing back to the days when he was known as the "machine," beat the fog home at Cypress Point with a four under par 68 Saturday for a commanding four-stroke lead after three rounds in the $185,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

The 44-year-old Littler, who hasn't won a tour title since the 1973 St. Louis Classic although he is one of eight golfing millionaires, went out in the sun in five-under 32 but had to battle incoming fog on the last three holes for a one-over 36 that gave him a three-round total of nine under par 207 and the lead over Tom Watson.

Watson, a 25-year-old third-year pro from Kansas City who learned how to play the Crosby seaside courses as an undergraduate at Stanford, shot an even par 72 also at Cypress Point, and had a 54-hole total of five-under 211.

While things were falling into place for Littler, who had seven birdies, one bogey and a double bogey, and Watson, who played steadily if not spectacularly, Johnny Miller and Jack Nicklaus, the two superstars everyone came to see, continued to lose ground.

Miller, winner of the Phoenix and Tucson opens to start the 1975 Tour, shot a two-under 70 at Pebble Beach for 215 to trail Littler by eight shots while Nicklaus, winner of more major titles than anyone in history with 14, shot an even par 72, also at Pebble, and was at 217, 10 shots off the lead.

A Saturday record crowd of more than 25,000 turned out with seemingly two-thirds of it on Pebble watching Miller and Nicklaus. Neither, though, made much of a move to close the gap, although Miller at one point was three under. But Pebble, as it had in the first two rounds, took its toll. Miller and Nicklaus had started the third round six shots behind Littler and Watson, who had shared the second round lead.

Rod Curl shot a 70 at Pebble, Roy Pace had a 70 at Spyglass Hill and Bruce Devlin shot a 69, also at Spyglass, and were grouped at 213, six shots behind Littler and two ahead of Tom Kite, Hubert Green and Miller. Kite and Green, like Miller, played at Pebble and had 69 and 74, respectively.

Tom Weiskopf, who failed to make the cut at both Phoenix and Tucson, shot a 71 at Cypress Point and was in a group at 216, while U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin had a 75, also at Cypress, and was at 219.

Littler's longest birdie putt was a 20-footer at the par 5, 490-yard fifth hole. He also made a 15-footer on the par 3, 161-yard third and his other putts were from eight feet or less.

He took a double bogey six on the 14th when his drive went off line to the right and he couldn't see the flag because of the fog. He eventually took two chip shots to get on and then missed from five feet. He bogeyed par 3 16th, Cypress' famous water hole, when he two-putted from the edge.

"I played pretty well," Littler said, "except for those lapses on 14 and 16. Still, I like my chances for the final, especially since Miller and Nicklaus are way back there."

Miller blamed mediocre putting for his 70.

Winner of the Phoenix and Tucson opens by a combined total of 49 under par Miller said he didn't have that "good feeling" this week.

"I just couldn't seem to make any decent putts," said the man who had 51 birdies and three eagles during the past two weeks.

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

NORWALK — Cerritos College continued its basketball hex over Mt. San Antonio College here Saturday with a 77-75 upset victory to knock the Mounties out of a share of the South Coast Conference lead.

MSAC, now 18-2 for the season and 3-1, in conference today, will need to regroup Wednesday night when it hosts first-place Santa Ana to complete the first round of SCC play.

Santa Ana won its fourth conference game without a loss Saturday in defeating San Diego Mesa, 92-79, on the road while Fullerton clipped Orange Coast, 73-63, in the other conference game.

Cerritos, 8-12 for the campaign, is tied with MSAC for second place in the SCC with a 3-1 mark. It was also the Falcons' sixth consecutive victory over the Mounties and their 10th in the past 11 meetings.

MSAC led most of the way here Saturday and seemed in command, especially on the offensive boards.

Cerritos stuns MSAC in SCC

George Schader took the inbounds throw and fired a long pass to guard John Davey past the center line. However, Hernandez was able to tip the ball away from Davey to teammate Michael Wysong, who dribbled to the Cerritos end of the court as the final seconds ticked off.

Schader did his best to give MSAC the win as the 6-6 sophomore from Covina sank 15 of 30 shots for a season-high 34 points. He made 10 field goals — several on tip-ins — in the second half alone to keep the Mounties on top until the final minutes.

Gary Melugin, the other starting forward, was the only other Mountie scoring in double figures with 16 points. Tom Pokorski came off the bench to contribute eight points, including a pair of tip-ins with 6:43 and 5:50 to go to keep MSAC ahead.

Hernandez tallied 23, 18 in the second half, to pace the Falcons. Darrell Lane added 17 while center Willie Howard hit for 11.

MSAC shot 54 per cent from the floor while Cerritos hit on 46 per cent. The game was won on the foul line as the Falcons sank 11 of 17 shots while MSAC hit on 9 of only 10 attempts. The Mounties didn't shoot a free throw in the second half as Cerritos was charged with only three personals during the final 20 minutes.

MSAC enjoyed a 40-30 edge in rebounding as both the Mounties' Duaine Harding and Cerritos' Howard grabbed 12 each to remain tied for the South Coast rebounding lead.

Cerritos jumped out to a 12-5 lead but MSAC went on a scoring spurt to take command with a 29-22 advantage. The first half ended with the Mounties enjoying a 39-35 lead.

Coach Gene Victor's Mounties kept their lead until Lane drove for a basket with 4:57 left in the game. Schader scored four points in the next minute to regain the lead for MSAC at 71-70 with 3:57 on the clock.

Wysong sank three free throws to put the Falcons ahead, 73-71, but Schader scored again to tie it once more. Howard put Cerritos ahead again with a slam dunk but Schader put in another tip-in to tie it at 75-75 with 43 seconds left.

Riessen, Gerulaitis collide in net finals

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Thirty-three-year-old Marty Riessen and 21-year-old Vitas Gerulaitis swept into the finals of the U.S. Pro Indoor tournament Saturday, each scoring straight set victories in their bid for the season's first major tennis title.

Riessen, the seventh and only seed left in this $115,000 event with a $15,000 first prize, took total command of Jaime Fillol, winning 6-1, 6-4, 6-0, while Gerulaitis handled John Alexander of Australia, 6-4, 7-6, 6-3.

Riessen ripped through the first set against Fillol in 19 minutes, taking the Chilean's service in the fourth game and then again at love in the eighth.

The Evanston, Ill., native dropped only four points on service in the first set and opened the second by breaking the Chilean's service. In that span, he ran off 13 straight points before Fillol steadied in the second set.

But the American, serving with disciplined hard-hitting control, ran Jaime off the court at love in the third set.

Riessen said afterwards that he had expected Fillol to be much tougher, in view of Jaime's brilliant win in sudden death over Arthur Ashe

"I thought it was be close, maybe four or even five sets, but Jaime seemed very sluggish, maybe because of his match with Ashe. He got tough in the second set but when I broke him in the first game of the third, he seemed to get very depressed and my serve held up all the way.

"It's not going to be like that tomorrow against Vitas, though, of that I'm sure."

Poly, MSAC spikers score at indoor meet

Other Bronco runners winning their events were David Duify with a college division time of 6.3 in the 60-yard dash, Henry Frierson with a 7.3 in the invitational 60-yard hurdles and Mike Harris with a 7.5 in the college division hurdles.

Ehricke Scott, a Ganesha High product, set a school record for MSAC Friday night in the triple jump in the junior college portion of the meet.

Scott leaped 49-feet, 10 inches for a new school record for first place in the event. The old record was 43-5. The junior college record stands at 47-8.

Four other first places were turned in by the Mounties Friday as well.

Mark Lotich won the two-mile in 9:30.6, Steve Simmons captured the 500 in 60.4, Art Eddy ran the mile in 4:28.2 and Walt Scroggy leaped 6-4 in the high jump. Those marks were school records also.

Oilers name Phillips coach

HOUSTON (UPI) — Crew-cut O. A. "Bum" Phillips, 51, a Texan known in the Southwest for devising football defenses as tough as his leather coat and shined boots, Saturday was promoted from defensive coordinator to head coach of the Houston Oilers.

Sid Gillman, AFC coach of the year in 1974 who chose the defensive strategist to succeed him, confirmed he will move back to the Oilers' (general manager job.)

"He's the guy who's gonna carry us to the —victories, the playoffs and a successful future," Gillman said, naming a man who has had little head coaching experience but who he said he can teach.

"It's gonna be a tough act to follow," Phillips said.

Like his hair style, the rigid Oiler football philosophy which carried the lowly team to a respectable 7-7 record in 1974, Phillips said, won't change much this fall.

"I certainly hope we can keep the coaches we have," he said.

Allbright and Walls lead Citrus over Chaffey

Roland Allbright and Paul Walls combined for 42 points Saturday night to lead Citrus College to a 73-58 Mission Conference win over Chaffey College at Chaffey.

The game waa closer than the final score would indicate. Chaffey held a 27-26 lead at the half. The Panthers were still in front, 35-33, three minutes into the second half. But the Owls scored six straight points to go ahead 39-35 and never trailed again.

However Citrus still held only a two-point advantage, 55-53 with 4:25 left in the game. But the Owls spurted again outscoring the Panthers 18-5.

Chaffey came out of its zone defense trying to get the ball. The Owls scored on a pair of layups by Walls and one by Allbright. Dwight Dyck hit a couple of baseline jumpers and Citrus was home free.

Citrus shot 48 percent from the field (31 of 65) while Chaffey shot only 34 percent (26 of 76). The Owls also sank 11 of 15 free throws while the Panthers made only six of 13.

Chaffey won the battle of the boards, out-rebounding Citrus, 43-42. Forward Russ Williams had 12 rebounds to go along with 11 points. Center Mike Minardo scored 14 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

Williams had been averaging 20 points a game through the first 15 games. But Saturday night marked the fourth straight game he failed to reach the 20 mark.

Citrus now is 3-4 in Mission Conference play and 9-11 overall. Chaffey is 2-4 in the conference and 3-16 overall. The Owls are off until Saturday when they host Palomar. The Comets visit Chaffey Wednesday.

Sports news in brief

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The bait is on the hook, but nobody knows if Jimmy Connors will become the "Catfish" Hunter of World Team Tennis.

Connors, the controversial U.S. and Wimbledon champion who once went into the stands to challenge a Baltimore Banners heckler, reportedly was offered a deal with the Pittsburgh Triangles "in the category" of the $3 million contract Hunter got recently with the New York Yankees.

But before he could snap at the bait, bargaining broke off. And one reason may be that the Triangles don't want their no-shows to be on the tennis courts.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Bart Starr, head coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers, Saturday named former Packer player Lew Carpenter as an offensive coach for the club.

Carpenter, 43, played with the Packers from 1959-63. He has worked as an assistant coach for Minnesota, Washington, Atlanta, St. Louis and Houston.

Carpenter became the sixth assistant selected by Starr and the third former Packer named to the staff.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Tug McGraw doesn't have to tell the Philadelphia Phillies "you gotta believe'98—they already believe he is the key to their first pennant in 25 years.

McGraw coined the phrase "you gotta believe" — they when he came out of the bullpen and used his baffling screwball to help the New York Mets to the National League flag, but an off year last season sent the Mets looking for a deal.

"I'd been trying to get Tug for quite a while," said Phillies" general manager Paul Owens, "and when the opportunity came to get him I didn't hesitate. He solidifies the one big weakness we had last year —relief pitching. I think we're in a position now to be a contender."

Owens sent outfielder Del Unser, relief pitcher Mac Scarce and catcher John Stearns to the Mets for McGraw and outfielders Don Hahn and Dave Schneck during the off-season.

McGraw, who was labeled a "flake" during his 11 years with the Mets, called the New York organization "one of the finest" in baseball, but said he was happy to be traded to a team which "can win it all.

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (UPI) — Australia's bubbly teenager Jenny Turrall collected her third gold medal of the New Zealand Games Sunday when she captured 800 meter freestyle swim a mere .39 of a second off the world record.

The 14-year-old Sydney schoolgirl came from behind to defeat world record holder Jo Harshbarger of the United States by 12 yards in 8:47.98.

Miss Harshbarger was clocked in 8:55.19, well off her world record of 8:47.59 set in Los Angeles last August.

Miss Harshbarger set the pace in the first 400 and led Miss Turrall by three meters at the halfway mark but the young Australian poured it on at the turn and swept past her American foe at the 450 meter mark.

Bradley halts Louisville

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Jim Caruthers scored four points and Tom Les added a free throw in the final 20 seconds Saturday night to give the Bradley Braves an upset 65-59 Missouri Valley Conference win over third-ranked and previously unbeaten Louisville.

Les was fouled with 19 seconds left and hit the first shot of a one-and-one to boost the Braves' one-point lead to 61-59. Louisville then lost the rebound of the second shot out of bounds. Bradley ran the clock down to two seconds before Caruthers hit two more free throws.

Louisville then fumbled a full-court pass on the inbounds play and Caruthers sank a 20-footer at the buzzer to give Bradley its ninth victory against six defeats. The Braves are 2-3 in the conference.

Louisville led by as much as seven points twice in the first half, but Bradley held a ninepoint advantage with 12:26 remaining in the game before the Cardinals tied it 53-53 with 5:44 left.

Mike Davis led Bradley scorers with 18 and Smith and Caruthers each had 13. Louisville's Murphy scored 18 and Wes Cox and Phil Bond had 10 each. Louisville fell to 4-1 in the conference.

Kovach scores 25 in S.D. win

SAN DIEGO — Former Chaffey College star Bob Kovach scored 25 points and pulled down 13 rebounds to lead San Diego State to a 72-65 decision over Cal State Fullerton in a Pacific Coast Athletic Association opener Saturday night. Reserve Gary Earle, who tallied 14 points, put San Diego ahead to stay at 48-47 with a basket with 8:31 to go.

Hawley guides co-winner in Anita cap

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Montmartre and Barclay Joy split winning shares of $52,000 by capturing divisions of the Camino Real Handiiap over the turf course Saturday at Santa Anita.

In the second division, Montmartre scored his voctory from wire to wire in an impressive 1:59 flat for the 1¼ miles on the grass as Toujours Pret closed strongly to finish second and Bacanazo was third.

With Canadian-born Sandy Hawley in the saddle, Montmartre returned $11.20, $5.20 and $3. Toujours Pret paid $3.80 and $2.80 while Bacanazo was worth $2.60.

Hawley scored his first stakes win here in less than a week of riding at the track. In 1973, he was the national jockey champion with 515 winners.

Favored Barclay Joy, racing pocketed on the rail most of the way, found room in the stretch to score a head victory over El Botija with El Tarta finishing third.

The Irish-bred Barclay Joy was timed in 2:00 1-5 and paid $4.60, $3.20 and $2.40. El Botija's prices were $5.40 and $3.80 while El Tarta returned $3.

Don Pierce was aboard Barclay Joy for his third Camino Real triumph. The win was the second straight in the United States in two outings for Barclay Joy.

The Camino Real was predominated by foreign-born and foreign-raced horses. Montmartre, although bred in California, was originally raced in England and the first three finishers in the first division were all foreign bred.

Toujours Pret, which finished second in the second division, made only his third start in this country.

Sunday's $75,000-added San Fernando Stakes will be split into two $50,000 divisions. The San Fernando is the second leg of the Strub Series leading up to the $100,000 Strub Stakes for 4-year-olds.

No. 1 Indiana routs Purdue in Big Ten

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — No. 1-ranked Indiana, with five players in double figures, moved past upstate rival Purdue with ease Saturday, 104-71, to maintain undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball race.

The Hoosiers, riding a 21-game winning streak, led by as many as 34 points with six minutes to go, 88-54, before coasting to the final victory margin.

It was Indiana's seventh league victory in as many outings. The Boilermakers, now 5-2, would have tied the Hoosiers for first place in the conference with a win.

Indiana started sluggishly against the Boilermakers, who started three freshmen. Purdue toook an early 14-10 lead before Bobby Knight's Hoosiers started hitting. Quinn Buckner connected on a rebound shot to put Indiana ahead for good at 16-14.

The Hoosiers outscored Purdue, 16-4, in a three-minute span to move ahead 26-18. Purdue came back with seven straight points to cut the Indiana lead to one, but the Hoosiers then spurted into a 54-42 halftime advantage.

Scott May topped Indiana with 23 points, Buckner got 18, Benson 13 and John Laskowski and Bob Wilkerson 13 each.

John Garrett with 18 and Bruce Parkinson with 15 were the only Boilermakers in double figures. Purdue is now 10-5 overall.

Attendance at the game, the 129th basketball meeting between the two schools, was 17,823, which is the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in person in Indiana.

CORVALLIS, Ore.(UPI) — Rickey Lee scored on a desperation 30-foot field goal attempt with one second left in overtime Saturday to lift Oregon State past ninth-ranked Oregon 72-71 and take the lead in the tight Pacific-8 Conference.

OSU's Pac-8 record improved to 4-1 while the Ducks dropped to 3-2. UCLA, USC and Stanford have 3-1 records.

Oregon moved into a 71-70 lead with 1:31 remaining in overtime on a short jumper by Greg Graham. OSU held the ball until five seconds to go and both teams called consecutive time outs. Two quick passes left Lee with the ball 30 feet from the basket. He then hit his jumper.

OSU led nearly all the first half and took a 32-27 halfime edge. The Ducks caught the Beavers with 7:18 left in the game when Greg Ballard hit a baseline jumper to put Oregon in front 54-53. Lee scored two field goals in the final four minutes of regulation to keep the Beavers alive.

Both Lonnie Shelton of Oregon State and Oregon's Ronnie Lee sat out most of the second half with four fouls.

Ballard led all scorers with 24 while Ernie Kent added 21. OSU's Don Smith had 15.

'Bama beats Georgia

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Leon Douglas scored 24 points and grabbed 12 rebounds Saturday to spur sixth-ranked Alabama to an easy 92-68 Southestern Conference victory over Georgia.

Alabma's crimson tide dominated the generally-sloppy play, turning the ball over 15 times in the game to 25 turnovers for Feorgia.

Charles Russell added 18 points for Alabama and grabbed 8 rebounds as the tide also had command of the boards.

Freshman Jacky Dorsey was able to socre 27 points in the bulldog's losing effort and guard Tony Flannagan added 12.

Georgia never lead Alabama in the contest, although the Bullodgs tied it three times in the early minutes. The last tie, 6-6 with 16:44 in the half, was broken by Alabama, which stretched it to an 11 point lead, 26-15 with 9:43 to go, and to a 45-33 advantage at halftime.

The Bulldogs never got closer than their halftime margin in the second period and the tide went ahead by as many as 26 with 1:02 remaining.

'Heels ruin No. 4 Terps in ACC game

COLLEGE PARK, MD. (UPI) — North Carolina' Tarheels used their skillful four-corner stall to perfection Saturday to deal the fourth-ranked Maryland Terps their second upset loss of the week 69-66 Saturday and take over the Atlantic Coast Conference lead.

With the 14th-ranked Tarheels ahead 61-60 with 10:10 left, Coach Dean Smith ordered the freeze and neither team scored for eight minutes and 14 seconds until the Terps were forced into a series of desperation fouls which produced the North Carolina victory.

Carolina's John Kuester and Phil Ford connected on two free throws each but Maryland retaliated with two baskets to cut the margin to 65-64 with 57 seconds left. Ford hit two more free throws but Maryland's Mo Howard made it 67-66 with a bucket.

Ford then missed in a one and one situation to keep Terrapin hopes alive but Maryland's John Lucas missed a jumper from the top of the key with 16 seconds left and Mickey Bell iced the game with another pair of free throws.

Maryland is now 13-3 and 4-2 in the ACC. Carolina is 10-4 and 4-1 in conference play.

The Terps led much of the first half but fell behind 43-38 at intermission and were never able to obtain more than a one point advantage at any time thereafter.

Lucas led all scorers with 17 points

Angels sign nine players

Six pitchers and three infielders have signed 1975 contracts with the California Angels, general manager Harry Dalton has announced.

Signed pitchers are Chuck Dobson, Ed Figueroa, Dick Lange, Orlando Pena, Luis Quintana and Mickey Scott. All but Scott saw action with the Angels in 1974.

Scott, purchased from the Baltimore Orioles' Rochester club, was the outstanding relief pitcher in the International League last season. The lefthander had an 8-2 record and 0.99 earned run average in 57 appearances.

Infielders signed are first baseman John Doherty, shortstop Orlando Ramirez and second baseman Jerry Remy. Remy was the 1974 Texas League batting champion with a .338 average.

WBC threatens to strip Ali of crown

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The World Boxing Council has proposed stripping world heavyweight king Muhammad Ali of his title if he goes through with his scheduled bout against Chuck Wepner March 24 in Cleveland.

WBC president Ramon Velazquez told the British Boxing Board of Control of the decision in a telegram to the board's president, Onslow Fane, released to the local press.

The WBC has already said it would not recognize any encounter between Ali and Wepner as a world championship fight, because Wepner does not figure in the council's top 10 contenders for the heavyweight crown.

Text of the telegram is as follows:

"In accordance with your wishes, I notified the international press that the WBC does not recognize as a title bout the Ali-Wepner fight. I feel that if it does take place recognition of him as champion should be withdrawn and boxers immediately designated to dispute the vacant title, as has been done in other divisions. I ask for opinions."

The British Board has indicated it favored withdrawing WBC recognition of the Ali-Wepner fight, in a letter to Velazquez last week, the WBC chief said.

Velazquez indicated he would send similar telegrams to all members of the WBC executive committee next week.

Valley golf fans ready for Classic

By PHIL ROCHE
P-B Golf Editor

IT'S ALWAYS surprising to me to re-discover how popular the Bob Hope Classic is with golf fans from the valley. People who never bother to watch golf in and around Los Angeles pop up in the desert when the marathon 90-hole Classic rolls around.

Maybe it's the drive, the celebrities, the glamor, the sunshine, the colorful flavor of it all, but valleyites flock out to Palm Springs country when Hope holds his tourney.

This year a star-packed field of celebrities will join golf's top pros when the Classic tees off for the 16th time.

Returnees to the world's only 5-day tournament will be singers Glen Campbell and Andy Williams (who host their own tourneys in Los Angeles and San Diego), champagne musicmaker Lawrence Welk, "Mr. FBI" of television, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., and astronaut Eugene Cernan.

As usual Bob Hope will be among the players in the pro-am portion of the Feb. 5-9 Classic which will, for the first time, welcome Telly Savalas of TV's "Kojak."

Among sports figures who confirmed their participation in the tournament are George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders football team and John McKay, the USC coach returning to the desert fresh from another Rose Bowl Victory, and Paul "Bear" Bryant, coach of Alabama.

ONE OF THE best amateurs in these parts, Larry Bouchey added another honor to his bulging collection recently when he won the 54-hole Green River medal play championship with 73, 76, 77 — 226.

Dave Larson and Carey Bickier tied for second at 228, but Larson birdied the first hole to win the sudden-death playoff.

Larson will play Bouchey in a 36-hole match play event for the club championship.

Also out at Green River, Frank L. Odom fired a hole-in-one on the 145-yard seventh hole of the Riverside course recently. He slammed it home with an 8-iron.

IT WASN'T MUCH fun for Arnold Palmer on the 1974 Tour, so now he faces a year of decision, according to Tom Place, public information director for touring pros.

"I definitely plan to play a little more this year," Palmer said, prior to heading for the practice tee recently. "It either is going to get a lot better, or I'll just have to face it, and not really play as much," Palmer told Place.

What he said essentially was that he either will prove he can win again, or at least be a consistent challenger, or become a part-time performer, one who will make occasional appearances for old-time sakes.

IT WAS THREE years ago in the spring of 1972 that Gene Littler underwent extensive surgery for the removal of the lymph glands. Some felt he'd never play championship golf again. He was off the Tour for seven months, but the next summer, he did win, the St. Louis Children's Hospital Classic.

"I'll keep playing as I have for the last 10 or 12 years, maybe 22 to 24 tournaments. The doctors want me to watch myself, and not get rundown or dejected with my game" he said.

With his smooth swing, it is likely he'll be around for a long time. He's been red-hot again in the Crosby Clambake, which ends today.

DIAMOND BAR'S BOB RISCH, a rookie on the tour this year, will play in the eighth annual Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament Feb. 13-16 at Torrey Pines golf course.

The 72-hole $170,000 tour event is expected to draw most of the top names in the nation. A Celebrity Pro-Am preceding it on Feb. 12 will include Andy Williams, Glen Campbell, Lawrence Welk, Don Knotts, Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., Bob Stack, Fred Mac Murray, Ray Bolger, McLean Stevenson, Jack La Lanne and Foster Brooks.

Qualifying for the Open will be on Feb. 10 at Torrey Pines and Lomas Santa Fe Country Club.

Risch graduated from the PGA's Qualifying School last November. He will have to qualify on Monday for the AWSO unless he wins a 1975 tournament first, makes the cut at the Bob Hope Tournament the week before, or otherwise gets an exemption.

JAY HORNBEAK, an All-America quarterback at the University of Washington in 1934, has been selected president of the U.S. National Senior open Golf Association.

Hornbeak, a resident of Palm Desert, Calif., was awarded a purple heart during World War II. He was captured by the Germans.

Other new officers of the senior organization for 1975 include Frank Purcell, Granada Hills, Calif., first vice president; Edward Lowery, Monterey, Calif., second vice president; Morgan Fottrell, Palm Desert, secretary; and Dick Myers Indian Wells, Calif., treasurer.

In the Winternationals

Drag record in jeopardy

Don Garlits' world quarter-mile drag racing record of 5.78 seconds may be jeopardy next weekend in the National Hot Rod Association Winternationals.

The four-day meets gets under way at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona Thursday.

Shooting at the 5.78 mark will be a host of top fuel drivers including Garlits, the Seffner, Fla., veteran, and reigning world points champion Gary Beck of Edmonton, Alta. Garlits set his record at the NHRA Supernationals at Ontario Motor Speedway in 1973. Forty-seven top fuel cars are entered in the 15th annual Winternationals.

The field will have a fast track to work with. The track has again been treated with a special traction compound of the type which last year enabled Beck to record a time of 5.84 seconds, best of all in 1974.

In winning the top fuel title here last year, Beck put together a series of four straight clockings under six seconds. He is the only second man with consecutive runs in the five and a fraction range. Garlits had four under-six second runs in his record-setting 1973 Supernationals.

Other top fuel drivers who have dipped under the six-second barrier on at least one occasion include former Winternationals winners James Warren of Bakersfield and Larry Dixon of North Hollywood.

Warren was the low qualifier at both the 1974 Winternationals (5.94 seconds) and the 1974 Supernationals (5.08).

Dixon owns the quickest time ever posted by a Chevrolet-powered car—5.94 in the 1973 Supernationals.

Time trials and qualifying will be held next Thursday and Friday with more qualifying and time trials along with class eliminations next Saturday.

Final eliminations for eight Winternationals titles — Top Fuel, Funny Cars, Pro Stock, Pro Comp, Competition, Modified, Super Stock and Stock —are set to start next Sunday at 11:30 a.m.

Rams ready to nab top college talent

LOS ANGELES — Armed with three first-round choices and a total of 11 picks in the first five rounds, the Rams will go hunting for college talent when the National Football League stages its draft on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The annual selection meeting begins at 7 a.m. (PST) Tuesday and it promises to be a busy morning for President Carroll Rosenbloom, General Manager Don Klosterman and their team of scouts, headed by Director of Player Personnel Mark Duncan.

By the time the first 28 college stars have been chosen, four of them will be stamped for delivery to the Rams. Not only do the Rams own first-round chopices from Green Bay and Philadelphia in addition to their own, but they also have Baltimore's second-round pick (via Green Bay) and that choice will be the second one of that round.

The Rams will select 9th, 11th and 20th in the first round, then 2nd and 22nd in the second round. They also have two picks in the third round, one in the fourth and three in the fifth to reach their five-round total of 11.

With only one 10th round selection missing in rounds 6-17, the Rams will have a total of 22 choices. The Cincinnati Bengals also have 22 picks, followed by Pittsburgh, Miami and San Diego with 21 each and San Francisco with 20.

Usual Ram policy calls for "drafting the best player available regardless of position" and Rosenbloom indicates no change in that procedure Tuesday.

"We want players who fit the Ram mold," Rosenbloom says, "players with the character to put the success of our team ahead of personal glory. Talented 'losers' are easy to find."

Klosterman, Duncan, head coach Chuck Knox, his assistants and scouts John Sanders, Norm Pollom, Tank Younger and Harley Sewell have ranged from Hawaii to Florida in recent weeks to finalize preparations for the selection meeting.

Klosterman, who personally scouted Hula Bowl practices in Honolulu and went directly to the Senior bowl in Mobile, Alabama, likes what he has seen. "This is the best collegiate crop in five years," he says. "Carroll's teams always strive for continuity of success and this year's picks should help insure us of that continuity."

World soccer champs face vigorous challenge

LOS ANGELES — World soccer champion Independiente may meet the stiffest challenge ever presented by a Mexican team when it meets Universidad of Guadalajara at 2:30 p.m. today at the Coliseum.

Universidad's management purchased former first division team Toreon last season and has since become the sentation of the Mexican professional soccer circuit in only its first year of existence.

Universidad of Guadalajara has been attracting sellout crowds of its stadium and has been lauded for an all-out, offensive brand of soccer which is acclaimed as the most exciting in Mexico.

The new-found success has been prompted by a mixture of Brazilian players.

The team is coached by Brazilian Jose Gomes Noguewira. He came to Mexico three years ago and coached Leon from mediocrity to the title game in Mexican soccer. Now he has produced another championship contender with Universidad of Guadalajara.

Nogueira brought four outstanding Brazilian stars to the new team with him—Nene, Eusebio, Jair and Roberto.

Montclair ha recibido fondos federales para nuevo personal

por MAE TATE

Montclair ha recibido fondos federales adicionales de $172.000 para el empleo inmediato de nuevo personal. La dadiva es parte del plan del Presidente Ford para reducir el porcentaje de desempleo rapidamente.

Mike Milhiser, Asistente Administrativo, dio a conocer la nueva el lunes a los miembros del concilio, de los fondos del Acta Comprensiva de Educacion y Entrenamiento (CETA), Titulo IV.

Durante una larga descripcion de la historia y propositos de la CETA, Milhiser dijo que los fondos recibidos esta semana, seran usados para tomar 17 empleados nuevos para la ciudad desde ahora hasta el 31 de diciembre de 1975.

Legislacion federal requiere que la prioridad les sea dada a los verteranos de Viet Nam, personas que reciben beneficios sociales, mujeres que son cabeza de familia y personas mayores de 40 anos.

Hay requerimientos residenciales, a pesar de que 11 personas fueron tomadas con los fondos del titulo II de la CETA.

Las 17 nuevas posiciones incluyen: un ayudante administrativo, un asistente de ingeniero civil, cuatro empleados de mantenimiento, seis aprendices a bomberos, un oficial especial para el departamento de policia, un dactilografo, dos oficiales de policia y un asistente de servicios comunales.

Milhiser dijo que el la ley federal no requirer que los gobiernos locales retengan a los empleados despues de haberse agotado los fondos.

Al aprobar las nuevas posiciones, el concilio tambien aprobo la transferencia de $11.000 del fondo de emergencia por el 3.3 por ciento de diferencia entre el maximo pago establecido por la CETA y el salario de un oficial de policia, y para equipo requerido en el aprendizaje de bomberos.

La ciudad previamente recibio $156.135, en fondos de CETA, trayendo el total a $328.185. Veiniseis personas fueron empleadas bajo el programa Titulo Dos; y la ciudad ha podido aumentar el mantenimiento de parques, pintar y limpiar la camera del concilio, proveer guardas adicionales, permitiendo de ese modo romper un contrato con una firma particular, y tomar mas bomberos, para el progreso del departamento local, dijo Milhiser.

EN CARACAS — Las primeras damas Maria Zuno de Echeverria (a la derecha), de Mexico, y la Sra. Blanco de Perez, acompanada de su esposo, el Presidente Carlos Andres Perez, sonrien aprovadoramente mientras observan bailes folkloricos mejicanos. La Sra. Echeverria estuvo en Venezuela con una delegacion cultural.

Washington (UPI) — Desechando protestas de grupos de lucha contra la pobreza y varios miembros del Congreso, el Departamento de Agricultura anuncio su aprobacion para un plan de cortar los beneficios de estampillas de alimentos en unos $645 millones este ano.

La decision, que sera efectiva el 1 de marzo, se espera tocara una rapida reaccion congresional para retractarla.

Dicen que la mayor parte de los necesitados que reciben estampillas se veran obligados a pagar el 30 por ciento de su ganancia neta, en vez del promedio actual del 23 por ciento, para comprar su racion mensual.

Los criticos dicen que el plan no tiene sentido en un tiempo en qupe la desocupacion y los precios de alimentos siguen subiendo. Pero el Departamento de Agricultura expreso que adoptaba la propuesta para la mayor parte de los participantes, "ya que el requerir que todos los participantes paguen el mismo porcentaje de ganancia para las estampillas de alimentos, provee la forma mas justa."

Oficiales indicaron que la nueva medida sigue proveyendo estampillas gratuitas a todas las familias de una o dos personas, cuyo ingreso es de menos de $20 y $30 mensuales.

Las dos modificaciones hechas en el corte de beneficios, como resultado de numerosas protestas en contra del plan, seran:

—Poner un tope en los pagos en efectivo, manteniendolos en todos los casos al minimo de $1 bajo el valor de las estampillas para la familia.

—Requerir de las autoridades, que al computar el pago en efectivo requerido por familias individuales, se eliminen las cantidades menores de un dolar.

El Asistente al Secretario de Agricultura, Richard Feltner, dijo qde el dinero que se ahorrara, dado a las modificaciones, no serian suficiente para cambiar los estimados de que el corte en los beneficios ayudaria a reducir los gastos del gobierno en unos $645 millones anuales.

La regla del 30 por ciento, afectaria mayormente a personas solas y familias con dos miembros, incluyendo muchos ancianos, y a aquellas familias que se encuentran a la cabeza de la lista de eligibilidad.

En este memento algunas familias numerosas ya pagan cerca del 30 por ciento de sus ingresos por las estampillas. Pero una pareja de ancianos que recibe en pagos $100 netos por mes, y que paga ahora $23 en efectivo por un valor de $84 en estampillas, encontrara que en el futuro debera pagar $30. Una persona sola con un ingreso neto de $100 mensuales, paga ahora $18 por un valor de $46 en estampillas pero debera pagar $30 en el futuro, de acuerdo a lanueva ley.

Television wrecks star system

Deanna couldn't happen again

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Joe Pasternak discovered Deanna Durbin in 1936 and made her a major star. Today, by his own admission, neither he nor anyone else could accomplish the feat again.

And it was Pasternak who guided the brilliant, temperamental Mario Lanza to movie stardom. Another triumph unlikely to be repeated.

If Mario came along today Pasternak would not have the same success.

"I'll tell you why," said the 73-year-old producer. "Television has wrecked the system of building up a star. And the picture business is no longer organized to follow up a big talent with guidance and protection.

"A single record can be a hit and make a 'star' overnight. When that happens the youngster appears on television over and over again.

"Instant exposure. Instant over-exposure. And they are forgotten just as quickly as they came along.

"The people behind the scenes—the producers, directors, agents, managers—don't have the patience to take the time to build slowly. They don't want to work that hard.

"No. Another Durbin or Lanza will never happen again for me or anyone else.

If Durbin and Mario were to come along today they would be instant hits. Sure. But TV would have killed them in two years."

Mario is dead. But Deanna, 52, still lives on the outskirts of Paris. She has been retired for two decades.

"I saw Deanna two years ago," Pasternak recalled. "She looked wonderful. And she is very happy. At that time the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas had given me a blank check to have her fill in any amount she wanted to play four weeks in the Copa Room.

"Deanna told me she wouldn't do it for all the gold in Ft. Knox. She has a small pension. Her husband earns a good living. I wonder how many instant stars today will be able to say that 35 years from now."

Pasternak, who produced 105 movies in his time, 70 per cent of them musicals, is returning to the film business.

He is president of a new company, The Play's The Thing, in conjunction with New Orleans banker Wilson Abraham. He said former California Gov. Edmond G. Brown was chairman of the board.

Nostalgia holds on Record firms looking back

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nostalgia retained its grip on the musical world in 1974, possibly because the deadly combination of inflation and recession offered a day-to-day reminder of our present woes.

Sound tracks from "The Sting" and "The Great Gatsby" enjoyed popularity. Even though "Maple Leaf Rag" has been a perennial favorite with ragtime and jazz pianists, "The Sting" caused a popular revival of other great Scott Joplin compositions and "The Entertainer" became a staple in several albums. The Gatsby sound track brought back songs by Nick Lucas, among others of his time.

Record companies also went into their vaults to revive the music of Cab Calloway, Kay Starr, Les Paul and Mary Ford, the Andrews Sisters, and Dick Powell. Herb Alpert touched off some latter-day nostalgia by coming out of retirement with a new album, "You Smile and the Song Begins."

But 1974 introduced new talent, too, and some of these artists may evoke images in another era of nostalgia.

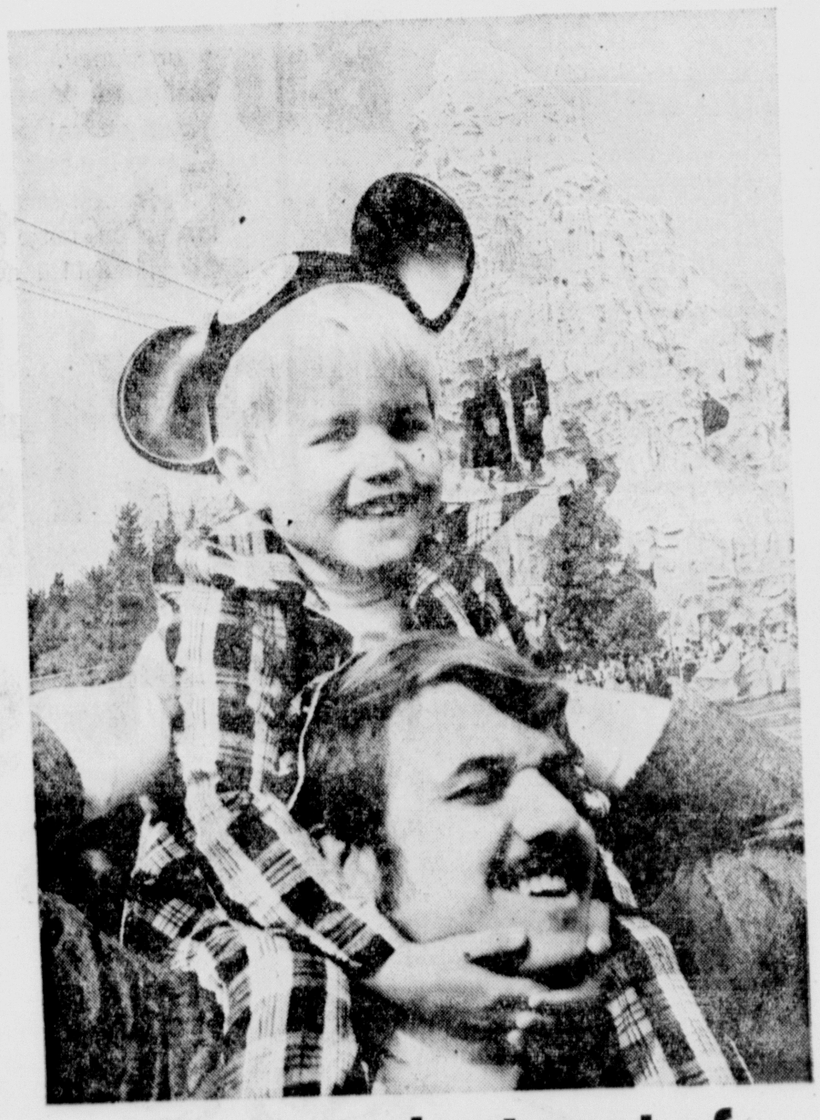
Bad Company was the best new rock group and had a best seller in an album using its name for the title. Olivia Newton-John won Billboard Magazine's accolade as top female vocalist in the pop singles group and her album, "If You Love Me Let Me Know," rode high on the charts.

Barbra Streisand should win a Grammy for "The Way We Were," which was immensely popular as a single and provided a title for an excellent album.

"Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" was the highlight of a mighty good year for Elton John. There were other notable rock albums, mainly "Hamburger Concerto" by Focus, "Welcome Back My Friends to the Show That Never Ends" by Emerson, Lake and Palmer, and "So Far" by Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young.

Gladys Knight and the Pips dominated the soul scene, with "I Feel Like a Song" erupting at year's end. Two old-timers, Herbie Hancock and Sonny Rollins, delighted jazz fans with their improvisations. Hancock's "Head Hunters" was an outstanding album.

It was a very good year in the country music field. Charlie Rich had a top-selling single in "There Won't Be Anymore" and an equally successful album in "Behind Closed Doors." Other great country stars —Merle Haggard, Porter Waggoner, Dolly Parton, Charley Pride, to mention some standouts —contributed some gems to the genre.



The happiest part of growing up.

Disneyland. It's really more than marching bands, colorful parades, or a bobsled ride down the Matterhorn. It's where storybook characters and fantasies come to life like magic. A magic that was a delightful part of your childhood... equally treasured by your own children today. Which makes Disneyland a tradition... a way of life. For fun times and fond memories, Disneyland is the happiest part of growing up. Come live it again.

Sir Winston's cat succumbs

LONDON (UPI) — Jock, 13, Sir Winston Churchill's pet, is dead.

The cat was named for Sir John "Jock" Colville, who gave him to Churchill on the late prime minister's 88th birthday. Churchill used to carry the cat between London and his home in Chartwell.

"After Sir Winston's death he lived on at Chartwell, where he had the run of the house," a National Trust spokesman said Thursday.

"It was his home. He would spread out in front of the fire just as he did when Sir Winston was alive.

Indian art on exhibit at Scripps

"Beads, Baskets and Blankets," an exhibit of artifacts of North American Indians, is on display through Feb. 14 at the Clark Humanities Museum, Scripps College.

The exhibit of items from the Claremont Colleges' extensive Indian collection features Navajo blankets, bead and quillwork and a variety of baskets from California and the Southwest. Several of the baskets were made by members of the Pomo Tribe of Northern California, known as the finest basket makers in the world.

According to Pomona College student Lorraine Popp who arrnaged the show as a senior project, women produced almost all the items in the exhibit. "They wove the blankets, did the bead and quillwork and all geometric designs, prepared skins and made clothing and baskets," she said.

Miss Popp, assisted by David Simolke, arranged the show under the direction of associate art history professor Samella Lewis.

The public is invited to view "Beads, Baskets and Blankets" from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

TOPOL plays the title role in the American Film Theater presentation of Bertolt Brecht's "Galileo," playing Monday and Tuesday, afternoon and evening, at the Wescove Cinema in Covina. The movie also stars John Gielgud and Margaret Leighton.

Camp Fire Girls

Open candy sale here

Thousands of pounds of candy for the Camp Fire Girls annual candy sale arrived in the valley this week, delivered to major distribution points by trucks.

Over 3,500 girls in the Mt. San Antonio Council will be selling candy in the community from now until Feb. 10.

Money raised through the sale goes to the support of the council which includes 25 cities from the 605 freeway east to the west end of San Bernardino County. It is used to finance the many recreational, community and educational programs Camp Fire is noted for throughout the United States.

It costs the council over $20 to keep one girl in the program for a year. Portions of the funding are from community agencies, parents and interested adults, and self-sustaining program, but the largest amount is from the candy sale.

Girls are rewarded for their selling success with charms, trophies and free trips to summer camp. Individual groups also benefit from the sale by receiving a share of the profits.

William Finch of Covina, general chairman, points out that nothing in the candy is artificial, real chocolate and sugar are used. And the price is the same as last year.

The Camp Fire program is open to youths from six to 18. Boys are invited to participate in the high school program.

Area legislator to support state housing measures

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., said he intends to support housing legislation that will give the economy in his district a "badly needed infusion of new blood."

Bills now under consideration in the legislature seek to create a state housing finance agency offering low interest home loans to buyers and builders.

"This is a positive and immediate way state government can do something about the recession," he added. "Presently there aren't enough decent homes available. And those that are are too costly, compounded by high mortgage interest rates.

"With little demand, construction has faltered, making builders the hardest hit of the California work force."

Housing is an extremely vital component of the local economy, said McVittie. It has an impact not only on those who build and buy houses but also those who sell, finance and furnish them and others who provide services to the occupants.

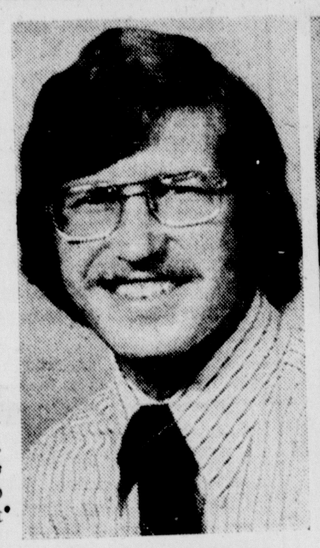
"A slump in housing creates a ripple effect throughout the general economy which is felt by everyone."

McVittie said he shares the concern expressed by Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy who referred to housing legislation as the top priority in terms of time at the state capitol.

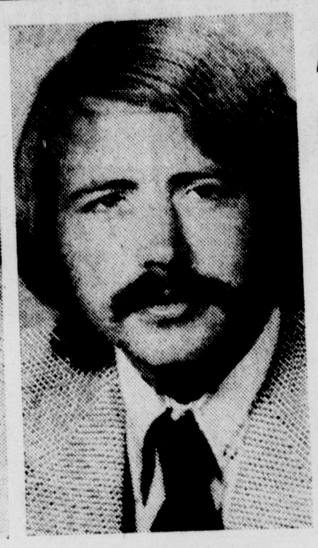
McCarthy said he hopes to have a housing bill signed into law within 90 days and a program implemented three to six months later.

"Details are still being ironed out but it seems possible as much as $500 million could be pumped into the housing market before the year is out," said McVittie.

"Then in 1976 voters would be asked to approve a general obligation bond issue to continue the program."



CLEAN CRAVENS



MIKE McCASLAND

Awards given for sales and listings

Two members of the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors have received awards for the sales and listings of homes during 1974.

Both were honored at the board's multiple listing service breakfast held recently at Griswold's Restaurant in Claremont.

Cravens was also presented an award for the greatest number of home listings sold during December. He had received the same award for April and July.

He has been associated with Canfield Realtors since entering the real estate profession in May of 1973. A Pomona resident for 22 years, he graduated from Garey High School in 1967. He attended both Mt. San Antonio College and Citrus College where he majored in real estate.

Cravens and his wife, Debi, reside in Pomona.

McCasland, associated with Red Carpet Realtors, is a graduate of Mark Keppel High School in Alhambra. Since joining the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors, he has earned many awards. He also won the top listings contest for the Red Carpet Co. and received a trip to Hawaii.

During 1974, he sold $1.4 million in real estate with $1.1 million to close escrow before the end of the year.

McCasland is enrolled at Cal Poly Pomona where he is majoring in marketing. He resides in Upland.

With executive powers:

Ford urged to bring down mortgage rates

The leader of the California Association of Realtors today urged President Ford to "exert your executive powers now" to help bring down mortgage interest rates at the 4,100 federally chartered savings and loan associations.

Richard C. Farrer, of Hayward, president of the 78,000-member organization, in a telegram to President Ford requested that the President suggest to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board that "variable interest rate mortgages immediately be authorized" by these sayings and loan associations.

Farrer's request came on the heels of action taken recently by California's four largest savings and loan associations which adopted the variable interest rate mortgage.

In his telegram to Mr. Ford, Farrer said, "The change in variable rate mortgages is needed and long overdue.

"The result can only be positive in that it will benefit all Americans who are prospective homeowners by providing them with the needed opportunity of buying that 'American Dream'."

Farrer further said that the Realtors' association feels that if the President exerts his executive powers now, it will be a fair way to treat both consumer and lender.

The CAR president concluded, "A downward spiral in mortgage interest rates, coupled with new loan funds, can result in providing that needed inducement for the lower-cost financing for the homebuyer . . . and at the same time put the housing industry, one of the strengths of this nation's economy, back on its feet."

Farrer stated CAR has favored a variable interest rate mortgage for some time.

State regulations specify a state-chartered savings and loan must tie its variable loan rate to an index of the cost of money to savings and loan, as determined each six months by the Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco.

A lender may raise the interest rate if the index goes up 1-10 of 1 per cent, but not more than 1-4 of 1 percent in any one raise and not more than twice a year.

But, savings and loan must lower the rate if the index falls. And, if the rate is raised, the borrower has the right for 90 days after the raise to pay off the loan in full without a prepayment penalty.

Apartment group:

Equal opportunity code is reaffirmed

To speed efforts in making equal housing a genuine reality throughout California, the California Apartment Association's board of directors has reaffirmed its "Code of Equal Opportunity" which calls for complete cooperation of owners and managers to offer housing accommodations equally to all prospective residents without regard to color, race, religion, sex or national origin.

Ray Stone Jr., association president, announced at a board meeting in Fresno that all of the 26 local apartment associations belonging to the state organization were urged to establish voluntary conciliation committees.

These groups hear any complaints of residents or owners to quickly resolve any problem in a fair manner to relieve tensions between the parties and avoid costly litigation, he added. "Such conciliation panels have proven highly successful and popular in many California cities."

At a luncheon meeting, state Sen. George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, voiced his opposition to all government controls, including rent controls.

The state association represents some 50,000 owners and operators of multi-family housing units.

Hiawatha Estes:

Home includes most requested features

By HIAWATHA ESTES

We constantly receive letters from prospective builders explaining in detail what they want included in the design of their dream home. This home has been planned to include as many of these favorite ideas and features as possible.

From a roofed porch, which is protected from the elements, double doors open to an entry from which all areas of the house are accessible.

The more formal living room is located at the front of the house while the informal family room faces the rear yard to which it has access through the sliding glass doors opening to the patio.

The kitchen has been designed to eliminate traffic which would interfere with meal preparation. The room offers an enormous amount of storage. To obtain a more open feeling, only cabinets—including an extra long eating bar—separate the kitchen from the family room. The separate dining room is on the opposite side of the kitchen.

For privacy, the master bedroom is located at the rear of the home. It is very generous in size and features a dressing area and private bath.

Doors open from the garage to the rear yard and service.

This same exterior, plus a Spanish-Mediterranean exterior, are also available in a four bedroom floor plan, at a different price structure, and are illustrated in our book, Ranch & Modern Homes.

Complete working drawings for plan 31141 can be purchased for $12.67 for the first set and $7.42 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until April 15, 1975. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. A specification booklet is available for $1.06. A large reproduction rendering of the exterior is available for $1.06. The following home plan books are also available: Distinctive Homes — $1.59; Prize Homes — $1.59; Hallmark Homes — $1.59; Town & Country Homes — $1.59; Homes by Hiawatha — $1.59; Ranch and Modern Homes — $2.39; All six books — a $10.34 value — for only $8.22. Orders for less than three books, please add an extra 20c per book for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, P.O. Box 404-PO, Northridge, California, 91324.

Papararo has held management positions with the firm since 1968. He will continue as general sales manager and manager of the Alhambra sales office.

Curwen, of South Pasadena, is a former manager of treasury operations at the NBC Studios in Burbank. He has an accounting degree from the University of California.

DAMON PETTA

Realtor is elected to area office

Damon Petta, who has Red Carpet realty offices in Pomona, Claremont and West Covina, has been elected as vice president of the firm's area-regional council, region II.

That region extends from Kern County to San Diego County and includes 270 realty offices.

How gator named

The alligator got its name when the Spanish first saw the reptile in the New World and called it "el largarto", the lizard.

Vice president named for Century 21 Corp.

Mitchell had been a partner in a Santa Ana law firm. His family has been active in real estate since the 1860s.

He served in 1973 as chairman of the Orange County Bar Association's real estate law section. Mitchell is a graduate of Whittier College and the Stanford Law School.

As general counsel for Century 21 since its founding, Mitchell has seen real estate franchising become a national business after starting in California as the independent broker's answer to increasing competition from large chain operations.

There are more than 1,000 Century 21 franchises between Hawaii and the East Coast.

Bored with proceedings, he takes dog nap at meetings

FINCASTLE, Va. (UPI) — Beau Breckinridge likes to sleep during town council meetings in the fire house. And when he wakes, he likes to yawn and kind of grumble. But he's still barred from the courthouse.

His behavior doesn't bother civic-minded citizens any. After more than four years, Beau, a 50-pound brown and white dog of dubious parentage, is a fixture at the meetings and even in church.

Beau just meanders into the council meetings and curls up for a nap.

"He usually sleeps, yawns and kind of grumbles," attorney J. Harold Eads says. "There's no fuss because everyone is used to him."

The dog doesn't actually have a home. Eads explains: "He belonged to my friend, James R. Breckinridge, who died." Beau moved to the country with his late master's widow but apparently found the pastoral life too dull. One day he returned to Fincastle and took up residence on the front porch of his old home.

"He meets me in the morning and rides to the office," Eads says. "Then he just stays around the office most of the day, following me to court and the clerk's office. He eats at various and sundry places about town and has a regular routine about where he goes.

"He attends most of the public meetings in the town. His master was on the town council and he used to attend with him. He's been going to the meetings for at least four years.

Boeing warns of job cuts

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Boeing Co. has told its employes that its work force was likely to decline by as many as 3,700 jobs this year.

Current employment at Boeing plants in the Seattle area is 54,700. The company said much of the job reduction would take place through attrition.

Building industry faces uncertainty

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Despite increased savings by Americans, the lagging home building industry still faces uncertainty, the president of the United States League of Savings and Loan Associations said Sunday.

Lloyd Bowles, chairman of the board and president of a savings and loan association here, told the board of directors of the National Association of Home Builders that he was guardedly optimistic about the 1975 housing outlook.

"We are uncertain, just as you are," he said, "whether the improvement in the mortgage picture will necessarily produce a major turn for the better in the fortunes of the home building industry. The same recession that is causing consumers to save more is also discouraging people from assuming major financial obligations for the future."

He said associations "are finding it increasingly difficult to qualify home loan borrowers and mortgage loans in part because of increases in housing costs and interest rates."

Furthermore, he said, some associations are worried about the large inventory of unsold new units in the markets in their areas.

He said tax cuts should help bolster home builders, but that because of increasing federal deficits the Treasury "could become a lively competitor of thrift institutions before many months have passed."

Bowles called on the home builders to support the league's recommendations that include an indefinite extension of ceilings on rates paid on saving deposits, broad consumer credit powers, tax incentives for savings, and checking accounts for consumers.

'Smileathon' keys dental health week

ETOBICOKE, Ont. (UPI) — Authorities in this suburb of Toronto have announced a smiling contest to mark Dental Health Week in North America. It is called a "smileathon," because the winner will be the youth who holds his smile for the longest time.

The longest smilers will receive prizes donated by local merchants and trophies from a dental association.

"We believe it will be the first smileathon ever held in North America," one of the organizers, dentist Sam Green, said Wednesday. "The idea is to emphasize the need for sound teeth and a happy smile for everyone.'

CONTESTANTS —teen-age boys and girls —will be allowed assistants to crack jokes to keep them smiling and to rub baby oil on their lips when the strained tissues start to ache.

Red tourists

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union and Cuba have signed a protocol on tourist exchanges under which 3,000 Russians will visit Cuba in 1975 and 4,000 in 1976.

Visits by Cubans to the Soviet Union will increase considerably, official said.

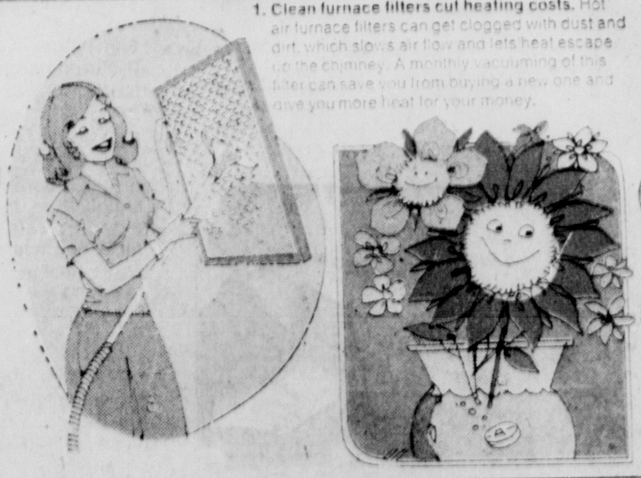
FROM

WRIGLEY'S GUM



1. Clean furnace filters cut heating costs. Hot air furnace filters can get clogged with dust and dirt, which slows air flow and lets heat escape up the chimney. A monthly vacuuming of this filter can save you from buying a new one and give you more heat for your money.

2. Aspirin keeps flowers fresher longer. An occasional aspirin in the water of cut flowers can keep them fresher longer by reducing bacteria.

3. For correct fit, buy children's shoes in the afternoon. Feet are at their smallest in the morning and expand during the day. So shop for shoes in the afternoon to get a comfortable fit and a good buy.

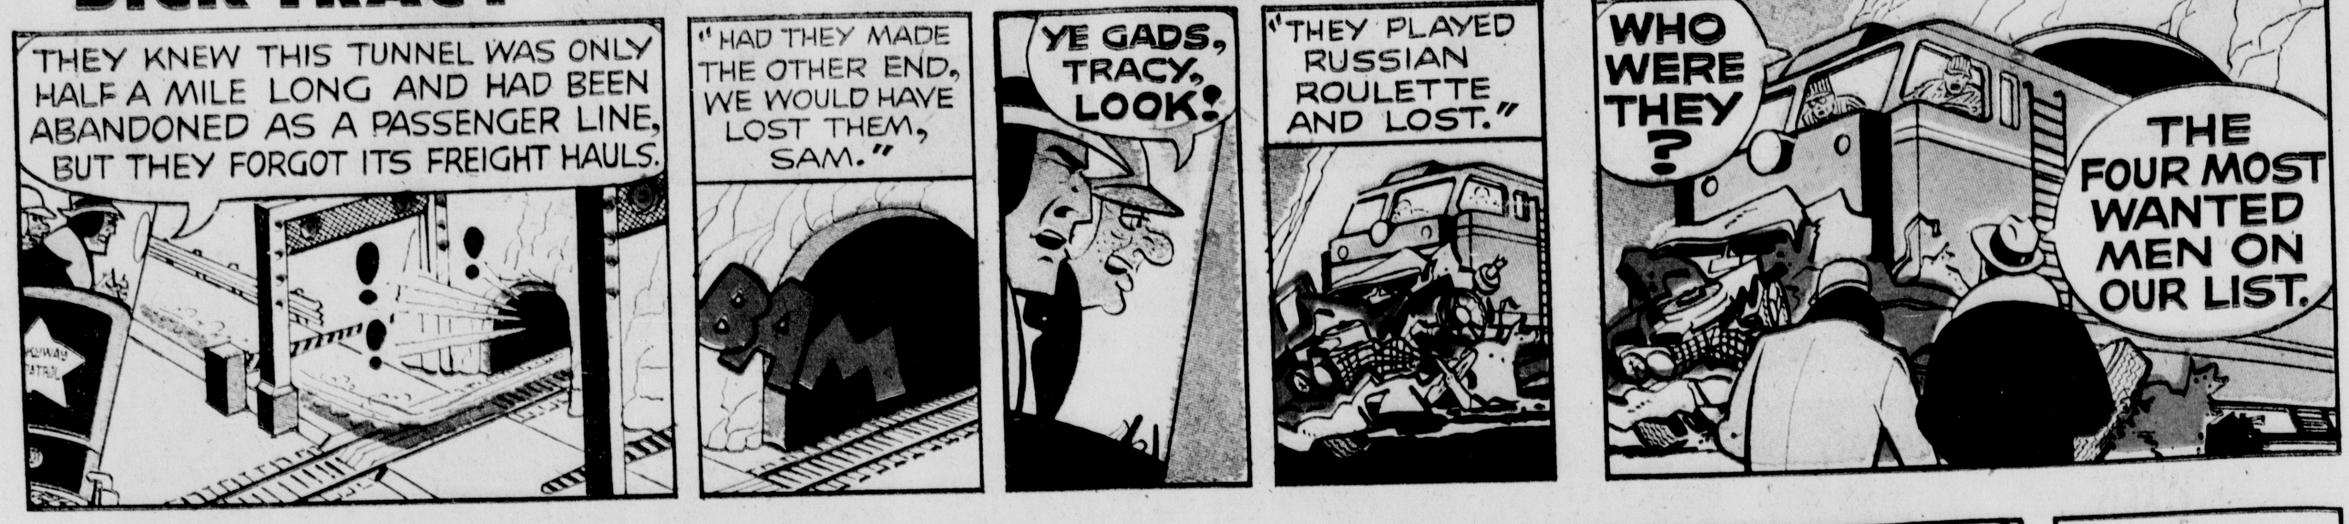
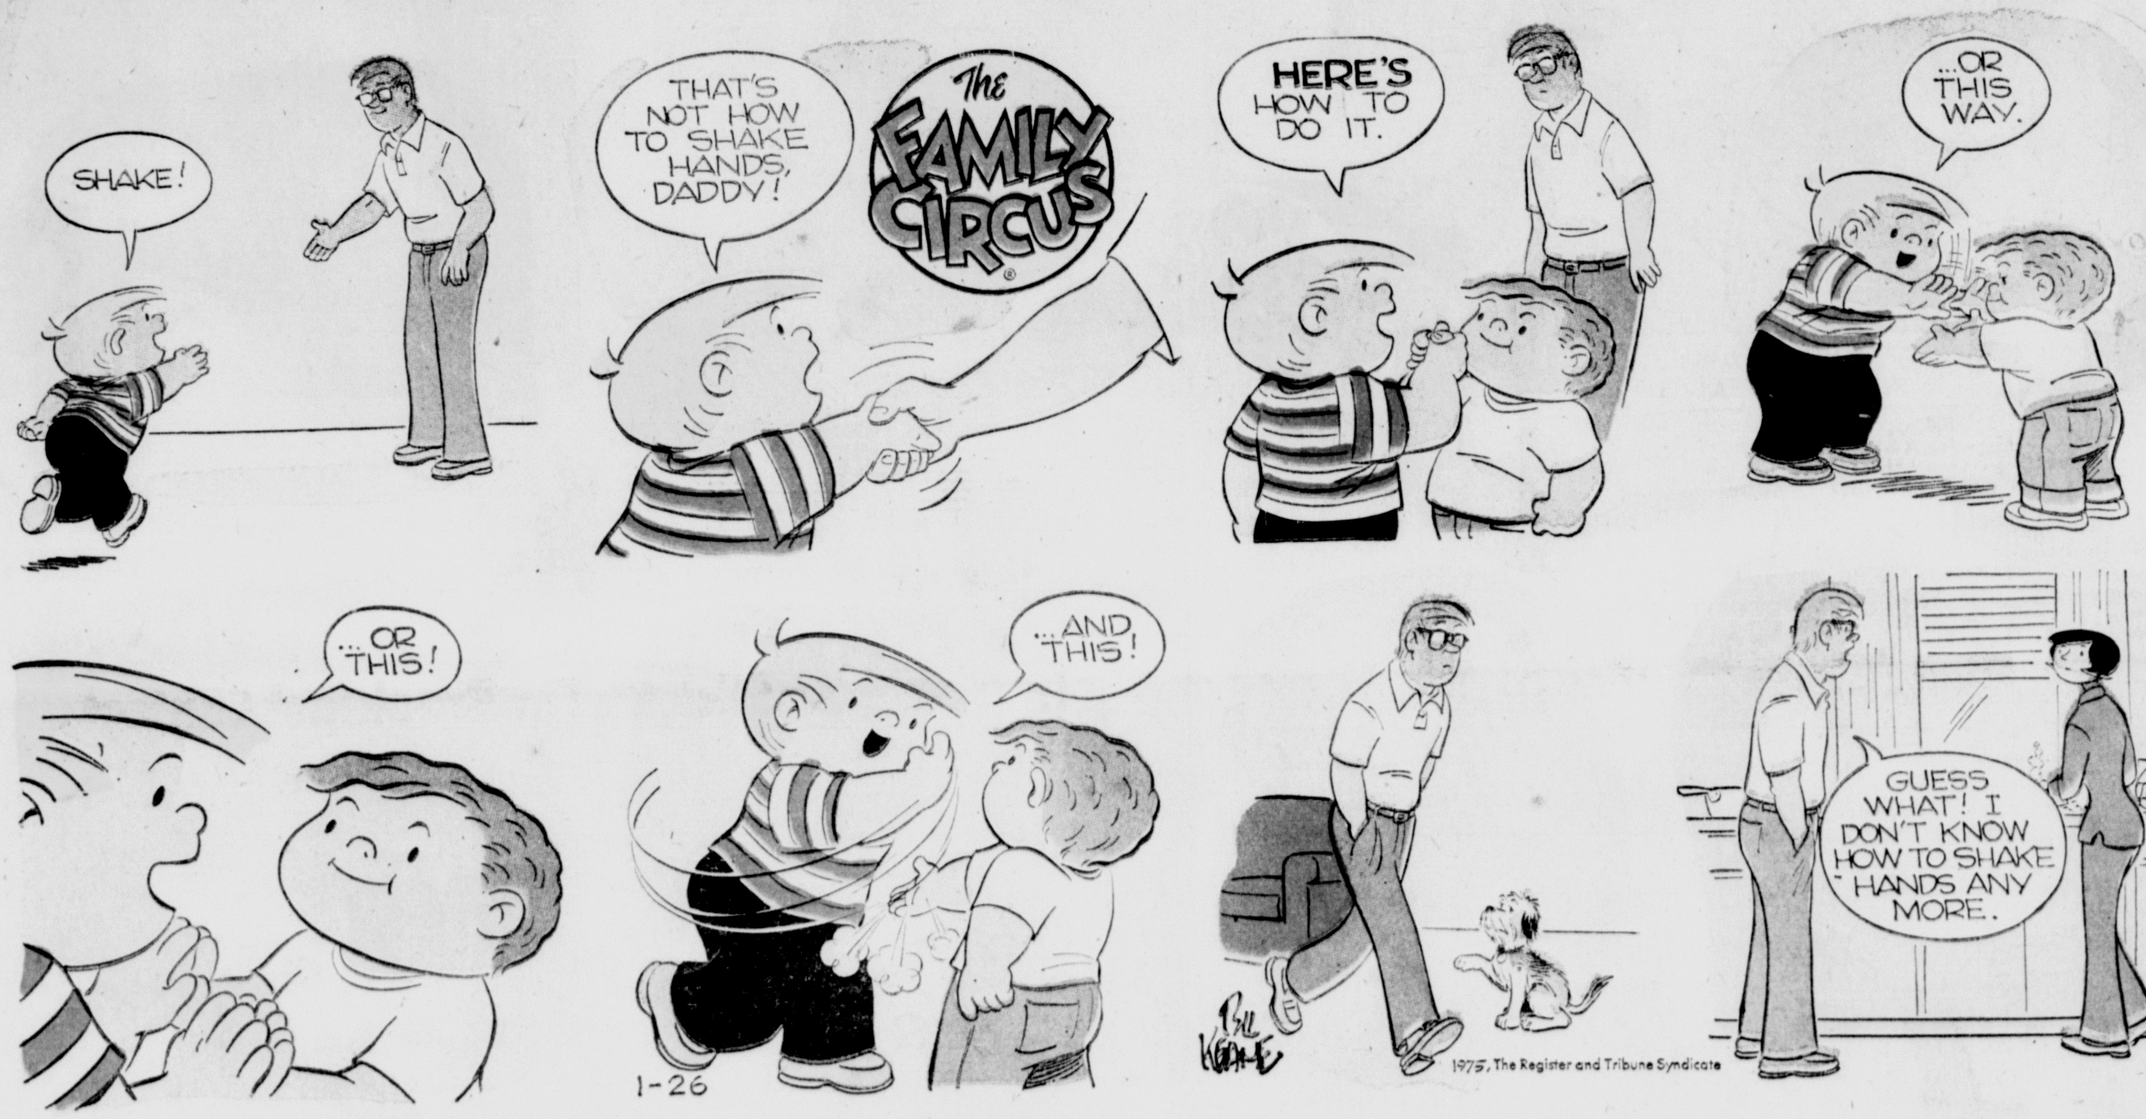
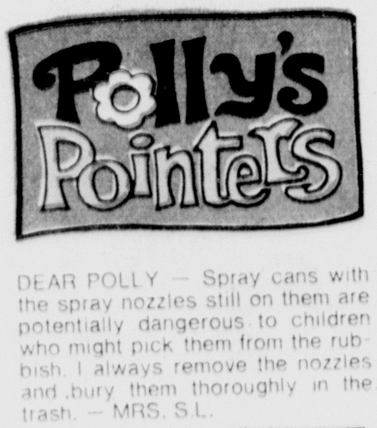
DICK TRACY

by Chester Gould







DEAR POLLY — Spray cans with the spray nozzles still on them are potentially dangerous to children who might pick them from the rubbish. I always remove the nozzles and bury them thoroughly in the trash. — MRS. S.L.

DEAR POLLY — The shelf paper in our desk drawers was beginning to look old so I replaced it with squares of indoor-outdoor carpet. Things no longer slide around and everything looks neater. — EVERETT.

DEAR POLLY — To renovate faded window shades, I cover them with inexpensive, adhesive-backed decorative paper for a fresh, new look — and save money, too! —BETTY.

DEAR POLLY — With prices so high, to save on coffee I put fewer measures in the pot, then set it for "strong." Quite a bit of coffee is saved over a period of time. — MRS J.W.

DEAR POLLY — I have a clean convenient way of fixing a cat litter pan. Place newspapers in a long, shallow pan or box. Put only two cups of commercial cat box filler in the center of the paper. After the filler has been used once, remove the paper and filler and replace. This is clean, sanitary and eliminates virtually all odor. — SHERRY.

DEAR POLLY — I find that, when washing my laminated plastic counter tops, the addition of a little vinegar to the water gives them a nice sheen. — R.C.

DEAR POLLY — If an item of clothing needs some slight repair, I hang it in the closet wrong-side-out to remind me to make the repair before I plan to wear the garment. — MRS. F.G.

DEAR POLLY — To better visualize how clothes pictured in catalogues would look on me, I cut the head from a snapshot of myself and place it over the head of the pictured model. —LINDA.

DEAR POLLY — When traveling, to keep clean clothes separated from dirty ones, for quick identification simply turn the soiled clothes inside-out. This is also a good way to air a garment worn for only a very short time — it freshens it and is ready to wear again without washing. —DAWN.

DEAR POLLY — To reinforce a shopping bag I put a shoebox lid in the bottom of the bag. This also prevents tipping when the bag is set down. —MIRANDA.

"BIG TREES"

THE GIANT CALIFORNIA SEQUOIAS ARE THE BIGGEST TREES IN THE WORLD. THEY MAY GROW OVER 270 FT. TALL WITH A TRUNK 32 FT THICK, ENOUGH LUMBER TO BUILD 35 HOMES.

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

LYNN WALTERS OF RACINE, WI, ASKS:

"WHY IS IT COOLER IN THE MOUNTAINS?"

IT IS USUALLY MUCH COLDER IN THE MOUNTAINS THAN IN NEARBY LOWLANDS. THIS IS BECAUSE THE AIR IS MUCH THINNER AND LIGHTER AT THE TOP OF A HIGH MOUNTAIN, THAN IT IS AT SEA LEVEL. THE THIN AIR BECOMES MUCH COLDER, BECAUSE IT CAN'T ABSORB AS MUCH HEAT FROM THE SUN'S RAYS AS IT IS ABLE TO HOLD AT LOWER ELEVATIONS. THIS IS WHY WE OFTEN SEE SNOW ON HIGH MOUNTAIN PEAKS DURING SUMMER. THE TEMPERATURE IS TOO COLD FOR ALL THE SNOW TO MELT!

Jack Kelly (top) and Anthony Zerbe (left, bottom) have both assumed new roles in prime-time detective series.

Anthony Zerbe has the continuing role of Lt. K.C. Trench on the ABC series Harry O, starring David Janssen, Thursdays at 10PM. In his first regular spot in a TV series, Zerbe portrays a Santa Monica Police detective who keeps on the heels of private investigator Harry Orwell (Janssen) during crime investigations. The veteran stage and film actor has set some goals for himself . . . goals that include directing a film and directing his own script. "I have directed several stage productions," says Zerbe, "but film directing has eluded me up to this point." Zerbe also admits that he would rather work on stage, "Because I love the stage. There you have an opportunity to get involved with the character you portray and automatically lean toward the art of good acting rather than toward its commercial aspect."

Jack Kelly, who for years starred as Bart in the Emmy-winning "Maverick" series, is Teresa Graves' new boss in ABC's Get Christie Love!, Wednesdays at 10PM. He portrays Capt. Arthur P. Ryan, a somewhat stuffy police officer who believes in going "by the book." He is often upset by the fact that his theory that "policemen are members of the team and no one should stand out from the team" is disproved by a woman officer like Christie who just has a natural tendency to stand out from the team. Aside from keeping "his hand in" by taking occasional guest-starring roles in TV, Kelly (since his Maverick days) has concentrated on a financial investment business which has become his main concern, but he's happy to be back in Hollywood.

COVER CLOSE-UP

'HERE COMES KAREN!'

Get ready, Washington, D.C., for here comes Karen Angelo—a real go-getter! Lovely Karen Valentine stars as Karen Angelo, a bright, single involved representative of the 1970's who works for "Open America," a citizens' action organization based in our nation's capitol in "Karen" seen Thursdays at 8:30PM on ABC.

Karen originally came to Washington to work as an administrative assistant to a California Congressman but did not feel that this position served as an outlet for her wants and talents and decided to look elsewhere in Washington for a position where her abilities could best be used and she discovered Open America.

A contemporary young woman, Karen loves and lives her job which throws her into many funny intriguing situations while learning about people and life in the nation's capitol. The founder and head of Open America is Dale Busch, portrayed by Denver Pyle. A former Undersecretary of both the State and Agricultural departments, he has been on the Washington scene for more than 25 years.

Second in command at Open America is Dena Madison, played by Dena Dietrich. A woman in her forties, Dena was a newspaperwoman for twenty years. She's brittle and sardonic but a warmhearted individual. She is responsible for turning Dale Busch's dreams into reality.

When not working at Open America, Karen Angelo lives in a modest Georgetown house which she shares with Cissy Peterson, played by Aldine King, who comes from a middle-class background. Cissy likes a steady income and works for the FBI. Also sharing the house is Ernie Stone, portrayed by Joseph Stern, a lawyer turned bartender. The three roommates are independent of each other, but dependent upon each other for companionship.

Aside from the regular volunteers in the Open America office there is Adam Cooperman, a 20-year-old junior at Georgetown University who has taken a year off to work at the office for college credit.

Many volunteers work at Open America. They are of varied ages, colors and backgrounds—each one interested in doing something for their country.

Karen Valentine closely parallels her character of Karen Angelo. They are very contemporary, have a zest for life and most important, they are part of what is happening today. "Karen" is a reunion for Miss Valentine and executive producer Gene Reynolds. When Karen starred in Room 222, Reynolds was also executive producer and directed the first episode of the series—as he did for "Karen."

Gene Reynolds and Larry Gelbart are the executive producers of the contemporary comedy series and Carl Kleinschmitt is the producer. Burt Metcalfe is associate producer. "Karen" is filmed at 20th Century-Fox Television.

Karen Valentine stars as Karen Angelo, in "Karen," new topical comedy series on the ABC Television Network, on Thursdays at 8:30P.M.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR RONA JAFFE, author of "Family Secrets"*

I heard you speak about your book on TV. What's it like to be on a book-promotion tour?—T. McD., Waterbury, Conn.

● It's hard work, because you're always rushing somewhere, usually to the airport at 5 a.m. in order to be coherent for a 7 a.m. TV show! When I toured for my last book, someone had the bright idea I should sign books in all the five-and-tens. I arrived in a chauffeur-driven limousine, stepped out on a red carpet, was greeted by a battery of photographers and was handed a big bouquet. As I went into the store, the manager took away my red roses, and I never saw them again, not even in my hotel room. But in the next city, I could swear I was handed the same flowers, a little less fresh.

FOR BEA ARTHUR, star of "Maude"*

Why do you always wear a long vest and keep your neck covered in the show?—Anna Crook, Randolph Center, Vt.

● "Maude" started off in a rush. We concentrated on the script more than we did the clothes. For the first episode, I put on the first thing that came to hand—a long vest—because it was comfortable. The costume designer said, "That's a great look for the show. Let's stick to it." So we did. I always wear a scarf with color because since I let my hair go gray I find I need a splash of color near my face.

FOR EVEL KNIEVEL

You promised you would jump the Snake River Canyon. Now some of the youngsters are saying you're chicken for not trying again. Won't you try once more?—Marvin Harwell, Gurdon, Ark.

● You try it.

Some newspaper cartoonists say President Ford is the most difficult President to caricature in their memory. Do you agree?—Leo L. Smith, Chicago, Ill.

● I don't agree. For me President John F. Kennedy was. What made him so difficult was that he was young and handsome and was less capable of being cartooned. But in the long run everyone is cartoonable.

FOR LUCILLE BALL

Do you consider yourself a success?—Ann Regan, Brighton, Mass.

● If your concept of success is happiness in what you're doing—in being a mother, in being a wife—then I'm a success. But if you're talking about the kind of success that's about dollars and cents, forget it. The real wealth is not out here in Hollywood. It's all highly taxable, and money has never been important to me.

FOR JULIA CHILD, "The French Chef"*

Every good cook can have a failure. I would like to know what your greatest cooking blunder was.—Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Dubuque, Iowa

● I've had so many blunders I can't even remember the worst. Many of them happened right on TV—usually with apple desserts because I've used the wrong kind of apples.

FOR BOBBY VINTON, singer*

I know you are concerned about the image of Polish Americans. Why then did you decide to use "Bobby" instead of your real first name, which I believe is Stash?—D. M. Thomas, Atlantic City, N.J.

● I use my middle name instead of my first name, which is Stash, because when I was growing up every boy in my neighborhood was called Stash, Stanley or Chester.

FOR ARNOLD PALMER

● In most sports, left-handers are either equal to right-handers or else have an advantage. But in golf the clubs are different. Through the years, left-handed clubs were not readily obtainable, and most left-handers found that they could play the game as well or better as right-handers. Many of the fine players through history have been natural left-handers playing right-handed golf.

FOR BUDDY EBSEN

Is it true you were offered the role of the Scarecrow in "The Wizard of Oz"?—Harold Jones, Bonita, Calif.

● I was not only offered the role of the Scarecrow, but I was cast in it originally before the switch was made to Ray Bolger. It's still a painful memory. I was recast in the role of the Tin Man. But, after two weeks of filming, the aluminum dust from the metal costume caused a very severe lung infection and I had to bow out altogether.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

We don't hear about those wild Hollywood parties any more. Have they gone forever?—B. B., Boise, Idaho

● No. They're just not written about as much. Try these: Mia Farrow poured a bucket of champagne over Rona Barrett's head. According to Rona, it was because of something she reported about Mia. . . . George Maharis went to a party for a girl who had everything—except him. He was presented atop a prop birthday cake, in the nude, covered with whipped cream. . . . Arlene Dahl gave a Come-As-You-Were party, where 100 stars turned up as the persons they believed they were in previous lives. . . . Rona Jaffe was at a soiree where the women all hated a dazzling blonde who outshone them. It turned out that the "gal" was really a guy!

NFL Scout "Harry Cartwright" Picks the Hottest Prospects

When the National Football League teams convene in New York this Tuesday and Wednesday, January 28-29, for the annual draft of college players, they will have at their disposal one of the finest groups of offensive and defensive linemen in recent memory from which to draw, but a sub-par group of quarterbacks, running backs and wide receivers.

This is the expert opinion of one of the top professional football scouts in the country, whose advice FAMILY WEEKLY has solicited in preparing this analysis of the upcoming pro draft of undergraduate talent. We call our expert "Harry Cartwright," but that is not his real name. For personal and professional reasons, he chooses to hide his real identity behind a pseudonym, and we have respected his wishes. This is the second year Cartwright has consented to evaluate the pro football draft for FAMILY WEEKLY, and the analysis he offers here is similar to the expert judgments he regularly hands down to general managers and coaches in the NFL.

Cartwright positively drools when he discusses the senior crop of offensive and defensive linemen. "I think there are many players from both sides of the line who'll go in the first or second round," he says. "Not only are there many outstanding linemen available, but they are guys with great pro size and speed, people who could step onto an NFL roster and make a club right away."

A defensive lineman has been the first player chosen in the draft for the past three years. First there was Walt Patulski of Notre Dame, who was tapped by the Buffalo Bills in 1972. Then John Matuszak of Tampa was drafted by Houston in 1973, and since has been traded to Kansas City. In last January's draft, Tennessee State's massive Ed "Too Tall" Jones topped the list of 442 players selected during the two days of drafting.

Cartwright thinks the trend will continue and that a defensive lineman will again be the first man selected on Tuesday.

"It looks as though it should be Randy White, the defensive end from Maryland," Cartwright observes. "He's 6-4, 250, but more than that, he's a Jack Armstrong type, an all-around sort of person, a fine individual as well as athlete. He can play either end or tackle, and he'd do well at either position. He has great upper-body strength and outstanding speed. A team can build a defense around him, and he seems to have the ability to learn the different types of defenses the pros are now using. He does it all, he's everything you want. He accelerates well, sheds blocks well, and so forth. A super athlete."

One interesting rookie confrontation could occur next fall in the NFL if the team that drafts White meets the team that selects the player Cartwright rates as the best among the available crop of offensive linemen—Georgia's 6-8, 260-pound tackle, Craig Hertwig.

"He's actually bigger than that," says Cartwright. "He's maybe half an inch taller than his listed 6-8 and probably will play at 270 in the pros. You know he's fast and agile because he once played tight end. He's got tremendous potential. Not only does he have that amazing size, but he's a good technician, knows the game, and he has what we like to call 'quick feet.' There hasn't been an offensive lineman this tall in the pros since Bob St. Clair of the San Francisco 49ers, who retired in 1964. He's going to create lots of problems for people."

There are plenty more to choose from on both defense and offense right behind Maryland's White and Georgia's Hertwig, according to Cartwright. "If White isn't the first player chosen in the draft," he says, "then it could be another defensive linesman, like Mike Fanning of Notre Dame or Mack Mitchell of Houston. They're also ends. Fanning is 6-6, 255, and Mitchell is 6-8, 235, one of the tallest defensive linemen around, as big as 'Too Tall' Jones from last year. Of these two, I would say Fanning has more experience now, but you've got to love Mitchell's size, and he can put on more weight too.

"Behind Hertwig among the offensive linemen, I'd have to go with Ken Huff, the 6-4, 255-pound guard from North Carolina, Kurt Schumacher, 6-4, 250, the Ohio State tackle, and Eugene Clark, Southern California guard, 6-3, 255. Schumacher didn't really get any recognition until John Hicks graduated, but everybody knows about him now," Cartwright points out. Hicks recently completed a fine rookie season in the NFL with the New York Giants after being chosen third of all players in the country in the 1974 draft.

At 220 pounds, it's plain to see that my stomach used to sit on my lap, while my true age – only 27 years – was hidden under all that fat.

Now, at 128 pounds I can stand or sit without worrying about pounds of fat getting in my way. Or keeping me from finding stylish clothes.

By Judie Evaskovich – as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

For every fat person, there comes a moment of truth. Mine came standing in line at a check-out counter. I was with my 24 year old niece, her two young ones and my own two. As the sales girl stapled the last bag, she said: "Thank you for shopping here and have a good day." Then she turned to me and added: "You have a nice day, too, Grandma." I was so shocked, I couldn't believe my ears. But when I looked at myself in the wall mirror, I had to believe my eyes. Because there I was... all 220 pounds of me in a huge MuMu, with no make up and my hair pulled straight back. Only my mother and my birth certificate could have proved I was just 27 years of age.

You see, I was one of those overweight people who wouldn't have a full-length mirror in my house. I was happier just looking at myself from the neck up. Somehow it made me think I was slimmer from the shoulders down.

As for catching reflections of myself in store windows, I'd always turn the other way and stare at the slim girls on the street. It was a kind of escape. I'd pick one out of the crowd that I wanted to look like and say to myself I was going on a diet that night. But when I'd get home, I'd turn on the TV, get out the snacks, and forget the whole thing.

When I think back now, my eating problem came from the way I was raised – not on three meals a day, but one continuous feed. My parents, you see, came from Czechoslovakia. To them, giving a child food was a sign of love.

I was the "baby" of eight children, and spoiled wild. Why, my father thought nothing of feeding me a half gallon of ice cream. As for my mother, she piled on the potato pancakes and homemade noodles and pastry, so that by fifth grade, I couldn't even do a somersault. I'd just roll over like a barrel.

Unfortunately, my eating pattern didn't change even after I grew up and married. Fact is, on my wedding day, I weighed 30 pounds more than my husband, John. Of course, the joke of our honeymoon was who was going to carry who over the threshold.

It wasn't so funny, however, two babies later and 60 pounds heavier. My husband was so embarrassed by my fat, he hated to take me to socials. But when he did, I'd just sit in a quiet corner in a size 26½ dress and a 46D bra and look like his mother.

I'll tell you, clothes were really a problem at that size. Once when I was pregnant, I tore a pink sheet in half, cut a hole in the middle and made a tent dress. It was enough to make my cold sober landlord see pink elephants.

From what I've said, I guess you can understand how much I needed help. But I knew from past experience that reducing pills were not the answer. What did the trick, however, was something I found at the store where I'd had the "Grandma" insult – a display of some pictures of a girl who'd taken a load off her knees and thighs on the Ayds plan. And that's what put me on it. The change in her appearance was so beautiful, I bought a box of the butterscotch fudge Ayds on the spot.

I took one or two with a hot drink before meals and Ayds really helped me cut down on what I ate. Now, I never said to myself that I wouldn't eat this or wouldn't eat that. I just decided to eat three meals a day. But I put it into my head that I'd stop eating when I was full. I also put smaller portions of food on my plate. And even with no snacking in between, I was satisfied on the Ayds plan. I lost a little better than a pound a week. And since Ayds contain vitamins and minerals but no drugs, they didn't make me nervous either.

Frankly, it wasn't until I'd taken off about 50 pounds that my neighbors in Arnold, Pa., started noticing. That was because I kept wearing those tent dresses. Nobody could see how I was shrinking underneath. But my husband knew and was delighted. So was I, because when I got to 128 pounds on the Ayds plan, my stomach no longer had to sit on my lap.

There's just one last thing I'd like to say – which is important. I figure I saved money while I lost weight on the Ayds plan. Because that candy helped me eat less, so I could stay well within my food budget. Besides, I wasn't tempted to waste money on fattening candy bars. Ayds were a real morale builder, too. I'll tell you, I don't expect to look like a grandmother again for years. And thanks to the Ayds plan, I'm going to be a "skinny" one.

tions in the 1975 draft also could see several of these big linemen tapped by the NFL clubs: on defense, Doug English, Texas, 6-5, 250; Mike Hartenstine, Penn State, 6-3, 235; Gary Johnson, Grambling, 6-3, 260; Jimmy Webb, Mississippi State, 6-5, 245; Pat Donovan, Stanford, 6-5, 235; Charles Hall, Tulane, 6-6, 250; and Rubin Carter, Miami, Fla., 6-2, 260; on offense, Doug France, Ohio State, 6-6, 260; Dennis Harrah, Miami, Fla., 6-5, 260; Marvin Crenshaw, Nebraska, 6-6, 240; and Al Krevis, Boston College, 6-5, 265.

Anthony Davis

Dan Natale

Kyle Davis of Oklahoma, 6-4, 225, and Geoff Reece of Washington State, 6-4- 235, appear to be the two highest-rated centers in the nation, but neither is a surefire first-round pro pick, in Cartwright's estimation, because of the plethora of outstanding performers at the other offensive-line positions. "Very often a team will draft a guy who's played at tackle or guard in college and make a center out of him," says our expert scout.

Smart Cooking For Special Occasions

"Crepes"– A Very Special Kind Of French Roll-Up Pancake

Marilyn Hansen introduces us to some extra-special recipes from the Magic Pan, which went from a small storefront location in San Francisco to 26-city prosperity. Now you too can serve these delicious crepes.

BASIC CREPES

1½ cups milk
3 eggs
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup all-purpose flour
Vegetable oil

1. Put milk, eggs, salt and flour into electric-blender container. Cover. Blend at top speed for 30 seconds.
2. Scrape down batter on sides of blender with spatula. Batter should be the consistency of heavy cream.
3. Cover and refrigerate. If possible, allow to stand an hour or two before cooking. Batter will thicken as it stands. If you find the batter is too heavy, beat in a few tablespoons water.
4. Before preparing each crepe, brush the crepe pan or small 6-inch skillet with oil to cover entire bottom. Heat pan until hot, but not smoking.
5. Pour in about 2-3 tablespoons batter, tilt pan to coat bottom evenly with batter. Cook over medium heat about 1 minute until the top of the crepe is dry and the bottom is lightly browned. Turn crepe with spatula and cook on other side about 20 seconds. Tip out onto plate.
6. Repeat, stacking crepes with waxed paper between each. Makes 12-14 crepes

¾ cup minced fresh spinach leaves
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk, scalded
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
4 eggs, separated
12 Basic Crepes

2. Stir in flour smoothly. Add hot milk and cook, stirring, until mixture comes to boiling. Season with salt and nutmeg.
3. Add egg yolks one at a time, stirring well with wire whisk until blended. Add grated cheese.
4. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Fold into egg-yolk mixture with a light hand. Pour into a well-buttered 1½-qt. soufflé dish.
5. Set dish in a pan containing 1 inch hot water. Bake about 35 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.
6. To assemble: Place about ⅓ cup of baked spinach soufflé in center of each crepe. Spread lightly with spatula. Roll up. Place in shallow oven-to-table baking dish. Top with Cheese Sauce.
7. Place dish under broiler about 4 inches from heating element for 2-3 minutes, to brown sauce lightly. Makes 6 servings

Now, medical science has the power to say to you:

BEGIN YOUR "MIDDLE YEARS" AT 70, 80, EVEN 90!

Announcing—an incredibly simple, medically proven, overwhelmingly documented ANTI-AGING program that is designed to:

give you the lean, glowing look of a youngster past sixty . . . retain the strength and grace and power of a trained athlete in your body beyond your seventies . . . and keep you in vibrant good health till ninety or more . . . even if you feel "rotten" today . . . even if your mother or father died far too young of diseases that are STILL carried in your bloodstream!

Yes, This Medical "Youth-Building Program" Is So Strong That It Can Even Overcome Poor Heredity!

It is so strong, in fact, that it may actually make you look twenty or more years younger than your parents did at the same age . . . at the same exact time that it enables you to live thirty or forty years longer than they did!

We realize, of course, that these facts may seem virtually impossible to you at this moment . . . until you are shown the new medical techniques by which these goals are attained! They are:

1. The most powerful "age-reversing mechanism" known to man . . . which takes exactly six minutes per day . . . may be done by any man or woman, no matter how poor their health today . . . and which is bluntly recognized by one of the leading physicians in this book to give far better "youthifying" results—far faster—than even "cell therapy" treatments costing hundreds of dollars.

2. A direct attack on the stored-up emotional poisons in your body that eat away strength and youth like internal acid, and replace them with never-flagging fatigue! This incredibly simple technique drains out those poisons, and that deadly fatigue, in approximately ten of the most revivifying minutes you have ever spent! And—

3. A new way to lose weight—not a diet—designed to change your present suicidal eating habits in exactly 48 hours! And, to break at last the vicious fat-multiplying cycle inside your body, that causes you to put on more weight, from less food, than your thin friends.

Let Us Repeat Again: These Medical Techniques Are So Powerful That They Actually REVERSE THE AGING PROCESS—WITHOUT DRUGS!

They cause you, quite simply, to grow stronger and not weaker, as you grow older; And here is the medical documentation to prove it:

In tests conducted at a leading University and Medical School in Southern California, it was discovered that life-prolongation, accomplished this way, not only added decades to potential human life spans, but—even more important—also produced vastly increased vitality and vigor, as well as startlingly heightened resistance to dread "senile decline!" (Reported on page 129.)

As a result of scientific observations and experiments conducted in several different locations in the United States (as well as in Europe and Soviet Russia), it was definitely established that these techniques will enable almost any individual to live beyond 90 . . . and even beyond 100 healthy, productive, thoroughly enjoyable years—even if he or she had tragically short-lived parents or grandparents! I.e., disastrous heredity can now be overcome! (Page 36.)

At a leading Gerontology Research Center on the Pacific Coast, its president bluntly stated that a single one of the techniques given to you here had (in essence): ". . . reversed the aging process and over a period of time restored the characteristics of youth to the bodies of middle-aged men!" (See Page 129.)

And one of his colleagues, discussing the same simple procedure, went so far as to state that it: ". . . relieves joint stiffness, lowers the blood pressure, and reduces the amount of fat in the body tissues. It acts like a miracle drug, and it's free for the doing!" (Italics ours—see page 130.)

But All This Research Documentation Is Only The PROLOGUE . . . FOR NOW THE YOUTH-RESTORING PRINCIPLES LEARNED ALL OVER THE WORLD ARE PUT TO WORK—INSTANTLY—FOR YOU!

How to lose weight without counting calories—by harnessing the same exact forces which made you overweight in the first place! (It is not unusual, with these methods, to lose 15 and more pounds the first week—up to 10 pounds the second week—and a good hundred pounds or more, in as little as 15 weeks. And the weight stays off!)

Little-known-stress-on-the-heart Number 1 . . . that kills unwary thousands every year . . . and can be prevented simply by reading a single sentence on page 70!

"Hungry enzymes" that now infest your body! They are the real reason all past attempts to peel off ugly fat have been such torture for you! And you can "command" your body to destroy them—for good—as simply as this! (See page 82.)

Why most people's muscles simply "melt away" as they grow older! (No wonder "old age" to them means ever-growing weakness!) And how you can stop that muscle-melting process overnight . . . and replace it with vibrant new strength!

And More! And More! And More! Like This—

What really causes vigor to drain out of the "aging" body! A simple fluid that if the body gives up too much of, it then dies of old age! And how you can "pump that vital cell-nourishing fluid" right back into your body . . . actually increase your body capacity to utilize by as much as 133⅓ . . . in just a few minutes every day!

How to exercise your heart! Anyone—no matter what age—can do it! And prevent the greatest tragedy of all—premature heart attack!

World's easiest exercise program—for men and women who are pitifully out of shape!

How to avoid the man-made diseases! And save your body at exactly the same time!

What your sleep, or lack of it, is really telling you! And how to ease yourself into a good night's rest again!

What your fingers tell you that can save your life! Listen to them . . . obey their command . . . and you may be able to out-run your own youngster!

No more nervous breakdowns! And no more unnecessary heart attacks (or strokes!) The technique shown to you on page 197 may banish them from your life—for good!

How to add ten years to your life, by avoiding one little fatal mistake! Before you go to sleep!

How to laugh at old age—till you're ninety! A simple program so effective that it may actually cause strangers to think that you are your best friends grown children!

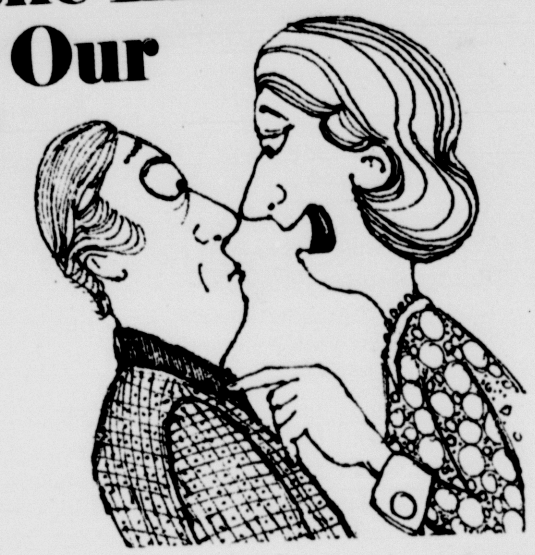
People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

What Are the Inner Reasons for Our Behavior?



True or False: When a wife nags her husband it's usually because he's done something she doesn't approve of. (See number 3)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. The chief reason people get hooked on mood-altering drugs is because they are trying to make their problems disappear instantly and effortlessly.

2. Nobody knows what goes on in the mind of a potential murderer—or what makes him tick.

3. When a wife nags her hubsand it's usually because he's done something she doesn't approve of.

4. The reason many people let their dogs roam at large, creating assorted nuisances and hazards to others, is to bug non dog owners—who they feel don't understand or appreciate man's best friend.

5. The way people vote is influenced to a large extent by the newspaper they read.

ANSWERS

1. True. Dr. V. Alton Dohner of the U.S. Public Health Service has evaluated the findings of his own and other leading studies, which show that "A major inadequacy in drug abusers is the inability to tolerate frustration, anxiety, tension, mild depression or other psychological discomfort as part of everyday life. These people have a tendency to seek a quick solution to their problems via alcohol, tranquilizers, stimulants, sedatives or other mood-altering agents. There is emphasis on quick relief that requires little effort from the individual." The study points out that a certain amount of anxiety, tension, frustration and fatigue is normal and necessary for the growth and maintenance of a healthy personality.

2. False. The noted psychiatrist and authority on violence, Dr. David Abrahamsen, profiles the psyche of the man who is likely to kill in his definitive treatise "The Murdering Mind": "The prime marks of the murderer are a sense of helplessness, impotence and nagging revenge carried over from early childhood. Intertwined with this core of emotions that color and distort his view of life and all his actions are his irrational hatred for others, his suspiciousness and his hypersensitivity to injustices or rejection. Hand in hand with these go his self-centeredness and inability to withstand frustration. Overpowered by frequent uncontrollable emotional outbursts, he [needs] to retaliate, to destroy, to tear down by killing."

3. False. University studies show that when a woman nags her husband it's "usually a response to nagging sensations from within," and that nagging provides an outlet for her nervous inner tensions. Since, as psychiatrists point out, bottling up tensions and frustrations and denying them means of expression can have an ill effect on physical and emotional well-being, husbands might take consolation in the fact that nagging does appear to serve some useful purpose.

4. False. University of California animal researcher Dr. Bruce Max Feldman, who has made a study of the matter, finds that "dog ownership is a subtle and complex psychological phenomenon"—and that the reason many people allow their dogs to roam freely, despite leash laws, is because they identify with their own desire not to be restrained. They forget, he points out, that unsupervised dogs are ill-equipped for life in modern society.

5. True—according to a survey conducted by the University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research. An evaluation of election studies over a 20-year period showed a consistent relationship between the voter's choice of candidate and the candidate favored editorially by the newspaper read most often. The investigators conclude that the political stand of this country's newspapers may be one of the most underestimated forces in politics. One reason offered why newspapers are so effective in shaping public opinion: "The newspaper endorsement is perceived as a nonpartisan message that appears to cut through the confusing arguments of the campaign and reduce them to a single conclusion."

Jackie's Horoscope states her only possible fate was wealth and fame

By Tom Kennedy

Jackie Onassis, possibly the most famous woman alive today. On July 29, 1929, she entered this world as all of us do, a helpless little baby. But Jackie was not destined to be an ordinary individual. Astrologers examining her natal horoscope clearly agree, her only possible fate would be wealth and fame. Now at age 45 this prediction has become more than ture. Let's take a look at her natal chart and see why.

Jackie's Cancer lays in the cusp of her eighth house. This indicates that she will marry a man connected with water. Her first husband, the late President Kennedy, was a PT boat captain in World War II and also enjoyed sailing. And of course her current husband, Aristotle Onassis, is a superwealthy shipping magnate.

Her Sagittarian rising sign shows that she prefers foreign countries and people. Her husband, Aristotle, is Greek. And Jackie is known for her jet-setting image.

Finally, the planets Jupiter and Venus symbolize money. The fact that these two planets fall in her seventh house, the house of partners, indicates that she will have a wealthy husband. John Kennedy and Aristotle were both wealthy.

ASTROLOGY AFFECTS US ALL

Jackie Onassis is not the only person affected by astrology. Because you were born, you yourself have a unique natal horoscope, different from all others. I'll show you what it can mean to you by using celebrities for my examples.

Your natal horoscope can help you discover your hidden talents, and give you the confidence to use them. When you think of Marilyn Monroe, you probably picture the standard "dumb blonde" sex symbol. Her horoscope shows that nothing could be farther from the truth. She had the potential to be a tremendous actress and she knew it. Marilyn hated her sex symbol image.

Jean Dixon heeded the advice of her horoscope, and was rewarded with success. Her natal chart showed strong psychic and E.S.P. abilities. She cultivated her talents and is considered the leading psychic of our time.

Your horoscope can advance your career and bring you wealth. A comparison of Robert Redford's natal chart to Paul Newman's shows these two stars to be very compatible. In real life they are very close friends. Their horoscopes also showed that a joint venture would be extremely profitable. BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID and the STING, certainly bear this out. On the other hand, the timing of the movie, THE GREAT GATSBY, and the movement of Robert Redford's planets were in conflict. But he went ahead and made the movie against the advice of his horoscope. Box office results were certainly a lot less than expected.

Your horoscope can bring you love, romance, and improve your sex life. Henry Kissinger's horoscope showed that if he was confident enough, women would overlook his appearance. He used his sex appeal, and dated some of the most beautiful women in the world. His horoscope predicted his marriage to Nancy Maginnes. What is more amazing, his chart told him that if he stabilized his life through marriage, he would be more successful in his Middle East negotiations.

Tommy Smothers is an avid believer in Astrology. He compared his horoscope with his future wife's before proposing. He then got married at exactly 11:58 PM, following the exact instructions of his astrologer.

Sometimes a small change can make a big difference. In Telly Savalas's case, he used his head. His natal horoscope attributes his charisma to his head. He shaved his head for the movie, THE GREATEST STORY EVER TOLD. His TV stardom in Kojak followed sometime later.

THE TRUTH ABOUT ASTROLOGY

How does your natal horoscope work? An astrologer will chart the positions of the sun, moon, and eight planets as they appear above your place of birth at your exact time of birth. The placements and angular relationships of these bodies make up your natal chart. This means that someone born at the exact same time as you, but in a different city, will have a different chart.

The written interpretation and analysis of your natal chart is called your natal horoscope. Astrology is not fortune telling and your horoscope does not cause things to happen to you. Your horoscope analyzes your personality, and then tells you what things are most likely to happen to you. But remember, your free will can override events in your life, if you put your mind to it. In Jackie's case, she wisely chose to let fate run it's course.

As you've seen from the examples I've given you, some of the most famous people used their horoscope to reach success; but in other instances ignored it and faced failure. There are thousands of different ways to achieve wealth, love, success and happiness.

A good example is Euell Gibbons, the naturalist, whose interest is plants. He has published several books and appeared on the Johnny Carson show. Many people consider him odd. But his career has bought him happiness and wealth.

Each and everyone of us is good at something no matter how odd one's talents may seem to others. Your horoscope will tell you what you're good at. So why beat your brains out on an area that you're not talented in, when an equal amount of time spent on something you're good at would put you much further ahead. Not only will you get ahead, but you'll be relaxed and happy while you're doing it.

Your horoscope will give you an indepth analysis of your personality. It will point out your strengths and show you how to utilize them. It will also discuss your weaker areas, and allow you to compensate for them.

Because your natal horoscope is such a sophisticated analysis of your personality, it will probe your subconscious mind and seek out your hidden talents. These are the areas where you thought you had talent (writing, E.S.P., sex appeal, public relations, athletics, etc.) but were afraid to try. If you've been waiting for someone to give you a little push, let your horoscope be that someone. It will give you the confidence to start using your hidden talents.

Summed up, your natal horoscope will discuss your personality, lovelife, career, finances, and health. It will help you understand and accept yourself for what you are. It will then show you where your talents lie and set you on a course of self-improvement, self-fulfillment, and true happiness.

As the old saying goes, "You only live once." Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided, like Robert Redford with the GREAT GATSBY? Don't you owe it to yourself and to your loved ones to sieze every precious moment of your life and make the best of it. Why not give yourself every advantage with the added edge of your personal natal horoscope.

There's no need to worry about finding out about an unavoidable coming disaster through your chart. As mentioned, astrology deals in potentials. Your free will can override potentials if you know about them. In any case, the policy of qualified astrologers is positive astrology. If there is something negative in your chart, you are told what you can do to make it positive.

When casting your horoscope, we conform to the strictest scientific principles. First the longitude and latitude of your birth will be charted down to the hundredth of a degree. Then any time changes due to World War II will be taken into consideration. Finally your longitude and latitude and exact time of birth will be key punched into our gigantic IBM 370 computer, which contains over 24 million bits of authenticated astrological information. No two horoscopes produced by our computer are ever alike. Your horoscope will carry your name on every page and will be cast from your exact time and place of birth for you and you alone. So you can be sure that your horoscope will not be the worthless type found in paperbacks.

A similar horoscope could cost up to $250 if done by an astrologer. But THERE'S ABSOLUTELY NO CATCH to this offer. I need this information for my astrological research. I'm looking for certain planet configurations from the people who mail in birth information. (People who fit this group can receive extra bonuses by filling out a research questionnaire.)

This research project has appeared in BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS, PARADE, FAMILY WEEKLY, SUNDAY MAGAZINE, LADY'S HOME JOURNAL, REDBOOK, McCALLS, WOMAN'S DAY, and several other publications. The response has been tremendous with over 500,000 people now enjoying their personal natal horoscope. But that's what's so frustrating. We may never be able to run this article again. Inflation has pushed our computer, advertising, postage, and printing costs to the point of no return.

So for a limited time, we're gathering all the names we possibly can to finish our research project. If you'd like to help us with our research and take advantage of this special offer by ordering natal horoscopes for yourself, for your family or your friends, simply do this: Send me the name, address, time, day, month, year and place of birth for each person on a piece of paper along with the $3.00 copying cost and 50¢ postage for each horoscope. (If you don't know your exact time of birth we'll use 12:00 noon.) Mail your orders to the AMERICAN ASTROLOGICAL ASSOCIATION, Research Division, Dept. 973, 4965 West Tusc., Canton, Ohio 44708.

Your natal horoscope is covered by a one year - 365 day - full money back guarantee. If you have any questions, call me, John F. Ford, President, the American Astrological Association. Health News

A VERMONT M.D.'S STUDIES REVEAL:

WHY PEOPLE IN VERMONT ARE HEALTHIER, LESS OVERWEIGHT, STAY YOUNG LONGER, LIVE LONGER THAN PEOPLE OF ANY OTHER STATE IN THE UNION

Did you know that:

* You were designed by nature to live an average age of 105?
* A high protein - low carbohydrate diet is unnatural for you and dangerous to your health?
* Overweight is caused by bad nutrition which also causes other common visible disorders such as loss of hair, acne, arthritis, nervous tension, insomnia, etc?
* Senility, and loss of productivity in old age can be avoided and in fact is not in nature's plan?
* The average American diet creates a perfect blood chemistry for the growth of harmful bacteria that leads to both minor and serious diseases?
* You can get high without the use of drugs if you have the proper nourishment that nature intended?
* Everything you need to lead a longer, healthier life is right at your local grocery store?

Tucked away in the rustic portion of the United States, Vermont is indeed a beautiful state where people live close to the land and the animals.

These are just a few of the conclusions reached by Vermont doctor, D.C. Jarvis, M.D. after his life-long study of the unbelievably effective health practice known as VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE. VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE is a practice the doctor reveals can help you achieve good health, increase your life span, avoid senility, become more attractive and more productive. For 200 years, before publications by Dr. Jarvis, this practice has been known only to native Vermonters.

VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE was developed by countless generations of Vermonters. Dr. Jarvis M.D., a respected doctor of modern medicine himself, states that VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE is superior to modern medicine for the following reasons:

* VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE was developed from nature's plan - not man's. It was developed by watching the animals who rely on their instincts provided by nature. This is the same way the super-effective defense arts of Judo, Karate and Kung Fu were developed. How can anyone expect to develop a better system than the designer of it all - Mother Nature?
* VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE works. It was developed by trial and error over a 200 year period. This also means it has passed the acid test of time.
* Although it contains some of the best cures known to man, which cannot be found in medical books, the main design of VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE is to prevent disease before it starts. Modern Medicine is directed, mainly at curing disease - diseases you should never have in the first place.

Here is the story of VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE as related by Dr. Jarvis.

VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE is based on the premise that man does not have to undergo physical impairment and weakening with age. In Vermont you can see people in their eighties putting in a full days work in the fields with sound minds and bodies.

VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE was designed to help man live his full average life which by nature's plan should be 105 years. Yes it's true. It is a common fact that an animal lives to be 5 times his maturity age. A horse matures at 4 years and easily lives to be 20. A cow matures at 2½ years and easily lives to 12. A dog matures at 1½ years and easily lives to be over 8-many live much longer. Man is an animal. BUT, THE AVERAGE MAN IN THE U.S. WHO MATURES AT 21 WILL DIE AT AGE 62. THAT'S 43 YEARS BEFORE HIS TIME! With the exception of a notorious retirement state, which can't be counted, Vermont leads all other states in percentage of population over 65. Not long ago it had 40,000 persons over that age, and each year nearly 2,500 reach it! Short lives, senility, excessive disease, and so on are not in nature's plan. What's the culprit? The free will of man! Although free will is indeed a wonderful thing, it does have some bad side effects. Unlike the animals, we stray away from our childhood instincts.

The first thing discovered by VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE is that each species is designed to have a different diet. Nature's plan for man's diet requires a high intake of carbohydrates represented by fruits, berries, edible leaves, and honey, and a low intake of protein represented by eggs, meat, milk, cheese, etc. Man was also designed to eat foods derived from corn and rye and not from wheat, which produces an alkaline blood condition.

Nature designed nearly all animals to have a natural blood condition on the acid side. Blood which leans toward the alkaline side is a health hazard. Medical school studies show that harmful bacteria breeds best in an alkaline environment. Also alkaline blood is thicker than acidic blood. This makes it more difficult for the blood to nourish cells, and increase the probability of heart attacks.

So, everyday Americans are killing themselves with high protein - low carbohydrate diets which contain many wheat products. In turn, the diets are 1) hard on the system, 2) do not provide the correct elements for nutrition. 3) Produce the bad alkaline condition in the blood. Many of these diets are the result of weight watching. Little do these people know that overweight is caused by 1) bad nutrition of the glands, 2) a blood condition which is not acidic and 3) a wrong carbohydrate consumption. The correct carbohydrates burn up instantly and do not turn into excess fat.

The following are symptoms of bad nutrition and a diet that is contrary to nature's plan: low energy, depression, insomnia, itchy skin, chronic headache, sensitivity to temperature, sinus trouble, lingering colds, dizzy spells, gas and indigestion, poor blood circulation, falling hair, dandruff, blemishes, lack of skin color, and overweight.

Two important foods in VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE are honey and apple cider vinegar. They are a major contribution toward providing the correct carbohydrates, the correct nutrition and an acidic blood condition.

Why honey? Nature intended that we have a trickle of sugar passing through the intestinal walls at all times and one teaspoonful of sugar in our blood stream at all times. The latter is ultra critical. In honey, the sugar has already been digested in the bee's stomach. Therefore, honey contains two natural sugars dextrose and levulose, which go into the blood stream immediately. Honey is free from bacteria. Experiments show that bacteria will not live in honey. Honey is a mild, natural sedative which is calming to the body. Honey is a mild, natural laxative. Honey is non-irritating to the digestive tract. Honey is, of all sugars, handled best by the kidneys. Honey is rich in vital minerals from the flowers. By an infallible instinct, the bee has a way of knowing which flowers are high in quality and which are not. Therefore honey is a perfect food derived from only the healthiest plants. In Vermont there is a saying, "We've got to trust someone - why not let it be the bee?"

Why apple and vinegar? Apple cider vinegar carries with it all the vital life elements of the apple. Apple cider vinegar maintains the proper acid level of the blood. Apple cider vinegar can maintain your proper weight. Dr. Jarvis's book describes a method using apple cider vinegar where the person eats normally but will gradually lose weight until the body finds its proper weight level. With this method women will gradually see their dress size go from 20, to 18, to 16, and gradually stop at their natural body size. Men will see a 40 inch waistline drop to 38, then 36, and finally to the proper size as the body properly burns off excess fat because it is in the proper chemical state that nature intended.

It is not enough, however, to only know the ingredients of good health. You must know how and in what combination to use honey, vinegar and other vital products of nature. Dr. Jarvis has published the results of his life long study of VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE in his book titled FOLK MEDICINE. In everyday language he tells you how to use VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE. Here are some of the highlights of this book:

* How to use honey and apple cider vinegar to: 1) gain renewed health and energy, 2) as part of prenatal care to produce a strong healthy baby, 3) produce sound sleep, 4) reduce your susceptibility to disease, 5) reduce the chance of heart attacks, 6) produce a relaxed comfortable state of being.
* How to use honey and apple cider vinegar to treat: 1) morning sickness, 2) sinus, 3) migraine headaches, 4) dizziness, 5) arthritis, 6) bed-wetting, 7) coughs, 8) hay fever, 9) colic in babies.
* How to use apple cider vinegar, castor oil, and corn oil to 1) produce beautiful healthy skin and bring color back, 2) clear up blemishes, 3) get rid of dandruff, 4) grow healthy hair and eyelashes, 5) treat hives, 6) treat hemorrhoids, 7) get rid of moles, 8) relieve lameness, 9) treat poison ivy, 10) treat shingles, 11) eliminate night sweats, 12) treat varicose veins, 13) get rid of ring worm, 14) treat impetigo, 15) get rid of hangover.
* How to get your daily requirement of the all important minerals, phosphorous and potassium which: 1) form healthy bones, teeth and hair, 2) maintain proper growth control; 3) replace worn out tissue; 4) fight disease; 5) treat high blood pressure; 6) treat heart trouble, 7) treat migraine headaches.
* How you can rebuild your body after age 50 and be alert, active and productive in your eighties and beyond.
* How to lose weight and maintain your proper weight level with a special method using apple cider vinegar.

At this point I would like to insert the opinion of the writer. Today there are many exaggerated claims and falsehoods. This reporter has spent six months researching the validity of VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE - before my company would publish this article. Here are the straight, uncolored facts on the validity of VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE from direct observation by the writer.

First, VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE and Dr. Jarvis's studies which produce the findings printed here do exist. Anyone can prove this to themselves by simply driving to Vermont and talking to the natives about Dr. Jarvis - especially in Barre, Vermont, the place of his medical practice. Second, Dr. Jarvis's practices are now being copied. Everyone has seen the famous vinegar, B-6, kelp diet sponsored by a NEW YORK TIMES reporter. Also, a large soap company is now advertising on national T.V. a new shampoo, EARTH BORN, which has a P.H. on the acid side instead of alkaline. Third, I interviewed medical doctors on VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE. No doctor will sanction anything out of the medical field. But, when I cornered them, many confessed to the fact that patients using VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE have reported: "Yes it helps my arthritis", "Yes it helped my high blood pressure", "Yes it helped my weight problem," etc. As a reporter I rarely get excited about a project. But, before writing this article, I used the diets and methods described in Dr. Jarvis's book for 3 months. Few Americans have any idea what it is like to be truly healthy as nature intended. Life was meant to be very pleasant. VERMONT FOLK MEDICINE has had the following effect on me: I feel very calm and at peace with the world. I have an abundance of energy and endurance. I look better and healthier. But, most of all, I just feel good all over and feel like I'm walking on air. If people would only know what it's like to feel as nature intended, they would never take drugs. Nature's plan allows you to get high without drugs.

For those interested in obtaining a copy of Dr. Jarvis's book, FOLK MEDICINE, plus a special 4,500 word report by Dr. Jarvis, the following information is given: The book and report are being distributed by PCA - The Publishing Corporation of America. On a blank piece of paper write the words, "FOLK MEDICINE," followed by your name and address. Mail this along with $6.95 in cash, check or money order to P.C.A.; Dept. C-71; 6233 Whipple Ave. N.W.; Canton, Ohio 44720. This price covers the book, the special report, and postage and handling. Make checks payable to PCA.

Should you spend a couple minutes and a few dollars to acquire this valuable health knowledge? Studies show that people will think nothing about spending hundreds or thousands of dollars on homes and cars, but are reluctant to spend a few cents on themselves. As the proverb goes: "When you have your health you have everything - lose your health and nothing else really matters."

Do You Believe in ESP?

Here Are Some Famous People Who Do...

By Brett L. Bolton

Have you ever walked into a completely strange room and felt you had been there before? Have you ever guessed what someone was about to say—seconds before he said it? Almost everyone has had some such odd experience at one time or another. But is it really ESP at work or just plain coincidence?

Some very famous people believe in ESP and other "inexplicable" phenomena. Below, a few of these people tell their personal stories.

JAYNE MEADOWS

Jayne's "sixth sense" seems to come through in the form of dreams. One of the earliest experiences she had occurred shortly after she began her climb in the world of show business.

Jayne Meadows

She arrived in New York wearing her mother's engagement ring, which she had borrowed in the hope "it would make me look more glamorous and less poor." At that time she was living in a charity club for aspiring young women. One morning, in a rush to get to a modeling job, she forgot the ring and left it on the basin in the bathroom she shared with two roommates.

While posing for a portrait painter, she suddenly realized that the ring was gone. She called the club, but the ring had disappeared from the basin and was never found.

"Two or three years went by," says Jayne. "I had long left the club, done several Broadway plays, and was living in Hollywood under contract with MGM.

"While visiting New York, I had a dream one night. I saw a chorus of girl dancers and one of them was one of my old roommates. Her arms were outstretched and on her left hand was Mother's ring.

"That morning my doorbell rang, but when I opened the door, there was no one there. I buzzed for the elevator operator and asked if he had brought someone up. He had not. As I walked back to my door, my foot hit a light object and I looked down. There in the dim light of the hall I saw a tiny piece of brown paper, crumpled up. I picked it up and when I opened it, there inside was Mother's ring!"

PAUL LYNDE

Paul's experiences are limited to one particular locale and one particular type of phenomenon that is most unusual.

Paul Lynde

"Whenever I go to New York and I'm walking along Fifth Avenue I will see someone I knew when I lived there, but as soon as I run up and say hello, I'll find myself quickly apologizing: case of mistaken identity. And always, the physical resemblance is uncanny.

"But—and this is the curious thing—the very next person I'll see will be the one I thought I knew seconds before. This has happened to me every time I have been in New York—that is, if I'm on Fifth Avenue."

ARLENE DAHL

Arlene describes what she calls her "blessed gift": "I've always been very sensitive to the vibrations of other people, but I had written it off as coincidence until 1956, when I bought a book on tea-leaf reading. It was intended as a game to pass away a weekend with friends. Once the game began, I found I wasn't referring to the symbols in the book at all, but saying what came to my mind. By the end of the weekend I was so frightened at my accuracy that I wouldn't read for anyone again for about a year. At about that time, someone gave me a deck of tarot cards and I found I could 'tune in' with those too.

"Five years ago, Skip Schaum, a man I was dating occasionally, asked me to give him a card reading. I saw a big romance coming up for him and told him I foresaw a marriage before December of that same year.

"Shortly afterward, I went to France to make a movie. While there, Skip came over to see me on some business matter and we somehow started dating steadily. He suddenly proposed, and two months later, on December 7th, we were married." Arlene laughed, "It was the first time in my life I had predicted my own future without realizing it!"

JOAN BLONDELL

Joan explains that she has always been highly intuitive: "It's almost a continuous thing with me. I just sense things before they happen or at the very moment they are happening.

Joan Blondell

"The first incident was when I was seven. My whole family was on a vaudeville tour. My younger sister Gloria, who was called Sissy, was too small to travel so we left her with a lady friend of ours in Chicago while we went on the road for a couple of weeks.

"The night we were on the train going back to pick her up, I suddenly woke up, crying hysterically, saying, 'Sissy's leg is broken!' Mother couldn't comfort me and when we arrived the next morning at our friend's house, we found Sissy with a cast on her leg. Timewise, the accident coincided with the precise moment I got the mental picture and started bawling."

BILL ANDERSON

The well-known singer and songwriter became a believer in ESP when a "hunch" apparently saved not only his life, but the lives of the men in his band as well.

Bill Anderson

While on his way to an engagement in South Carolina, Bill decided to catch up on some of his fan mail. One letter from a lady tea-leaf reader in Wisconsin held an ominous warning. She wrote that Thursday of that week could prove fateful for him and advised him not to travel on that day. "I dismissed the warning as nonsense and then dozed off around midnight.

"I slept fitfully and awoke sometime during the early morning. I looked out the window and it was very foggy and eerie. I saw a road sign that said Anderson—my own name. It was Anderson, S.C. Suddenly I remembered the letter.

"I told the driver to pull over to the side of the road and stop. I told him we were spending the night right there.

"The next morning, about a hundred yards ahead, we saw a highway crew washing down the road. A fuel truck had overturned, spilling oil all over a sharp bend in the road.

"I asked the crewmen what time the accident occurred and they told me 'around midnight.' That was near the hour when I had read that strange letter. It was also now Thursday."

MICHAEL M. RYAN

Michael, who appears in the long-running daytime drama, "Another World," recalls an experience that seemed very odd to him. In 1965 he rented a "retreat" on Staten Island for his wife and three young sons. One afternoon, as he tells it, the Ryans were out surveying their grounds. Suddenly, by what seemed to Michael to be a kind of telepathic message, he was directed out into some woods in back of the house. There he found some furniture partially buried in the earth and covered with leaves. Vicki, his wife, was shocked at the good condition of their findings, considering their place of storage. With great enthusiasm the Ryans set about refinishing everything.

Michael M. Ryan

As each piece was completed, Michael and Vicki seemed to know just where to place it. He says, "It was as though a pair of unseen hands, using us as an instrument, restored the house as it might have been when the previous owners were alive."

They made inquiries as to who the owner was and learned it belonged to an old-time actress and her husband. The woman had died shortly after Michael rented the house.

"When we found out what AARP does for people over 55, my wife didn't mind telling her age."

"After a friend of ours told us about the American Association of Retired Persons, I said to my wife, 'Irma, Everybody's having fun but us. Lots of people out there are having a marvelous time and we're sitting home counting the years.' So I picked myself right up and filled out an AARP coupon just like the one on this page. I want to tell you it was the best thing we ever did."

Irma and Peter McNulty

WHAT'S AARP?

AARP is the American Association of Retired Persons or as we like to think of ourselves—The new social security. Non-profit. Non-partisan. An association of more than 6 million people. Anybody who's over 55 can belong. And all it costs to be a member is $2 a year. Which is almost like buying a whole new life for a few cents a week. You can stay home and enjoy it. You can be rich. Poor. Healthy. Not so healthy. It's probably one of the few organizations in the world that offers you the opportunity to give so much of yourself, if you so desire and at the same time provides so many benefits and services. Simply because its one purpose is to help you continue to feel vital, important and involved in every part of life.

WHAT YOU GET

To begin with, you can continue your education. You can fill your leisure time with hundreds of new meaningful activities. At home. Or outside. You can meet new people. Make your voice heard in government. Be assured of reasonable prices on medicines, travel, on many of the necessities of life including health insurance. You'll receive two fine publications written just for you. In other words, you're going to have fun again and find that life is more than just a way to pass time.

DON'T STOP LEARNING

AARP's Institute of Lifetime Learning offers a full program of education courses in music appreciation, psychology, creative writing, literature, government, and a variety of other subjects. There are home study courses or you can attend lectures at regional centers around the country.

BE REPRESENTED IN GOVERNMENT

AARP's legislative program represents your interest with state legislatures and Congress. Its 33-point program is a Bill of Rights for all older persons retired or not. We let you know what's happening. So that you can know about all of the legislation put through on your behalf, and what remains to be accomplished.

FEEL BETTER WITH HEALTH INSURANCE

Medicare doesn't cover everything. So one of AARP's most important benefits is eligibility for supplementary Group Health Insurance Plans. They help you to pay for the best medical and surgical treatment, and include a Skilled Nursing Facility and Home-Nursing Care Plan. You'll feel better just having this kind of protection.

PHARMACY SERVICE

Because of the buying power represented by more than 6 million AARP members, AARP makes it possible for you to get over-the-counter and prescription medicine and supplies at realistic prices and have them delivered to your home, postage paid.

GO PLACES

Where would you like to travel? Around the world? Across the country? The AARP recommended travel service can help you do it. You can choose from a wide variety of quality tours and cruises, ranging from luxury to economy, escorted by experienced tour directors. The world is there. All you have to do is go into it.

FEEL LIKE WORKING?

Just because you're retired doesn't mean you can't work. Mature Temps, an AARP recommended service, may be able to help you supplement your retirement income with part-time or temporary employment. There are offices in a number of major metropolitan areas across the country. Just call. Their service is free.

PARTICIPATE IN CHAPTER ACTIVITIES

Chances are there's an AARP Chapter near you. (There are over 1600 of them around the United States). If you'd like to go to a meeting and find out about the inside workings of AARP, just come on over. It's a great way to make our association grow stronger and a fine opportunity for you to meet dozens of vital people your own age.

WANT TO GET INVOLVED?

At Local Chapters you'll have the opportunity to find out about community services in which you can lend a helping hand. You can learn more about the Defensive Driving Courses, the Consumer Information Desk or participate in the Tax Aide Program. Or just meet new friends.

NEED ADVICE?

AARP provides its members with a series of booklets that guide retired people through areas of particular concern. They cover everything from how to get personal help, to health advice, moving, diet, and all the little problems that trouble you from time to time.

WORRIED ABOUT AUTO INSURANCE*?

As an AARP member, you will receive information about how you may be able to actually save money on your auto-insurance with a policy that has guaranteed renewable and limited-cancellation features.

LIKE TO READ?

When you join AARP you automatically receive subscriptions to AARP's official publications, Modern Maturity and the AARP News Bulletin, two publications filled with news and features of special interest to you.

Your annual membership dues of $2 help cover the cost of these publications, which means for as long as you're a member of AARP your magazines will keep coming.

There's so much more to AARP than we have room to tell you here. And really, the best way to find out is to join. The coupon below will enroll you so that you can take advantage of all the AARP benefits and services. There's only one requirement. You have to be 55 or over. We don't think you'll mind telling us if you are.

NFL Draft Preview

The increasing emphasis on defense in the NFL and the high draft positions in recent years of such players as John Matuszak, "Too Tall" Jones and John Hicks have endowed the line positions with a glamour that was lacking in former years. What has happened to the traditional glamour spots of quarterback and running back?

"There's been a drop-off in overall quality in those positions in the past couple of years," says Cartwright. "Last year no quarterback was selected in the NFL draft until the third round, and that may happen again this time. The first quarterback picked is likely to be Dave Humm from Nebraska, 6-1, 181, who will be the first left-handed passing specialist the league has brought in since Ken Stabler, now a great star at Oakland.

"Or the first quarterback chosen could be Steve Bartkowski from the University of California. He's 6-4, 215, the size the pros want, but up until this year he hadn't really done much. Now he seems ready for the pros, and someone is sure to take him in the first few rounds. Steve Joachim of Temple, who's 6-3 and 210, also is one of the better quarterbacks available."

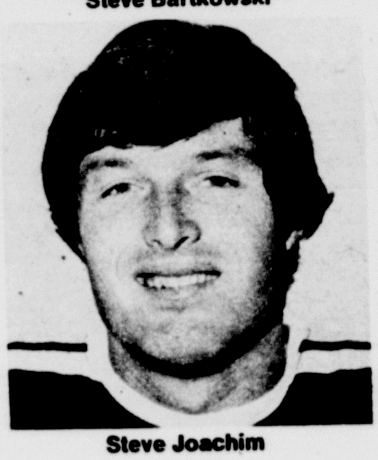
At running back, Cartwright singles out two of the more glamorous performers in the country as likely high draft picks, and as possibilities to go high in the first round. One is Anthony Davis of Southern California, who gained more than 1,000 yards on the ground in each of his three varsity seasons and scored four touchdowns against Notre Dame last fall to lift the Trojans from a 24-0 deficit to an astonishing 55-24 victory over the Fighting Irish. At 5-9, 190, Davis lacks great size, but his blazing breakaway speed should make him a serious threat on kick returns as well as from scrimmage in any pro backfield.

Though he tore up his knee in spring practice and seemed through with football at least for 1974, Roosevelt Leaks,

Dave Humm

Steve Bartkowski

Wide World



Steve Joachim

Texas' powerful 5-11, 220-pound fullback, effected a remarkable and courageous return to action by the fall and could be the first fullback tapped in the upcoming NFL draft. Other highly touted running backs include Walter Payton of Jackson State, 5-11, 200, who led the nation's small colleges in scoring this past season, racking up six touchdowns in one game; Mike Thomas, University of Nevada at Las Vegas, 5-10, 190; and Andy Jones, Washington, 6-2, 215.

Cartwright feels there is little depth among quality receivers in this year's draft, and that two wide receivers, Danny Buggs of West Virginia and Larry Burton of Purdue, and one tight end, Dan Natale of Penn State, stand out above the rest.

"Buggs is 6-3, 190, with tremendous speed," Cartwright points out. "He ran the 60-yard dash in college track, so you know he can gain plenty of yardage after he catches a ball. Burton is 6-1, 187, and finished fourth in the 200-meter dash at the Munich Olympics in 1972. But he's not one of those track guys who come out for football because they think they can take advantage of their speed. He went to Purdue on a football scholarship. He can play this game and he's going to be a good pro.

"Natale, 6-3, 215, can do everything you ask from a tight end. He has the good hands that you want, and he's a better blocker than Ted Kwalick, the last great tight end Penn State turned out, who's been with San Francisco the past six years."

To defend against the passing game, Cartwright feels that the two best safeties this year are Dave Brown of Michigan, 6-1, 188, and Robert Giblin of Houston, 6-2, 205. The two best corner backs are Neal Colzie of Ohio State, 6-2, 196; and Mike Washington, of Alabama, 6-3, 195.

Among the linebackers, he likes Tom Ruud of Nebraska, 6-3, 225, for the middle, and Rod Shoate of Oklahoma, 6-1, 215, and Richard Wood of Southern California, 6-2, 215, for the outside spots.

With recent rules changes making kicking more crucial, many clubs are concentrating on selecting good people to do their punting and place-kicking. This year's top selections among field-goal specialists should be Joe Danelo of Washington State, 5-9, 167, and Steve Mike-Mayer of Maryland, 6-0, 180, both soccer-style booters. Mike-Mayer is the brother of Atlanta Falcon place-kicker Nick Mike-Mayer, one of the NFL's top "toes."

Tops among the punters appears to be Neil Clabo of Tennessee, 6-1, 197, who has a great touch for the coffin corner, a skill highly prized in the NFL since last year's rule change prohibiting the punting team from sending down all of its linemen on kick coverage was instituted.

THIS YEAR, CHOOSE AN exciting gift of rare and enduring beauty that captures in precious gold and silver, the beautiful sentiment of St. Valentine's Day. The Hamilton Mint is proud indeed to present its first annual St. Valentine's Day Ingot and Pendant — two original works of medallic art by master sculptor Alfred Brunettin.

The ingot entitled "Together", contains a full ounce of pure .999 fine silver, the finest and purest silver available, and portrays a man and woman in profile with cupid looking on. This proof quality ingot has a delicate satin finish bas-relief design on a gleaming mirror-perfect background. This beautiful ingot is available for $12.95 in silver, or in 24 Kt gold on .999 silver for just $17.95.

PENDANT AVAILABLE IN SOLID SILVER, SOLID GOLD AND GOLD ON SILVER

Entitled "Love Token", this elegant pendant tells of love and shows two lovers in a garden. The pendant will be struck in .999 fine silver with a lovely matching sterling silver chain for $19.95. You may also select the pendant in 24 Kt gold on silver for $24.95 or in 18 Kt solid gold for $175. (Both gold pendants come with matching gold plated sterling chain.) Each represents a truly wonderful and thoughtful gift that will be treasured for a lifetime.

STRICTLY LIMITED FIRST ANNUAL EDITIONS

First Annual Editions have traditionally been greatly prized by knowledgeable collectors and because rarity can add substantially to a potential increase in value, The Hamilton Mint will enforce strict limits on the 1975 St. Valentine's Day Ingots and Pendants. Only enough ingots and pendants will be struck to fill those orders received by the deadline of February 14, 1975. Then, the minting dies for both works will be destroyed and no further first editions will be struck — ever! You will also receive a registered Certificate of Authenticity, attesting to the limited edition status and precious metal content of each offer.

Handsome Display Case Included You will receive, at no extra charge, a deluxe presentation case for your ingot or pendant, which is also ideal to protect or display your gift.

Orders Must Be Postmarked by February 14, 1975

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY

SOMETHING TO BANK ON

The bank where I bank isn't biggest of all;
It's not, I confess, in a skyscraper tall.
The lines are much shorter at most other places.
The manager's cool and a little demanding;
The bank down the street does a lot more glad-handing.
The interest rate isn't what has allured;
It's the same at them all, and the same is insured.
Then why don't I move, and on fast-moving feet,
To the bank or the savings and loan down the street?
I'll tell you the reason, and hope you'll not frown;
Their ballpoint pens are the best in the town.

NANCY & HENRY KISSINGER
Telephone troubles

Washington rumors had it that Henry Kissinger's parents wouldn't attend his wedding to Nancy Maginnes because she is a Gentile. But here's the real story: "On the eve of his wedding Henry called from Washington to tell them the good news, said a friend of a friend. But it was Friday night, and because they are Orthodox the parents could not answer the phone. Nor could they until after sundown Saturday, by which time the wedding was over. Why didn't he telephone home on Friday afternoon instead? Some sources guess it was because Kissinger didn't finally make up his mind to go ahead with the wedding until Friday night, possibly because he was unable to arrange for a honeymoon hideaway in Acapulco at La Serena, the lavish villa of Mexican millionaire Estaguio Escandon, or because of a delay in securing the Rockefeller jet which flew the newlyweds to Mexico." From "Henry Kissinger, the Private and Public Story," by Ralph Blumenfeld, the Staff and Editors of The New York Post (A Signet Special, $1.75).

Photographer Carole Cutner has her schoolgirl daughter to thank for the most important assignment of her career—taking the official birthday pictures of Prince Charles. Mrs. Cutner's surprise commission came after she took photographs of her daughter's school jubilee celebrations, which were attended by the Prince. "He liked the pictures, and I was asked to show further samples of my work," says Mrs. Cutner, who lives in London. The picture of the Prince shown here is the birthday picture Mrs. Cutner took for Charles' most recent (26th) birthday.

Can a woman boss beat the "I won't work for a woman" syndrome? "A woman supervisor needs a friend on the job," advises James L. Hayes, president of the American Management Associations. "Pick out a male and win him over. I know of one woman who stayed up nights cramming football statistics to convince a male colleague that she understood his interests. I know another female boss who took her all-male department for coffee and said, 'You know, without your help, I'm not going to succeed. I really need you.' The men warmed to her openness and offered to help. Acceptance of any new manager takes a while. For women, it just takes a little while longer."

Because of Human Vanity...

ONLY ONE WEEK TO LIVE

The harp seal—to its extreme misfortune—has a baby so beautiful humans wish to wear its fur. Each spring the migratory seals form two herds, one in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, the other off the coast of Newfoundland and Labrador. There, literally forming a nursery on the ice floes, the seals give birth to their white, silky-furred pups.

Then, each year Canadian and Norwegian sealers come with their clubs. The nursing seal pups cannot get away—less than one week old, they are too young to swim. Most never do. The pups are clubbed and skinned before their mothers' eyes. The pelts are destined to become luxury furs and leather.

But, the killing cannot go on forever, because the seals will not last. Only 20 years ago there were twice as many as there are today, and the number continues to decline. So far, recommendations to end the killing have been ignored.

Only continued, forceful public opposition can stop this insane killing. The Canadian government has been the target of massive protests since the brutality of the killing became known in the early 1960's. And, Canada has reduced the quotas on seals in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. But, the killing is now concentrated on the seals off the Newfoundland-Labrador coast. Thousands of baby seals will die there this spring with the Norwegians doing much of the killing. Norway too must know we will not condone the brutal destruction of a species and the slaughter of infant animals for the sake of fur and leather garments.

PLEASE DO NOT REMAIN SILENT. PLEASE HELP. Please write the Norwegian Ambassador and Prime Minister.
